TROUBLE OF ALL KINDS COMES TO DOWN ARKANSAS

Red Cross Finds It Major Disaster.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—What's the matter with Arkansas?

Well, just a few little things such as the effects of the floods of 1927 and 1928, the boll weevil of 1929, the bank failures, drought, and general depression of 1930. They are trying to carry on as usual, with heads high, confident that they will overcome everything and return to comfort, but these ills have all been cumulative and just now the state stands in need of outside help.

It is the farmers who are the hardest hit. It is estimated that 114,250 farmers will need financial assistance to make a crop in 1931. They must look to the federal government for help. In the meantime thousands of them need food for themselves and their stock.

Red Cross Aids 21,000 Families.

A week ago more than 21,000 families in Arkansas were being given food and other help by the Red Cross. Appeals for help are coming in every day from new sources and the rate of increase indicates that before the winter is over 50,000 families will have to be helped in this way. This means about 250,000 persons.

This is the opinion of Red Cross workers who met here today to make reports and receive instruction from Albert Evans, assistant national director of disaster relief.

Because this disaster has not come suddenly, he explains, people do not realize just what it means.

Red Cross Prepared.

"We could see this situation developing here," he said, "and the relief program was begun last August. Twenty experienced workers of the national staff were assigned to this state. During the period ending Nov. 1 25,062 families in Arkansas received relief in the form of fall pasture and garden seed, an expenditure of $104,-[illegible]. This was followed by an organized effort to convert surplus animals that could not be fed through the winter into a meat supply. Pressure cookers, sealers, and canning equipment, purchased by the Red Cross, were employed by local chapters working with the agricultural extension service. Thousands of pounds of canned meat have been produced by these units.

"During the period ended Dec. 31 20,817 families in this state received Red Cross assistance involving expenditures from local funds of $51,346, distribution of donated supplies valued at $45,926, and cash grants from national funds of $115,600.

Handle Cases Individually.

"There is no Red Cross ration. We visit each home and find out their needs. I have been in several farm homes where they had meat only. We give them orders on grocery stores for what they lack. The situation changes from day to day and we are now helping in 69 counties. At noon Jan. 8, cash grants had been made to 42 counties, totaling $304,530. We have undertaken to provide relief in the form of sufficient food and clothing to sustain health, whatever that need may be."

There have been 150 banks closed in the state since Nov. 1. Fifty of these, it is said, were the result of the failure of Caldwell & Co., which has its paper spread all over the south and was regarded as an institution of inexhaustible resources.

Cotton Key to Situation.

The key to the economic situation in this state is found in cotton, its great cash crop.

In 1929 the state produced 1,490,000 bales, at a value of $126,650,000. In 1930 the production was 910,000 bales with a value of $41,860,000.

Here was a cut of one-third in the purchasing power depended on to carry stock through the winter and buy family supplies.

Coming down to particulars, one farmer on 40 acres produced just three bales of cotton, not enough to pay for his seed. His sister has a job in town and she is sending him enough money each month to keep the family from starving, as the drought killed most of their garden crops.

Urge Food Producing Program.

State experts predict that a sounder system of farming will come out of this stress. The state agricultural agencies are concentrating on a "live at home" program, striving to get the farmers to produce as much of their food and feed necessities as they can.

"We are temporarily below the nor-

GALE IS RAGING AS PLANE FAILS TO REACH PORT

Send Up Rockets on Azores Shores.

HORTA, Azores, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Rockets flashed through the dark and stormy sky tonight in attempts to pierce a heavy cloud bank as a guide to the American seaplane Tradewind, some 12 hours overdue on the Bermuda-Azores leg of their pay load flight from New York to Paris.

At 11 o'clock tonight the Azores were still without news.

As the night wore on, inhabitants of Horta virtually gave up hope that the white monoplane would be able to fight against a prevailing gale from the northeast and reach these islands safely.

No Reports on Plane.

The local wireless station continually crackled out requests for news of the plane from ships, but no information was received. The plane, piloted by Lieut. William S. MacLaren and Mrs. Beryl Hart, a widow, was due at about 11:15 a. m. [7:15 a. m. Chicago time].

The plane left Hamilton, Bermuda, at 10:15 a. m., Chicago time, yesterday. The flyers expected to cover the 2,045 miles between Hamilton and Horta, Azores, in about 21 hours.

Anxiety for the safety of the two aviators was increased because of poor visibility and a choppy sea, which it is believed would prohibit landing anywhere but in a sheltered harbor. A strong easterly wind which prevailed this morning shifted to the northeast this afternoon.

Waiting Crowd Goes Home.

A lighter with fuel aboard for the plane awaited its arrival in the harbor. A crowd of persons, who had gathered to watch the preparations, dispersed as hours passed without any word of the plane.

The Tradewind, when it left Bermuda, carried 300 gallons of gasoline which, it was estimated, would be sufficient to keep it in the air until 5 p. m. Sunday night [Chicago time]. Backers of the flight said this supply of gas would be enough to carry the plane to the mainland of Portugal, about 1,150 miles due east of the Azores, and advanced the possibility the plane might have continued directly to Europe without stopping at the Azores.

Newspapermen in Portugal, Spain and France were watching for a possible landing on the mainland coast.

Carried Freight and Mail.

Lieut. MacLaren and Mrs. Hart left on the proposed flight to Paris from North Beach, N. Y., Jan. 3.

Their destination was Hamilton, Bermuda, and anxiety was felt when they became long overdue there. Eventually they landed at Norfolk, Va., explaining the breaking of their sextant near the Bermudas necessitated their return.

On Jan. 7 they again left for Hamilton, this time making it in an easy flight of 6 hours 55 minutes from Norfolk. They remained there until Saturday and then took off for the Azores.

Air Armada Hops to Bahia.

BAHIA, Brazil, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Eleven Italian seaplanes, victors in a crossing of the South Atlantic last week, arrived here at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon [11:30 a. m. Chicago time], thus completing the first stage of a triumphal flight along the coast to Rio de Janeiro.

Gen. Italo Balbo, youthful Italian air minister and commander of the flight, and his companions received an intensely warm welcome from both city officials and the populace, the latter cheering from the streets as the planes circled over Bahia before gliding down upon the bay.

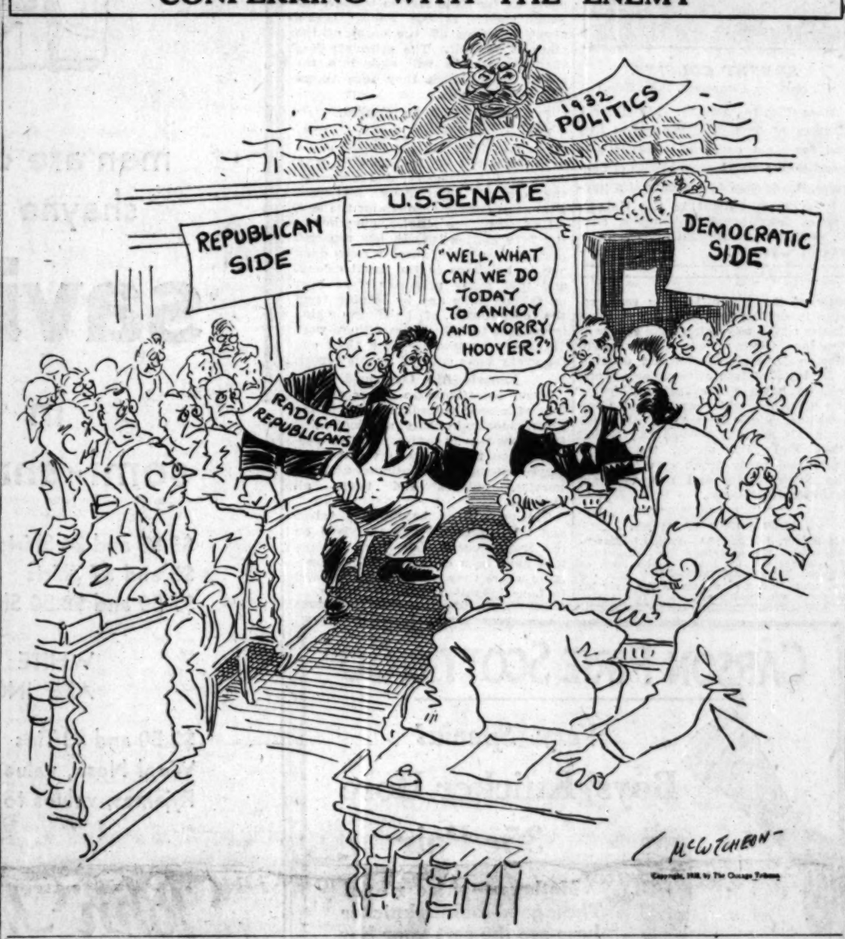
The seaplanes, ten of which roared from West Africa to Natal in 17 hours 15 minutes last week, with the eleventh coming down at sea with a minor trouble but joining them later, left Natal at 8:30 o'clock this morning.

After two days in Bahia the Italians will go on to Rio de Janeiro.

It Sounds Like a Bomb, but Is Only a Firecracker

A giant firecracker exploded in the rear of a two story flat building at 1415 Madison street last night, broke a window and the glass transom of the door against which it had been placed, and resulted in several reports to the Des Plaines street police that a bomb had been exploded. The damage was estimated at $15 by Silverman Bros., owners of the building and proprietors of a cigar store at 1403 Madison street.

CONFERRING WITH THE ENEMY



Nathan Straus, Philanthropist, Is Dead at 82

New York, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Nathan Straus, prominent merchant and philanthropist whose works made him known and loved to millions of the poor, died this morning in his suite at the San Remo hotel. He was in his eighty-third year.

Death was caused by heart disease, complicated by high blood pressure, according to the report of the attending physician. Mr. Straus had been in poor health since the death of his wife last spring, and for several days had been slowly sinking. During the last twenty-four hours he was in a coma.

Mr. Straus' son, Nathan Jr., and his daughter, Mrs. Irving Lehman, were at the bedside of the philanthropist until the end.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at Temple Emanu-El. Prof. William Lyon Phelps of Yale university will briefly outline the life of Mr. Straus.

Gave Away Millions.

Mr. Straus gave away many millions of dollars. There is no record to show what the total was, and friends doubt that he himself knew.

He came to this country as a German immigrant boy and achieved wealth—something he valued only as a medium through which to bring happiness and health to others. Through the years when he built his fortune as a merchant he found time to devote himself to benefactions for his fellows. He retired from active business in 1914.

Worked to Save Babies.

Outstanding among these was his work for the conservation of infant life. This he accomplished, to an incalculable extent, through the establishment of his famous stations where the babies of the poor could get pasteurized milk, germless milk, which saved the lives of countless little ones.

The next phase of Mr. Straus' life that won him recognition as the citizen of New York who had done most for public welfare in the quarter century ended in 1923, was his keen understanding of civic problems, especially those touching the poor. As a token of his widespread popularity he was nominated in 1894 by the Democratic party as its candidate for mayor, but he declined the honor.

He was devoted to the cause of Zionism and to the effort to make a Jewish homeland in Palestine.

Gained Business Success.

Another chapter in Mr. Straus' life was his success in the business world. He started deeply in debt and became a partner in two great department stores, later, however, completely severing his connection with them. Through his business years these ran the note that the merchant cared little for storing up of riches; in fact, he said in later years that death would find him a poor man.

"It is my ambition," he said, "to die a poor man. For then I shall be rich in happiness and in good works."

Born in Bavaria.

Mr. Straus was born in Rhenish Bavaria on Jan. 31, 1848, the son of Lazarus and Sara Straus. He had two brothers, Isidor and Oscar. Isidor, a great merchant, lost his life when the steamship Titanic went down after striking an iceberg on her maiden trip. Oscar S. Straus, once ambassador to Turkey, a cabinet member and recipient of honors at the hands of six Presidents, from Cleveland to Wilson, died of heart disease on May 3, 1926.

Mr. Straus never entirely recovered from the shock of the death of his wife at the age of 76 at their home, Driftwood, in Mamaroneck, on May 4, 1930. A memorial to his lifelong companion, penned by John Spargo, included a tribute to Mr. Straus:

"Lina Straus was a fit helpmate and companion to her husband, that grand old man of whom Chief Justice Taft said to me, 'Dear old Nathan Straus is a great Jew and the greatest Christian of us all.'"

PICKED POLICE GUARD $1,000,000 OF LIQUOR AGAINST GANG RAID

A secret twenty-four hour vigil at a south side government warehouse by a dozen picked men from the detective bureau under command of Chief of Detectives Norton to forestall a reported plot to loot the building of $1,000,000 worth of liquor and records of the prohibition department, was disclosed last night.

Members of the detail, summoned from their homes at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, were taken to the warehouse in two squad cars. They were not told where they were going and were not permitted to communicate with their families. Blankets and rations were issued, sentry posts established, and the men stood guard the same as soldiers on active service.

The warehouse is that of the Advance Storage company, 5210 South Wabash avenue, a three story brick structure. The source of Chief Norton's information was not learned. He instructed the policemen: "If the gangsters come, shoot to kill."

The vigil was still being maintained after early this morning, but nothing had happened. The squads, in charge of Sergts Richard Johnston and William Bergen, consist of Detectives James Quirk, James Caplis, Frank Lalowski, John Klaske, Edward Lynn, Robert Massett, John McVeigh, Edward Hayes, Edward Stromberg, and Chris Moran.

The prohibition records in the warehouse include the records of all liquor cases against the Capone and Moran gangs.

Belcastro of Bomb Fame Shot 5 Times

James Belcastro, public enemy No. 4 on the crime commission list and so-called "king of the bombers," was shot five times late last night by two gunmen as he stepped into his automobile in front of 1011 West Polk street, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Fanelli, parents of Rocco Fanelli, another public enemy. None of the bullets struck a vital spot. Two pierced Belcastro's left arm, another his left hand, a fourth lodged in his back, and the fifth grazed his forehead.

Rocco Fanelli, who was taken to the Maxwell street station as a witness, was locked up for the night there on a vargancy warrant which was issued several months ago by Judge John H. Lyle of the Felony court.

Belcastro and his wife, Rose, a daughter of the Fanellis, were visiting her parents' home. Toward midnight the Belcastros decided to remain for the night and Belcastro went out alone to put his car in a garage. He was barely seated in the auto when the assassins opened fire. He was taken to the Bridewell hospital, where it was said he would recover. Belcastro said he was unable to explain the attack.

Belcastro is 38 years old, lives at 7726 South Marshfield avenue, and operates a grocery in West 24th street. He was seized two years ago as the head of a "bombing trust," but was never brought to trial. He also was accused of participating in the murder of Octavius C. Granady, 20th ward Negro politician. He is now awaiting trial on a Lyle vagrancy warrant.

SCUDDER, ARTIST, SHOT ON DEC. 27, DIES OF WOUNDS

Thomas Scudder, 29 years old, artist and son of J. Arnold Scudder, wealthy realty broker, 200 East Pearson street, died last night at St. Luke's hospital of bullet wounds received Dec. 27 when Andrew Dasko, 43 years old, a shoemaker, intoxicated, ran amuck with a revolver.

The shooting occurred at the Bellwood home of Joseph Farmer, 67 year old farmer, where young Scudder, a dog lover, boarded four great Danes. Scudder, whose studio was in New York City, was here for the holidays. He had gone to Farmer's home to see the dogs when Dasko appeared. Farmer was instantly killed when Dasko emptied his gun. Farmer's wife was wounded three times in the right hand when she grappled with Dasko.

The inquest for Farmer had been continued until Jan. 19 pending the outcome of Scudder's injuries. The two inquests will now probably be held together.

2 Women See Escort Battle Armed Robber

William L. Just, 32 years old, son of Frank Just, wealthy land owner of Lake county and publisher of the Waukegan News-Sun, was shot in the right leg early this morning by one of a pair of bandits whom he resisted as he sat with two young women in a sedan in front of the 40 East Oak Street apartment hotel. The robbers fled without obtaining any loot.

It was the second holdup of motorists in that block within six weeks. The other victims were Dr. and Mrs. David Hill Danek, who the night of Nov. 27 were held up by two men of the same general description as they parked their car in front of their apartment at 65 East Oak street.

Women See Escort Shot.

Just was sitting in the rear seat of the sedan with Mrs. Virginia Dickinson, 28 years old, a widow, 245 Ridge avenue, Winnetka. In front was his sister, Mary, University of Illinois student, who lives with her parents at the family home in Libertyville.

With L. G. Ferris, 36 years old, a stock and bond salesman, living at the 40 East Oak, the three had attended a loop theater and then driven around a bit in Ferris' car. He had stopped to see if there was any mail for him before driving the Justs and Mrs. Dickinson north.

As Ferris entered the lobby the bandits appeared. One opened the front door and thrust a gun at Miss Just and one the back, covering Mrs. Dickinson and Just.

"This is a stickup," the robbers chorused. Just, according to the stories of his sister and Mrs. Dickinson, thought some one was playing a practical joke and laughed.

Defies Bandit to Shoot.

"Put up your hands or I'll shoot," the rear door bandit said.

"Go ahead and shoot," Just replied and made a grab for the gun.

The bandit pressed the trigger and the bullet entered the right leg, shattering the bone and puncturing a nerve trunk. Just collapsed. The two young women ran into the lobby screaming. A police ambulance from East Chicago avenue station was summoned and Just was removed to the Augustana hospital, where he was still unconscious at an early hour.

Police were supplied with an excellent description of the two bandits by Mrs. Dickinson and Miss Just, which tallies in many particulars with that of the pair that robbed Dr. and Mrs. Danek.

The same two are believed to have been members of a gang of five, one armed with a shotgun, that soon after Just was shot held up the Subway café, 507 North Wabash avenue, six blocks away. They took $160 from Mrs. Mary Patterson, the owner, and a $600 ring and $18 in cash from Charles Ross, a customer.

20 BADLY HURT IN INDIA AS POLICE CHARGE MEETING

KARACHI, India, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Twenty persons were seriously injured today when police dispersed a meeting and procession by national congress adherents. The police made three charges in an hour.

A number of women who squatted on the ground and refused to move were scattered and some twenty arrested, including the local "dictator."

At Bombay the president and three members of the local war council were arrested on a charge of obliterating census numbers on some premises. The nationalist congress recently decided to boycott the census.

POWER ISSUE IS PAVING WAY FOR EXTRA SESSION

Radicals Will Rule New Congress.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Ramifications of the power issue are driving congress toward a special session in the spring.

The clash between the senate and President Hoover over the membership of the federal power commission threatens to lead to a filibuster against the independent offices appropriation bill.

The tentative conference agreement on the Muscle Shoals government operation bill which President Hoover is likely to veto if it hurdles the barrier of opposition erected by administration forces in the house, seems to have little chance of enactment into law. Its defeat will mean that the Muscle Shoals government operation enthusiasts will join with others in tieing up appropriation bills with a view to forcing the President to call a special session of the new congress after March 4.

Will Keep Issue Alive.

Despite President Hoover's insistence in his statement issued yesterday in connection with his refusal to return the resolutions of confirmation of three power commission members to the senate, that a false issue is being raised the senate radicals will persist in identifying him with the "power trust."

It is the contention of the radicals that the discharge of Solicitor Charles A. Russell and Chief Accountant W. V. King means that George Otis Smith, Claude L. Draper, and Marcel Garsaud, the three power commission members involved in the controversy, are disposed to favor the power companies as against the public.

While President Hoover, raising the issue of encroachment upon the functions of the executive, seems to have won with respect to the retention of Smith, Draper and Garsaud in office, the radicals will continue to capitalize the incident as a phase of their drive to make the power issue a dominant question in the 1932 campaign.

Welcome Muscle Shoals Veto.

The radicals apparently will welcome a veto by the President of the Muscle Shoals bill as a means of linking him more definitely to the power company side of the issue. The bill as it will emerge from conference is somewhat similar to the Norris Muscle Shoals bill, which former President Coolidge refused to permit to become law, and there seems little question that Mr. Hoover will veto it. It is regarded as objectionable to Mr. Hoover not only because of its placing the government in the power business but also because it proposes that the government shall build power tranmission lines.

The Muscle Shoals conference report, on which a partial but not a complete agreement was reached last week, may be submitted to the two houses this week. Its approval by the senate, which is overwhelming on the radical side of the power controversy, is a certainty but its rejection by the more conservative house is a possibility.

Plan Requires Big Expenditures.

Large expenditures are involved in the scheme for government operation of the Muscle Shoals power plant. Under the tentative conference agreement the government would build the Cove Creek dam at a cost of upwards of $40,000,000, and also would spend an unknown amount of money running into millions for transmission lines. The bill also carries an initial appropriation of $10,000,000 for operation expenses.

Others of the radicals' power projects are contributing to the appropriations of the present session. The Boulder dam 165 million dollar project for which $10,600,000 was appropriated in the last session obtains $15,000,000 more in the interior department appropriation bill which is pending before the senate.

Just why the radicals who are agitating the power question are so anxious to bring about a special session may be realized from the fact that in the new congress their group will hold the balance of power in both houses. No longer will there be a conservative majority in the house to nullify the radical actions of the senate.

Will Pass in New Congress.

The new congress will be virtually certain to pass a Muscle Shoals government ownership bill. It will then be a question whether a two-thirds vote can be obtained in both houses to pass it over the President's veto.

The radicals are not likely to be able to obtain the elimination of an-aries of the three power commission members from the independent offices appropriation bill in the present congress. They may obtain adoption of such an amendment in the senate, but the salaries will be restored in conference and the house will back up the action. If, however, passage of the entire appropriation bill can be blocked at this session, thereby forcing the President to call an extra session, the new radical congress is likely to cut off the salaries of Smith, Draper, and Garsaud.

There are numerous other measures which the radicals are planning to press in the new congress, such as the anti-injunction bill, far-reaching unemployment relief bills, the export debenture farm relief bill, and other measures which have no chance of enactment in the present congress.

May Force Night Meetings.

In an effort to avoid an extra session, Republican senate leaders are planning to force night meetings if possible. Senator Charles L. McNary [Rep., Ore.], assistant majority leader, would like to hold sessions at night on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, commencing tomorrow. Unless the senate works at night the leaders fear it will be impossible to dispose of appropriation bills and other necessary legislation.

The controversy between the President and the senate is likely to be renewed tomorrow when nominations of members of the tariff commission come up for consideration. A fight will be made against E. B. Brossard and possibly another of the six members. Opposition also is in prospect to confirmation of the appointment of Eugene Meyer as governor of the federal reserve board. Action on the Meyer appointment will follow that on the tariff commission nominations.

REPORT POPE MAY EXCOMMUNICATE BULGARIAN QUEEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Jan. 11.—Great importance is attached here to the conference which Pope Pius had this morning with Aloysius Cardinal Sincero, secretary of the congregation of the eastern church. Secrecy was preserved regarding the subject of the conversation, but it is believed in well informed circles that it dealt with the advisability of taking drastic action against former Princess Giovanna of Italy who was married to King Boris of Bulgaria at Assisi.

It was indicated in the pope's allocution on Christmas eve that he is indignant over the duplication of marriage services under the rites of the orthodox church which took place in Sofia, and which are considered by the Vatican as a violation of a promise made before the wedding.

Since then it is rumored that the pope has in mind to take canonic measures against the Bulgarian queen, possibly pronouncing excommunication unless Giovanna makes some act of formal submission, and this is believed to have been the subject of the conference this morning. It was also stated that Cardinal Sincero will be used to try to bring about a return of the Greek orthodox church to the Catholic fold.

DR. EDMONSON OF KANKAKEE HOSPITAL DIES

Dr. George S. Edmonson, head of the Kankakee State Hospital for the Insane, died last night at the Illinois Central hospital from blood poisoning originating in an infected toe. He was 59 years old.

Dr. Edmonson was taken to the hospital on Nov. 25, and gangrenous infection necessitated amputation of his right leg. For a while the physician rallied, but the toxin spread through his system and brought a relapse and death. His wife, Mrs. Bella Edmonson, and their son, Kenneth, a student at the Chicago College of Dentistry, were at the bedside. Dr. Franklin McLean was in attendance.

Dr. Edmonson, known in medical circles throughout Illinois, was appointed head of the Kankakee institution in October, 1929. Previously he maintained his own clinic at Clinton, where he lived. He was a member of the American College of Surgeons and other medical organizations, and was prominent in Masonic and Rotarian activities.

PLAN TO FORCE WOLFE TO AID IN TRACK REMOVAL

South Siders Protest on Blocking of Streets.

Residents of the far south side are ready to storm the office of Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works, if that is necessary, to compel him to aid in the fight to remove switch tracks of the Nickel Plate railroad from 103d street. This is the message that has been taken to the city hall by three aldermen from the south side.

At indignation meetings which were addressed by the aldermen, Sheldon Govier [9th], William A. Rowan [10th], and O. E. Northrup [19th], charges have been made that the railroad is blockading 103d street by the switch tracks which were laid without council authority. Wolfe is charged with the failure to remove these tracks and open the street.

Vote for Track Removal.

In furtherance of the fight, the three aldermen caused the council, by a unanimous vote, to approve an order directing Wolfe to serve notice on the railroad to remove the tracks within 30 days. If the railroad refuses Wolfe is directed to remove them with city labor and charge the expense to the railroad.

Before a gathering of 1,000 people at the Kohn school, 104th and State streets, Ald. Govier stated "that Wolfe's actions in the fight will show whether he is for the people or for the railroad.

"Mayor Thompson can instruct Wolfe to serve the notice on the railroad to remove its tracks, and if they aren't removed can tell Wolfe to tear up the tracks. They have the police power to support them.

"We'll see if Thompson and Wolfe have any backbone and whether they are with the people or with a foreign railroad that spends its money in Cleveland; and whether the railroad can block the main arteries of travel in the Calumet region illegally, as they are doing at 83d, 87th, 91st, 95th, and 103d streets."

Cites Failure to Act.

Ald. Govier also cited the threats made by Wolfe to tear up the tracks of the Western Indiana railroad in Plymouth court because the railroad had not lived up to a contract ordinance with the city, and how he allowed the matter to drop without taking any action.

"When one goes into Wolfe's office to see him about large improvements he recites poetry," Ald. Govier said. He asserted that a resolution had been passed at the meeting in which the residents have resolved to fight this battle to a finish even though they have to storm Wolfe's office and demand that he side with the residents and the law.

Direct Resolutions to Hoover.

At three of their massmeetings the far south side residents adopted resolutions directed to President Hoover, stating:

"We suggest to the President of the United States that he order public hearings in Chicago on the proposed formulation of four principal railroad systems so the residents and property owners of the Calumet district may have an opportunity to supply information regarding the character and kind of management in control of the proposed Nickel Plate system as indicated by its usurpation of 103d street and of Yates avenue—two section line thoroughfares in Chicago.

"We would present the refusal of the Messrs. Van Sweringen to confer with the city officials regarding new terminal facilities and electrification."

President's Secretary Replies.

In reply Ald. Rowan has received a letter from Lawrence Richey, secretary to President Hoover, under date of Jan. 8, in which he says after acknowledging receipt of the resolution:

"By direction of the President it is being referred for consideration of the interstate commerce commission."

Senator Deneen to whom another copy of the resolution was sent, replied in similar fashion to Ald. Rowan. Copies of the resolution were also sent Senator Glenn and Congressman Morton D. Hull of the 2nd district.

If the Interstate Commerce commission holds a hearing in Chicago, the aldermen will request that Commissioner Wolfe be summoned to explain his attitude toward the Nickel Plate and 103d street, the Nickel Plate and tardy track elevation and the Nickel Plate and new terminal facilities in Chicago.

MEXICAN INDIANS FLEE AS ANCIENT VOLCANO ERUPTS

Felons in Panic, Fear Sea May Engulf Penal Isles.

BY JOHN CORNYN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO, Jan. 11.—Indians, fleeing the eruptions of the hitherto dormant volcano Ceboruco, reached Tepic, capital of the state of Nayarit, this morning. Ceboruco is 45 miles southeast of Tepic. The refugees report that tremendous upheavals of the earth are terrifying the inhabitants and that Ceboruco is erupting after being quiet more than a century.

More than 60 severe shocks also have terrified the 2,000 or more prisoners on the Tres Marias islands, the penal colony in the Pacific ocean, about 75 miles off the coast of the state of Nayarit. The prisoners fear that the islands will sink into the ocean, from which they rose thousands of years ago.

Shocks Felt in Capital.

For several days volcanic disturbances originating in the Pacific ocean have been felt in Mexico City with more or less intensity, and yesterday the central observatory registered numerous shocks throughout the day.

Gen. Francisco Mugica, governor of the Tres Marias islands, has reported that quakes have caused serious damage to buildings in the penal colony, and that many prisoners were hurt by falling walls and by leaping from the dormitories of buildings which threatened to fall. He said there were 21 shocks yesterday—more than one for every hour covered by his report.

Reports Are Confirmed.

From Mazatlan also comes the report of intense volcanic activity in the Nyarit mountain chain, and indicating that Ceboruco is active. Untold centuries ago the Ceboruco volcano displayed intense and continued activity, burying villages and towns all about it.

This was long before the Aztecs and other Nahuatl tribes arrived on the Pacific coast. The Cora Indians who have been driven into the mountains where they now live are believed to have inhabited these lost cities.

Kidnap Plantation Owner; $4,600 Ransom Demanded

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Universal dispatches from Guadalajara said today that a rich plantation owner named Cuquio had been kidnaped by bandits who threatened death if 10,000 pesos [about $4,600] were not paid. The family prepared to provide the ransom.

Former Chicago Pastor a Suicide in New York

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The Rev. Dr. William T. Reynolds, 50, formerly pastor of churches in Philadelphia, Chicago, and Providence, R. I., committed suicide by cutting his throat and wrist in a rooming house in West 74th street today. It was believed he was despondent because of a recent illness and poverty.

BARE 160 MILLION COST OF BRITISH MASTERY OF INDIA

Peasantry Foots Bill for "White Man's Burden.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 11.—Not the least of the complaints of the Indian leaders who are fighting for home rule, is against the exceedingly topheavy administration which the Indian has to maintain, the injustice suffered by Indian servants of the government, and the munificent salaries paid to British officers.

Some of the most glaring instances may be noted here:

An Indian graduate starts in the civil service at a monthly salary of about $30 and ends at the end of 25 or 30 years with a salary of less than $200 per month. An Englishman starts with about $175 per month and retires when he is receiving about $925 per month.

White Inferior Better Paid.

In the police service, an Indian inspector of police starts on a salary of about $50 per month, while a European sergeant, his junior in rank, starts with $100 per month.

In the educational services, the Englishman starts with $200 per month and may rise to about $1,000 per month, while the Indian even a professor, starts with $100 per month and at the end of his career is earning about $300 per month.

In the engineering service, an Indian with an engineering diploma begins with $30 per month, while an Englishman begins with $225 per month.

In the railway service, an Indian starts with $20 per month, Anglo-Indians with $60, and an Englishman with $250 per month.

Heavy Drain of Salaries.

Indian administration has thus become the most expensive in the world. No country pays its civil servants on as lavish a scale as India under the British domination. The charge against the present system is that it is too expensive, chiefly to the cultivator who forms the backbone of the country.

Take the salary of the viceroy. He gets $96,000 a year. This is nearly four times the salary of the British prime minister. Even his colleagues in Canada, Africa, and Australia do not get more than $50,000 per year.

Also it is necessary to remember that salaries, generally based as they are on the principle of promoting and insuring an adequate level of efficiency, cannot be fixed independently of the country's capacity to pay. If the people are poor, and more than half of them are continuously chased by the spectre of starvation, they are manifestly incapable of supporting a topheavy administration.

Other Empire Jobs Pay Less.

What is true of the viceroy's salary is equally true of the salaries of the provincial governors. The governors of Bengal, Madras and Bombay, to take three of the leading provinces, receive $45,000 each per year. The administrators of the Cape of Good Hope and Transvaal who are more or less in the same position as the provincial governors get $12,500 each, and that of Natal only $10,000.

This liberality of payment runs like a thread through all the higher services. The Indian civil servant receives $2,935 in the first year of his service and by the time of his retirement he gets as much as $11,250 with prospects of a yearly pension of $2,250 or more. Moreover in addition to the ordinary salary the members of the superior services receive overseas pay which may not be less than $900 nor more than $1,800 a year. It is estimated that one-third of the total Indian revenue is used up in salaries, wages and pensions to Englishmen in the military and civil services. That amounts to approximately $160,000,000 annually.

Tries to Dazzle World.

What are the grounds on which this scale of salaries is based? The answer is chiefly two—prestige and racial superiority. India is the brightest jewel in the British empire, and what better way can be found to show its dazzling brilliance to the world than through the pomp and splendor of the viceroy and governors, through high pay, allowances, gratuities and pensions of British officials. The prestige of the government must be maintained at all cost, and one way to maintain prestige is to pay officials well.

Closely allied to prestige is the factor of racial superiority. Thus an English soldier gets five times the pay of an Indian soldier, and the Indian policeman has to be satisfied with $2.80 per week. The overseas pay may be given to a person who has never seen India before and is completely unfamiliar with the habits, thoughts and languages of the people living therein.

RAIDERS VISIT MANY PLACES IN HUNT FOR BANK ROBBERY GANG

Lieut. William V. Blaul of the state's attorney's office led a series of raids throughout the county early yesterday morning. He said he hoped to find some of the bandits who robbed the State Bank of Franklin Park on Saturday and he believed that among the forty-one prisoners taken there might be one or more of the bandits. None of those taken were listed as public enemies, he said.

At the Fan Tan inn, 4227 South Harlem avenue, formerly the "Stockade" where Al Capone operated a large vice resort, eight girls and ten men were taken and two slot machines were confiscated. Harry Lewis, said to be Capone's agent, was in charge. The police chopped their way through doors with axes. At the White House, Irving Park boulevard and River road, formerly operated by Matt Kalb in conjunction with Jack Zuta, James O'Brien was arrested and a roulette wheel seized.

The Chicago inn, Bartlett, was described by Blaul as one of the worst places in the county. Four women were arrested and several patrons. Another place raided was the Bungalow inn, 25th street and 16th avenue, Maywood.

TROOPS DEFEAT FANATICS; MANY SLAIN IN BATTLE

Retake Town from Rebel Filipinos.

BY ROBERT SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, Jan. 11.—Two hundred members of the constabulary, who had rushed from Manila and other posts tonight recaptured Tayug, a town in the Pangasinan province, which fell into the hands of religious fanatics, known as Colorums, following a surprise attack early yesterday.

After capturing Tayug a large band of Colorums barricaded themselves within a Catholic convent and resisted constabulary attacks for hours. The troops finally stormed the convent, capturing forty-three, including thirteen school girls. Seven were found dead. The rest of the fanatics fled before the arrival of the main body of the constabulary.

Many Fanatics Slain.

The constabulary officially reported that two officers and three enlisted men were killed and two officers and three enlisted men wounded during the fighting. The rebel dead has been estimated at between ten and fifty, with at least fifty wounded.

Among the dead was a young woman school teacher, who was shot down while brandishing a Filipino flag carrying the inscription, "For Freedom of the Independent Church."

A heavy constabulary detachment tonight was patrolling the country around Tayug and neighboring towns to prevent a recurrence of the uprising. The constabulary does not expect trouble in quelling any new uprising, as the fanatics were armed only with bolo knives.

The motive for the Colorum attack is a mystery. An oath found on the body of one of the slain fanatics showed that the organization dated back to 1913 when it was organized for the purpose of defending the Independent church of the Philippines. The oath enjoined secrecy concerning the movements of the members under the penalty of death.

American Troops Ready.

Gov. Gen. Dwight F. Davis, who was notified of the revolt early yesterday morning, refused to call American troops into action, declaring that he believed the constabulary would be able to cope with the situation. Maj. Gen. John Hines, commanding the Philippine forces, stated that army intervention would be dependent upon the wishes of the governor general.

The American troops, now on annual military maneuvers in the neighborhood, are ready for instant action.

RESCUE CREWS FAIL TO REACH 170 LOST IN ECUADOR LANDSLIDE

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Railroad emergency crews worked feverishly today to extricate the bodies of 170 track laborers who were engulfed by a landslide along the Guayaquil-Quito railroad yesterday, but had little hope of finding any one alive. President Isidro Ayora sent troops to aid in the rescue work today.

The men buried were removing the débris from an earlier slip when they were overwhelmed. The great mass of dirt and stones poured down over their bodies and into the river along the tracks. Telegraph and telephone lines also were broken.

MEYERING WARS ON ROADHOUSES USED BY GANGS

Orders County Police to Report Hideouts.

Sheriff William D. Meyering yesterday issued orders to county highway policemen to report immediately to him any roadhouses in Cook county known to be frequented by gangsters and hoodlums so that they may be raided immediately.

"Any places frequented by gangsters may not remain open," declared the sheriff. "Policemen also must not loiter or congregate in any roadhouses.

"I am of the opinion that nearly all, if not all, of the leading hoodlums and gangsters are known by sight to members of the highway police. While I want every courtesy extended to respectable citizens, any police officer extending any courtesies or favors to any hoodlum or gangster will be summarily discharged. The same penalty will be imposed for fraternizing with hoodlums or gangsters, whether the police officer is on or off duty."

Stresses Traffic Work.

The sheriff stressed in his general orders the fact that the police should not seek out minor infractions of the law but limit most of their work to the handling of motor traffic and the prevention and detection of major crimes.

"Control automobile speeding and other recklessness by remaining always in sight rather than by lying in wait for careless motorists and striving to run up records for arrests," the orders read. "Instruction and advice, rather than harassment and arrests for petty offenses must be extended to motor car drivers. Police officers must never in any circumstances use profane or abusive language to citizens. Neither are they to permit citizens to use profane or abusive language to them. When a police officer offends, he will be dismissed from the service. When a citizen offends, arrest him or her.

Tow Cars to Garages.

"In case of motor vehicle accidents, have disabled cars towed to the nearest responsible garage. It is your duty to see that no unnecessary towing charges are run up against the owner of the disabled car.

"Any police officer soliciting or accepting gratuities from any motorist or other person will be summarily discharged.

"Report for removal all billboards on public or private property that might interfere with safe driving on the highways.

"Insist upon coöperation from truck owners to cut down unnecessary noises, such as horn blowing, loud exhausts and jangling loads, especially at night."

46 NEW NAVY BATTLE PLANES HAVE SPEED OF 350 MILES AN HOUR

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 11.—(AP)—A speed of 350 miles an hour in a vertical power dive—an ascent from the ground of 10,000 feet and return in five minutes — floating ability when the machines are forced down on water and a high speed at great altitudes.

These are some of the features of 46 new Boeing single seater fighting planes, first delivery of which was being made to the United States navy at Bremerton, Wash., today.

Although Boeing officials refused to estimate possible speed of the planes, it was understood they are as fast as the speediest combat airships of any nation.

They are distinguished from the old type of "war birds" by their ability for quick takeoff, rapid ascent, their high degree of maneuvering ability and speedy diving possibilities.

VOTERS' LEAGUE SAYS ALDERMEN FAIL THE PUBLIC

Only Four Are Named as Worthy Leaders.

The Municipal Voters' league yesterday made public a scathing report on the city council, deploring the lack of leadership among the aldermen in dealing with municipal problems and naming only four members of the council, who, the league said, could be relied on to fight for the interests of the public.

The report, opening the league's program in the municipal elections, reviewed the problems which have arisen during the last two years of the Thompson administration and criticized the council for its "total inability and failure to cope with the major issues," citing as an example the financial crisis of 1929 and the final necessity of calling on a citizens' committee to save the city from its dilemma.

Demands End of Waste.

The league assailed the practice of padding the city hall pay rolls for political purposes, and demanded the elimination of sinecures and waste in various municipal departments, such as the corporation counsel's office, in the letting of contracts for public works, in the purchasing of materials, the employment of "unnecessary experts," the maladministration of the civil service act, and the license bureau.

The four aldermen who, the league said, stand above the "dead level of mediocrity" are Jacob M. Arvey [24th], James B. Bowler [25th], John S. Clark [30th], and John A. Massen [48th].

The report said that Ald. Arvey displayed power and intellect in his official duties, and was one whom the citizens could rely on in seeking an honest and efficient government. However, the league said, Arvey "unfortunately has frequently temporized with the present administration. But for this he would be, in the opinion of the league, a most excellent public servant."

Bowler an Independent.

Ald. Bowler, said the report, is "an experienced politician of the old type, but at the same time he preserves his independence, is a fighter in the interests of the citizens and is a worthy representative of his ward."

"Ald. Clark," the league said, "is a man of sound judgment and independence who made a commendable fight to keep the 1930 budget within the estimated revenues, and who was active in adopting economies and in assisting the citizens' committee to procure legislation from Springfield which will undoubtedly result in great savings and will help eliminate future deficits which were caused by the old system. As chairman of the important finance committee he has developed into a valuable alderman."

Ald. Massen was described as "probably the most valuable member of the city council today." The league said he had "real ability, honesty and judgment."

No One Else to Rely On.

"Aside from these individuals just mentioned," the report went on, "there seems to be no one on whom the citizens of Chicago can rely to head any kind of a fight in their interests in the city council. Ald. Charles S. Eaton [5th], Guy Guernsey [6th] and Clement A. Nance [7th] are men of integrity of whom much has been expected, but as leaders during the past few years their colorless position has been a great disappointment."

The league recognized Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th], floor leader for the administration, as a man of ability and leadership, but said: "It is unfortunate, that these powers of ability and leadership have most often been used not to further the interests of the city but to sponsor the policies of the Thompson administration."

Relief from Tax Burden Urged.

The report referred to the business depression and the "critical condition of property values," which, the league said, demand a decrease in the tax burden and the efficient and economical use of available funds only for necessary service.

The adoption of plans for the consolidation and coördination of metropolitan services, with simpler and more responsible government, was called of vital importance.

"The conditions at the city hall since the present council was elected," the report read, "have changed but little over the previous two years, except that due to the city's financial situation the Thompson 'plunderbund' has been unable to operate with its customary efficiency."

Reviewing the last two years of municipal legislation, the report said that little was accomplished during 1929 in the way of new legislation or ordinances for the benefit of the city as a whole.

As a high point of 1929, however, the league recalled the "sensational Cuneo tower amendment" to the general zoning ordinance, the history of which, the league said, was instructive since it furnishes a typical illustration of one of the main dangers of popular government, "the pressure for special privileges."

The Need of Watchfulness.

"It also illustrates," the report went on, "the necessity for watchfulness by aldermen who have the public interest at heart, and by organizations which concern themselves with the common welfare.

"This amendment was slipped through the council in language the true import of which was probably understood by only a few members. It never was given adequate consideration or hearing. It had the effect of greatly increasing the street line height limit in a few sites in the down town district.

"On the day the amendment became effective the building commissioner, pursuant to an application which had been filed ten days before, granted to John F. Cuneo the right to build a tower on the property owned by him on the northeast corner of Randolph street and Michigan avenue, taking advantage of the privilege which the amendment gave him.

Legal Battle Reviewed.

"Property owners of the neighborhood whose property continued to be restricted to the old limit, having become aroused by the granting of this permit, began a legal attack upon the validity of the amendment under which it was granted. This legal battle came eventually to the Supreme court of Illinois, which in October, 1930, handed down an opinion that may be a landmark in this field, holding that the amendment was unconstitutional as the grant of a special privilege."

This decision killed the Cuneo tower building, the league said, and in the meantime the council, spurred by public opinion, had repealed the amendment.

The league said that Ald. William R. O'Toole [14th], as chairman of the zoning committee, "must take the responsibility and bear the odium for the passage of this amendment."

Citing some of the worth while achievements of the council during the last two years, the league mentioned the passage of the transit franchise ordinance and the lake front development ordinance.

The important problems aside from the financial one, which confront the new council, the league said, are the consolidation of tax levying and tax spending agencies, the cleanup of the police department in preparation for the World's Fair, adjustment of the controversy with the Chicago Tunnel company, redistricting of the 50 wards, construction of the subway with its problems of final solution of the transit situation, and the renewal of the telephone franchise.

The report was made public by Herbert J. Friedman, president of the league. The organization is at work on its survey of all candidates for the city council, which will be made public later.

'KING OF CLOWNS' DIES IN BERLIN; KNOWN AS FRIEND OF ROYALTY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—The king of clowns—Gustav Mueller Francois—at one time favorite of kings, instructor in gymnastics of a queen, is dead. He died, old and forgotten, but still as the king of clowns, with a jest, in a Berlin hospital.

Five years he lay paralyzed, waiting patiently for death to relieve him of pain, forgetting it only for short intervals when friends came to see him. Then he would, as by miracle, again become the king of clowns and, though motionless, make his visitors and nurse roar with laughter.

Francois' day of glory was when, early in this century, he played before four kings at one sitting—the kings of Portugal, Greece, Sweden, and Denmark. For many years he was instructor of Empress Elizabeth of Austria. The last sixteen years the once famous, internationally known clown has lived quietly in a little home in the east of Berlin. Nine years ago he was partly paralyzed, and five years ago a second stroke made him absolutely dependent on his nurse.

NAB SUSPECT IN HOLDUP KILLING OF POLICEMAN

John Senew, 26 years old, charged with participation in the murder of Policeman William Rumbler, was arrested last night in Columbus, O., according to a message received by Lieut. Phil Carroll of the detective bureau. Rumbler was shot to death on Oct. 12 in a soft drink parlor at 3174 Milwaukee avenue when he resisted an attempted robbery by three men. He wounded two of them before receiving eight bullet wounds. Walter Evenow, 26 years old, who was shot three times and subsequently captured, confessed and named his companions.

Colorado Attorney General and Wife Killed by Auto

Denver, Colo., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—John S. Underwood, attorney general of Colorado, who was to retire on Tuesday, was killed in an auto accident tonight. Mrs. Underwood also was killed. Dorothy Underwood, a daughter, who was driving, and her sisters, Betty, 11, and Willis, 6, were not seriously injured.

91 Weds 19; Go to Seek "Blessings of Old Folks"

WEST ATTACKS ALBERT FOES IN MAYORAL RACE

Alderman to Start Tour of Wards Tomorrow.

Roy O. West, general chairman of the forces backing Ald. Arthur F. Albert for the Republican mayoralty nomination, issued a new statement yesterday attacking the alderman's rivals and describing them as "alleged converts of anti-Thompsonism." Jacob Allen, Albert's active campaign manager, announced plans for initiating a city-wide speaking tour and for organizing campaign groups in each of the 50 wards.

Mr. West, Republican national committeeman for Illinois, reviewed the careers of all the Republican candidates except Thompson, and asserted that only Albert's record was clear of city hall blight.

West Rips Into Barrett.

Charles V. Barrett, West said, is serving his second six year term as a member of the board of review, and was elected both times as Thompson's candidate. He said Barrett until recently had been treasurer of the Thompson county committee and previously had been a consistent supporter of Thompson in all his campaigns.

Mr. West declared that Judge John H. Lyle owed his renomination and reelection to the Municipal court to the city hall machine, and that Lyle had been classified as a Thompson alderman. He said he had been informed that Lyle, while in the council, had been a member of a law firm which was paid "thousands of dollars by the sanitary district, through the influence of the city hall organization."

Thomas J. Houston, the latest entrant in the Republican race, was described by Mr. West as a "well known city hall appointee and Thompson booster."

Starts Speaking Tour Tomorrow.

Mr. Allen said that Ald. Albert would begin his speaking campaign tomorrow at a luncheon of north side business leaders at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Nathan William MacChesney is to be chairman of the meeting.

On each of the following days this week Albert is to visit a new section of the city to speak to the community leaders, Allen said. In the meantime the general headquarters is to establish branches in each of the city's fifty wards to handle locally Albert's campaign.

Thompson returned to Chicago last night for the opening of his flood control meeting today. He has been under treatment for arthritis at Mount Clemens, Mich.

WATCHMAN SHOT TO DEATH.

Nich Malambri, 30 years old, a watchman for the St. Paul railroad, was shot to death yesterday in an argument with Fred Phillips, colored, a coach cleaner, when they met at Grand and Artesian avenues. Phillips, who lives at 2344 Warren avenue, was arrested.

Sousa, 76, March King, to Undergo Operation Today

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—John Philip Sousa, 76 years old, famous American march king, will undergo an operation tomorrow at Johns Hopkins hospital for an injury sustained to his left shoulder several years ago in a railroad wreck. Sousa, accompanied by several friends, arrived in Baltimore Friday night and entered the hospital the next day.

The operation will be performed by Dr. Dean Lewis, chief of the Hopkins surgical clinic.

MOTHER ARRIVES TO AID DEFENSE OF LINGLE KILLER

Mrs. Jessen Confers with Two Attorneys.

Two defense lawyers were in consultation yesterday with Mrs. Cordell Jessen of St. Louis, whose son, Leo V. Brothers, is held as the slayer of Alfred Lingle. The mother arrived in Chicago yesterday and summoned Attorneys Louis Piquett and Tyrrell Krum, who made the first move in Brothers' behalf on Friday when they asked a writ of habeas corpus for him, a hearing on which was set for next Wednesday.

Attorney Krum said he would go before Acting Chief Justice Finnegan and insist on his client's right to an immediate hearing on the writ instead of waiting till Wednesday.

Mrs. Jessen expressed confidence in the ultimate vindication of her son, whom she called "Bud." She is 47, and the son who is under accusation of two murders is less than 30, she said, and his only training for a trade was in studying to be an electrician.

Calls Father a Drifter.

She has been separated from Brothers' father for twenty-one years and she referred to her ex-husband as a drifter who occasionally worked as a barber. The father was Scotch-Irish, she said, while on her side the accused slayer inherits strains of English, Scotch and German.

Her statement of the father's presumed financial condition was at variance with one statement previously offered in behalf of the defendant, which was that the father had paid several hotel bills for Brothers in amounts of $50 and $60 or thereabouts.

"I know if Bud had any money he would have sent some to me instead of accepting $10 or $15 a week from me," said the mother after Attorney Piquett had introduced the subject by saying it was the general belief Lingle's murderer was hired and probably received a large amount for the deed.

Didn't Know Lingle.

"I am sure Bud didn't know Lingle," the mother asserted.

She had suggested a tentative alibi in the statement she heard from Leo along about June 9, the date of the Lingle murder, by telephone from somewhere in Michigan. She fixed the the date as a month after Mother's day. But in answer to a direct question she said she could not tell the place or fix the date accurately.

"Was he working in Chicago?" the mother was asked.

"I don't know," she answered, and then when asked if she had heard he was a bootlegger she denied he was.

"We have made a brief investigation," said Attorney Piquett, "and we find that he ate only 30 cent meals. A union in St. Louis was sending him $100 a month and with what he received from his mother he just was able to live, which offsets any idea he received a big sum to kill Lingle."

Had Money for Girls.

Investigators under Chief Investigator Pat Roche and Special Assistant State's Attorney Charles Rathbun and James C. McShane had made the contrary statement that Brothers, or Bader as he was known here, had plenty of money to entertain girls, to travel and to loaf.

Mrs. Jessen said her son lived with her until her marriage to her present husband three years ago. That was after he left his wife and child, it appeared. He had little schooling, she said.

"My boy and my girl had to go to work as soon as they were old enough, as I had a hard time supporting them," the mother said in answer to a question about Brother's education. "I operated restaurants and hotels until I remarried."

About the murder in St. Louis which caused Brothers to flee to Chicago the mother was insistent of his innocence. She said he had telephoned her some time ago that he would soon return and face that charge.

The prosecutor's staff said it would be ready for as early a prosecution of Brothers as is possible. He probably will be indicted today or tomorrow. The major proof against Brothers is the positive identification of eight or ten eye witnesses, it was said, but whether there is corroboration or not they would not say.

Picked as Bank Robbers' Driver

MARY NICHOLS.

Faces Witnesses

Miss Mary Nichols, 24 years old, of Champaign, who was arrested in Chicago last Thursday on suspicion that she was a drug addict, was identified yesterday at the weekly police showup as the driver for a gang seized in two raids here Dec. 24 and charged with robbing at least 15 downstate banks of more than $200,000.

Officials of looted state banks at Homer and Allerton pointed out Miss Nichols from amonog 200 prisoners who were paraded before recent robbery victims at the detective bureau.

Miss Nichols is the sister of Glenn Nichols, alleged leader of the gang, who was seized with Austin and Harmon Corray and two women in raids on apartments at 4232 and 4240 Kenmore avenue. The raiders found in the apartment securities stolen from the First State Bank at Wenona, valued at $85,000, a quantity of narcotics and ten revolvers and other guns.

Miss Nichols was first arrested in El Paso, Tex., last Oct. 31, with George Slade, another alleged member of the downstate robber ring. They were returned to Danville, Ill., for trial where Slade is still in jail, but Miss Nichols was released on $2,000 bond and came to Chicago to aid her brother.

GIRL BELIEVED BURIED IN ROYAL PARK FOUND WED

WINDSOR, England, Jan. 11.—(AP)—In the case of the strange disappearance of Winifred Parrant, Scotland Yard today solved the mystery but not in the way it had expected.

Winifred, employed as a domestic servant, disappeared from her home 17 months ago, and recently operatives of Scotland Yard started digging in the royal park surrounding Windsor castle in expectations of finding her body.

Today, however, they found her happily married in London to a man named Richard Jenkins. She said she married shortly after leaving her home following upon a quarrel.

SPONSOR OF GAG LAW NOW MOVES FOR ITS REPEAL

Minnesota Legislators Prepare Bill.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Two bills for repeal of the Minnesota newspaper "gag" law are being prepared for introduction in the Minnesota legislature at the present session.

Senator George Lommen of Eveleth, Minn., who sponsored the "gag" law bill in 1925, when it was put into force to suppress a so-called scandal newspaper, is planning to introduce a bill to bring about its annulment. Senator J. V. Webber of Slayton is also working on a bill. It is believed they will write a bill together and that Lommen will bring it before the senate.

Governor Asked Repeal.

Gov. Floyd Olson listed repeal of this law as a recommendation in his inaugural address Wednesday.

Proposed action by the legislature follows an appeal on the constitutionality of the law to the United States Supreme court. This appeal was sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, following suppression of the Twin City Reporter and Saturday Press, and is pending for argument.

Appeal to the United States court is believed to have led Gov. Olson, who two years ago, as Hennepin county attorney, was a vigorous supporter of the "gag" law, to ask its repeal.

Opponents of the law in the Twin Cities, while welcoming action by the legislature, would prefer that the Supreme court act on it and thus set a national precedent for laws of this type.

Menaces Freedom of Press.

In effect the law, which has been upheld twice by the Minnesota Supreme court, is such that an unscrupulous judge could, if he wished, shut the doors of nearly any newspaper and by delaying hearings on appeal force the newspaper out of operation.

Baldwin Defends Funding of Britain's War Debt to U. S.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The dissatisfaction which is deepening in some quarters over the terms of the Anglo-American debt settlement reached in 1923 by Stanley Baldwin, then chancellor of the exchequer, was met by a statement of vindication issued tonight from the Conservative party's central office. Mr. Baldwin came to America in January, 1923, and later that year succeeded the late Bonar Law as prime minister.

The circular, which was sent to parliamentary members of the party, was designed to quash the renewed criticisms of Mr. Baldwin's work which are cropping out in the wake of the annual payment of $165,000,000 of principal and interest which was forwarded to the United States treasury in December.

Paid U. S. More in 1922.

Mr. Baldwin's circular points out that in 1922 Great Britain was paying the United States $250,000,000 annually without reduction in principal, and that the commission sent to Washington was faced with statutory demands for repayment with interest not lower than 4½ per cent within 25 years.

"Assuming that the British government did not desire to repudiate its formal obligations by default," says the circular, "the alternatives were, first, to postpone making a settlement and continue to pay $250,000,000 yearly; and, second, to agree to pay not less than $325,000,000 per year for 25 years.

Won Longer Term.

"The debt funding commission took its stand on the minimum terms laid down by congress. It was eventually agreed to recommend 3½ per cent interest and repayment over a term of 62 years, and the commission finally induced the acceptance of a reduction of 2 or 3 per cent for the first ten years.

"Thus, as a result of Mr. Baldwin's negotiations instead of an annuity of $325,000,000, our annuity is $165,000,000 until 1932, and $190,000,000 thereafter."

The statement concludes with a mention of the failure of the Balfour note on cancellation and points out that Great Britain is receiving from Germany and her allies $172,000,000 annually, a sum in excess of her present debt payment to the United States.

SCORNED BY PALS, BERGDOLL'S ONLY FRIEND IS BRIDE

U. S. Slacker Unhappy in German Retreat.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HEIDELBERG, Jan. 11.—Deserted by even his "fair weather" friends, Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, millionaire American slacker, is unhappy and restless. This much is revealed in a visit to the village of Weinsberg, where he sought refuge.

Villagers insist that Bergdoll, maddened by his solitude, has slipped into America, despite reports from Washington that a careful checkup has failed to uncover any evidence that he is in the United States. They assert that he was always poised for flight, because he trusted no one. He feared American callers particularly, avoiding them by slipping out of a rear door, climbing into his car, and dashing away.

Develops Case of Nerves.

The draft dodger, heavy set and in his forties, has developed a bad case of nerves, according to the villagers.

"He even fears his own shadow," said a former friend.

Bergdoll possesses only the loyalty of his young wife, Berta Frank, whom he married last spring, and her father. The bride is a slight blonde girl in her early twenties. A TRIBUNE correspondent, who called at the Bergdoll home, was met at the door by Mrs. Bergdoll.

In one corner of the living room was a Christmas tree, which is left standing until the end of January in this section of Baden-Wuerttemberg. She took her place beside the tree and watched every move of the intruder, who she probably feared was an enemy of the man she loves and of the father of the child she expects in a few months. She believes in her fugitive husband and has tried to ease the burden of his exile.

Pales on Suggestion of Flight.

"Has your husband gone back to America?" she was asked.

She paled slightly, then shrugged her shoulders.

"If he hasn't gone, does he intend to return?" was the second question.

"Stecher, Mr. Bergdoll's chauffeur, who came to Europe with him, has gone back to America," she replied. "Maybe he will, but Weinsberg and the Neckar and the Rhine are lovely. We can enjoy ourselves so much with the car."

That his friends have turned against the exile was indicated by remarks of innkeepers in Heidelberg, Ebersbach, and Huffenhardt. In the good old days they would proudly cry, "Bergdoll? He's a great pal."

"Don't Want to Know Him."

"Don't know him and don't want to know him," they say today.

"Bergdoll distrusts everybody," a former friend explained. "He always gets into fights. He fears that you want to pull a trick on him."

One of the village "philosophers" sipping his Black Forest "kirschwasser" put it differently.

"They wouldn't be saying that if Bergdoll was still spending his money. I hear money is scarce in America now—"

Before his reported trip to America, a TRIBUNE correspondent found Bergdoll after an all day hunt. He only consented to see the correspondent upon being told that he was bringing a message of greeting from a childhood friend.

"No, the friends I still have write to me, or can write," he said. "I don't know you. You are coming from those who think I am their enemy. There is peace in the world, why not let us have peace and forget the past?"

Veterans Printers to Honor Late Medill McCormick

The Old Time Printer's association, at a quarterly meeting in the Hotel La Salle yesterday, voted unanimously to erect a public memorial to the late Senator Medill McCormick. The resolution adopted provides for appointment of the Medill McCormick Memorial committee which will decide whether the memorial should take the form of a window in some public building or a statue in a city park.

Youthful Purse Snatcher Nabbed in Act by Police

James Brady, 17 years old, 828 East 53d street, an errand boy, was captured last night when a flivver squad arrived while he was trying to seize the purse of Miss Edna Beck, 20 years old, in front of her apartment house at 1113 East 52d street. Her screams attracted the attention of the police.

SAFETY COUNCIL ASKS ATTENTION TO AUTO BRAKES

Stopping Distances Are Listed.

Motorists are urged to have their brakes in good condition and so regulated that they can bring their cars to dead stops within known and specified distances in a bulletin given out last night by the Chicago Safety council. A chart, based on tests, cites a few examples in which machines, traveling at various speeds, may be halted within given distances.

A machine equipped with four wheel brakes, traveling at 20 miles an hour, should stop within 20 feet; with two wheel brakes, within 39 feet. At 30 miles an hour, a four wheel brake car should stop within 45 feet; with two wheel brakes, 88 feet. At 40 miles an hour, a four wheel brake automobile should halt within 80 feet; with two wheel brakes, within 156 feet.

"By knowing exactly how long it will take him to stop his car, the motorist can drive with redoubled assurance," says the bulletin.

Four deaths yesterday raised the Cook county motor toll to 51 for the year. The victims:

Joseph Lewandowski, 36 years old, 3615 North Octavia avenue, a salesman. Died yesterday in the Keystone hospital of injuries suffered on Saturday when he drove his car into a parked machine.

Ralph Viking, 24 years old, 1861 West 95th street, a real estate dealer. Died in the Little Company of Mary hospital of injuries received on Saturday when his machine was struck by a Rock Island suburban train at 107th street.

Lucille Colar, 45 years old, 7138 South Aberdeen street. Died at the Little Company of Mary hospital from injuries received on Dec. 26 when struck by an auto.

Martha Williams, 26 years old, 225 West 23d street, colored. Died of injuries received on Saturday when struck by a hit and run driver.

OXYGEN CHAMBER AT PASSAVANT IS READY FOR USE

Finish Installing Gift of Col. R. R. McCormick.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Many months of work adjusting a superlatively delicate mechanism at the Passavant hospital was reported yesterday to have been completed, permitting the opening of the double oxygen chamber donated by Col. R. R. McCormick for the care of bronchial pneumonia patients. An inspection of the room and its elaborate apparatus for controlling the temperature and oxygen content of the air inside was made last night.

To all appearances merely another hospital room when viewed from the corridor, the large double chamber is proved on examination to be radically different in construction and purpose. It is built of metal, air tight, comprising a room within a room, the smaller unit having a passageway entirely around it to permit inspection of the patient through the glass panels from any side.

All Light from Outside.

The metal roof of the smaller room has spacious, ground glass skylights, and all lighting is done from outside to avoid any interference with the air content inside.

When placed inside one of the two spaces into which this metal room is divided a pneumonia patient may be blue in the face and gasping for breath because of the congestion in his lungs which does not permit him to get a sufficient supply of oxygen from the air he is breathing. Half an hour later his face will be normal in color and his breathing much relieved, the powerful oxygen pumping equipment having increase the flow of that element into the chamber to whatever percentage is needed for the individual—always considerably above that which would be comfortable for the normal man.

Remove Carbon Dioxide.

There is a device for removing carbon dioxide given off by the patient in the air he breaths. Both the temperature and the oxygen content can be measured at a testing device outside the room.

Improvements and new ideas applied in the erection of the Passavant hospital oxygen room make it one of the most efficient and up to date of such facilities in the country. It replaces the makeshift tent which used to be erected by a doctor over a pneumonia patient for the application of oxygen to the lungs.

PRESENT MEDICAL CENTER PLAN FOR COUNTY HOSPITAL

Four Schools to Join in Project.

The Chicago Medical society's plan for reorganization of the Cook county hospital into a gigantic teaching and clinical center, with each of Chicago's four class A medical schools supervising a division of the hospital work, was presented in final form yesterday.

Chicago thus takes another step toward becoming the medical center of the world, according to Dr. John R. Harger, president elect of the society, and chairman of the medical policy commission which formulated the plan. The plan will be submitted today to the fifteen branches of the society for ratification and then will go to the county board for final action.

Seek Research Center.

The aim of the doctors is to coordinate the vast amount of clinical material at the county hospital and the research and teaching facilities of the medical schools so as to give the United States a center for medical research, undergraduate and postgraduate medical instruction such as is now found only in Europe.

The reorganization is expected to save the county thousands of dollars annually in medical costs by shortening materially the time spent in the hospital by the average patient. No additional expense to the taxpayers will be involved, it was said, as the sum estimated as between $50,000 and $100,000 annually that will be required for additions to personnel under the reorganization has been pledged by the universities benefitted.

Plan Special Clinics.

Five distinct services, or departments, will be established at the county hospital by the reorganization, one being assigned to each of the four colleges of medicine, with the fifth, known as the "open service," designed to become a center for postgraduate teaching and to provide facilities for students of other colleges recognized by the state board of health.

Patients entering the hospital will be assigned to the departments in rotation except in cases of specific diseases for which special clinics have been set up.

EINSTEIN AUTOGRAPHS ARE NOT FREE, BUT ON SALE TO AID POOR

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Autograph hunters find Albert Einstein, world's leading physicist, relatively different and perhaps higher.

Hundreds of requests have poured in by mail on the Einsteins here.

"There are too many requests; we've granted none," said Frau Elsa.

"If they really want them, very much, for charity, the doctor will," she said smiling. "He thinks of the poor children in Berlin. He sends as much money to help the poor as he can.

"So if the autograph is wanted very badly, if the letters brings, say $3 for the Berlin poor, the doctor will be happy, and pictures with autographs, say for $5, the doctor will be happy."

Then she showed her favorite account book which she said was the doctor's favorite reading. It was the account of funds he donated to the Berlin poor.

RESCUED TUNNEL MEN NO WORSE FOR EXPERIENCE

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Crawling through a tunnel dug through rock, earth, steel, and timber by their comrades, twenty men entombed in the Hetch Hetchy Coast range tunnel came to the surface early today, showing little evidence of their thiry hour ordeal.

All were in good spirits, although tired and hungry. Trapped Friday night when supporting timbers gave way 800 feet under ground, allowing debris to clog the tunnel, the men probably owed their lives to the action of Welby Morgan, 28 year old nozzleman.

When the cave-in started, Morgan dragged a twenty foot length of four inch pipe beneath the falling rocks, although he was twice knocked down before reaching safety. Air, as well as small quantities of food, was supplied the imprisoned men through this pipe.

JANITOR KILLED BY FALL.

Phil Simons, 52 years old, 3001 Calumet avenue, a janitor, was killed last night when he fell down a flight of stairs at 604 East 33d street.

RED CROSS WILL ASK NATION FOR DROUGHT FUNDS

Hoover Approves Appeal to Public.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—President Hoover today announced his approval of the request of John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross, that an appeal be issued for funds for the relief of sufferers in the drought-stricken areas of the United States. The goal of the Red Cross, it was announced yesterday, is a fund of $10,000,000.

President Hoover's letter to Mr. Payne read as follows:

"In accordance with our conferences during the last week I am glad, as president of the American Red Cross, to approve an appeal for public assistance to the association in the relief work it has undertaken in the rural sections.

Handles Personal Relief.

"Last fall the Red Cross undertook the burden of personal relief throughout the drought states. At that time you set aside $5,000,000 of the association's funds and established a vigorous and active organization throughout the drought area. In our discussions then it was considered that further funds might be required and it was contemplated that at an appropriate time an appeal should be made to the generosity of the American people to assist the Red Cross in its burden. It was felt then that it would not be possible to measure the volume of requirements until we had reached the early stages of winter and that, in any event, it was desirable that the Red Cross postpone any appeal until such time as the community chests and committees on unemployment relief in the larger cities should have further advanced the raising of their funds.

"The problem has now developed more than the available funds and is not wholly one of food, clothing, and other personal care among farmers, who have suffered from the drought. There is also difficulty in the smaller rural and industrial towns as a double reaction from the drought and depression. I understand that these towns are unable to organize effectively to meet their problems as are the municipalities.

Aid Local Committees.

"The arrangement made by Secretary Hyde and yourself by which a representative of local Red Cross chapters will sit upon the local committees created by the department of agriculture for administration of the crop relief will assure that every one truly deserving will be looked after with care and without waste.

"I am confident you will command the never failing generous instincts of our people toward those who are less fortunate."

According to the Red Cross, demands from the drought area are increasing, not only for food, clothing, and fuel for human beings but for feed for stock.

The $45,000,000 drought relief resolution passed by congress states that loans may be made by the secretary of agriculture for "work stock." Secretary Hyde, it is understood, has received an opinion from the department of justice saying that the authorization, therefore, does not include stock in general.

U. S. Food Loans Opposed.

A special rule is expected in the house of representatives tomorrow on the appropriation bill to provide the funds required by the authorizing resolution. The bill supplying the $45,000,000 was passed by the house, but on coming into the senate was amended, on motion of Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.], to include an additional $15,000,000 to be used for loans for food.

During the entire controversy with congress over measures of relief the administration has refused to countenance food loans, and it now counts on conferees from the house, where it has a working majority, to knock the Caraway amendment out when the bill gets to joint conference.

The difficulty has been in getting the bill into conference. Urban congressmen, led by Representative F. H. La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.], have objected to sending the bill to conference by unanimous agreement, claiming that if food loans are to be made the cities ought to be in on them as well as the rural districts.

Fear Putting Issue to Vote.

The only other method of getting the bill to conference was by majority vote, and administration leaders have feared a vote of the full house lest sentiment in favor of a food loan be strong enough to bring about a majority instruction to the conferees to agree to the senate amendment.

Such a special rule as is expected from the house rules committee tomorrow would require the measure to go to conference without instructions to the conferees.

PERSONAL SECRETARY TO COOLIDGE DECLINES OFFER FROM HOOVER

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Edward T. Clark, personal secretary to former President Calvin Coolidge, has declined to accept the White House post made vacant by the recent resignation of George Akerson, secretary to President Hoover. Unwillingness to give up business connections made since Mr. Coolidge left the White House is given as the reason for Mr. Clark's unwillingness to return to a White House position.

In case Mr. Clark declines to reconsider, it is reported that the post may be given to Ferry K. Heath of Grand Rapids, Mich., now assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of public buildings construction. Mr. Heath has been in conference with the President.

Mr. Clark's long political experience, partly with former Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, as secretary, and with Calvin Coolidge, furnished one of the major reasons why his services were sought by President Hoover, according to the reports. Mr. Clark now resides in Washington.

TROUBLE OF ALL KINDS COMES TO DOWN ARKANSAS

Red Cross Considers It Major Disaster.

mal trend of conditions," says J. A. Dick of the rural economics department of the University of Arkansas, "but our resources and our producing capacity are adequate to restore us, and in this period we should avoid radicalism in all business activities."

Gov. Harvey Parnell in a statement issued yesterday indorsed the Red Cross estimate of need for his state and said that what the farmers want from the national government is some means whereby they can be permitted to borrow money to buy food.

Want Loans for Food.

"If funds are not made available from some source," he said, "it simply means that thousands of people in this state will be objects of charity far beyond the period now contemplated by relief agencies.

"Every county in the state is more or less affected. I am confident that many people are saying nothing about it because of a sense of pride. It must be understood that the people of Arkansas are more than 99 per cent native born Americans of stock that has been in the United States for many generations.

"They are the most independent people in the country and it requires little imagination to realize that they regard a request for help as humiliating."

An Arkansas View of It.

The Arkansas Gazette says editorially today:

"To be placed in the postion we are in is a cross we have to bear. In some ways we have ourselves partly to blame for it. In too large a measure we put our trust as an agricultural state in cotton and the one crop system. It proved a reed that broke under the strain, as it has broken many times before and will break again if we have not now learned our lesson.

"In other ways we cannot blame ourselves for the situation. We could not prevent the flood disaster of 1927, the near drought summer of 1929, the unprecedented drought of last summer and the depression of general business in which Arkansas shares, and which has made our cities less able, though not less willing, to help the rural neighborhoods, because the cities have unemployment and destitution of their own to relieve.

"But though we understand all this, nevertheless there is humiliation in having to be helped. As individuals we can best retain our self-respect by ourselves doing everything in our power, up to the limit of our personal resources, to relieve destitution among our fellows."

HARD TIMES are hardest on the things of illusion—on the specious, the showy, the bizarre.

So, if right now there is less interest in the stock-ticker, there is more concentration on the daily task; if less attendance at the night clubs, more appreciation in the home.

Home endures, and the need for home endures, and the satisfactions of home proceed from the sound and genuine things there which endure.

This is particularly true of home furnishings, amid which we live in intimate and perennial association, and from which we draw home's bounty of comfort and repose.

There is shown on the floors of the DANERSK salesrooms furniture good to see and to own.

Its authentic beauty has root in sound character which will satisfy the spirit whether times be easy or hard.

Quaint furniture motifs which Breton peasant craftsmen once delighted to carve during the long winter evenings were the inspiration for this group. The sturdy simplicity of this furniture is exceedingly pleasant and appropriate for Master rooms or bachelor quarters. Oak with pollard oak panels. Simplified, old-time, French hardware. Dull wax finish. The group illustrated, heretofore $531.00. Special price $398

An important collection of DANERSK FURNITURE at exceptional reductions

FOR a limited time we will offer at marked reductions in price all Danersk designs that are discontinued to make room for new pieces. These items include many of our choicest collectors' pieces which have now become "limited editions."

To insure employment for our large colony of skilled craftsmen during the present winter months, we are this year including in these price reductions many important groups for all rooms of the house, together with hundreds of additional items throughout our entire Danersk collection of Early American maple, 18th Century mahogany, oak, and walnut. Prices far below their true value.

Fine example of 18th Century craftsmanship. The interesting, conventional flower inlay in the door, the delicate, turned finials and beautifully carved eagle are scrupulously reproduced from original documents in design. Heretofore $750.00. Special price $450

Obviously, those who take advantage of the present prices will not only benefit their homes by adding pedigreed furniture of lasting value but they will do this for a smaller outlay than they could otherwise possibly obtain.

LAUNCH FINAL DRIVE TO FILL RELIEF COFFERS

Seek Special Gifts from City's Wealthy.

A concerted effort to conclude Chicago's $5,000,000 relief fund campaign in the shortest time possible will be launched today by Philip R. Clarke, chairman of the campaign committee, with the active support of some of the city's leading business men.

Mr. Clarke has developed a plan, it was announced, whereby the trades division and the individual gifts committee of his organization expect to raise the remaining $1,500,000 necessary to fulfillment of Chicago's quota. The chairman expects the trades division to raise $750,000 and the remainder, he says, must come through individual gifts of the wealthy men and women of the city.

Joseph Cudahy Heads Gift Group.

Joseph M. Cudahy has been chosen to head the special gifts committee. Assisting him, among others, will be S[illegible]uel Insull, Silas H. Strawn, James Simpson, Col. A. A. Sprague, Walter [illegible] Strong, Lester Armour, Sewell Avery, Fred W. Sargent, Lawrence Houghteling, C. B. Goodspeed, H. H. Brandrett, and Robert Carr.

Rowland Haynes, secretary of the University of Chicago and vice chairman of the fund raising committee, is working with Mr. Clarke and Mr. Cudahy.

"James Simpson," said Mr. Clarke yesterday, "has set the ball rolling in this particular phase of the campaign by subscribing $25,000. A few men in New York gave in amounts ranging upward from $250,000, but we realize that we have no million-dollar donors in Chicago, but we have a right to expect many very sizable contributions from Chicago's wealthy.

Large Gifts Needed.

"Large subscriptions from individuals are essential in supplementing the very generous response we have had from more than 125,000 men and women of the city who have given smaller amounts, which, in the aggregate, have been a 'life saver.'

"Our classifying forces have completed their job of listing all business concerns in Chicago."

FRENCH TROOPS KILLED IN NEW INDO-CHINA RIOTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 11.—News reached Paris today of a new revolutionary outbreak in Annam, a state in French Indo-China. Seven members of a military patrol, including the patrol leader, were killed in ambush near the village of Songlac, and 30 native insurgents were killed or wounded in subsequent reprisals. The fighting took place Jan. 2, according to a communique issued by the ministry of colonies in Paris. The patrol was attacked by a band of 70 insurgents, who, after killing seven, threw their bodies into the Songca river.

HOOVER EXPECTS CANADA'S REPLY ON SEAWAY SOON

Project Would Create Jobs for Thousands.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—A reply from the Canadian government disclosing whether it is ready to expedite negotiations for the construction of the St. Lawrence river route from the great lakes to the Atlantic is expected by the Hoover administration within the next few weeks. With the return to Ottawa from Great Britain of Premier Richard B. Bennett of Canada officials here expect that the Canadian government will shortly give consideration to the American note of last fall, in which Canada was urged to expedite construction of the seaway.

Immediately after the American note was delivered to the Canadian government by Hanford MacNider, American minister, Premier Bennett stated that he would give it consideration as soon as he returned from the imperial dominion conference held in London in December. The premier returned a few days ago, and it is understood here that Mr. MacNider has discussed the St. Lawrence project with the premier within the last few days.

Officials here anticipate a month or six weeks may elapse before Premier Bennett finds time to act on the St. Lawrence matter.

The Hoover administration is anxious to resume negotiations with Canada looking toward a settlement of the various problems that have arisen during the previous discussions of the project.

Several knotty engineering problems must be solved before construction can begin. Canada also has insisted on a settlement of the Chicago water diversion matter prior to the building of the water route.

Washington officials are now considering urging early construction of the waterway as a means of supplying employment during the next few years for a large number of workers in both Canada and the United States. This project would necessitate the expenditure eventually, if power facilities are developed, of in the neighborhood of 400 million dollars.

Canadian advocates of point construction of the water route have contended such a step would aid in relieving unemployment. The Toronto Star, in a recent editorial, reminded Premier Bennett that during the campaign he intimated he would attempt to get the project under way in time to relieve unemployment this winter.

RAILWAY POLICE KILL ROBBER, WOUND ANOTHER

Railroad police of the Indiana Harbor Belt line killed one freight car robber, wounded another, and captured two others early yesterday after a pistol fight with a gang caught looting a box car on a siding between Calumet City and Burnham.

The robber who was slain was Stanley Kaspryzyck, 43 years old, who died at St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond. He was said to have named several other accomplices who escaped. Frank Kurek, 17 years old, of South Chicago was shot in the groin and legs and was taken to the Bridewell hospital. Two other youths, Walter Hojka and Walter Magda of South Chicago, surrendered to the railroad police after the two others were shot. Several of the robbers escaped.

FREE STATE TO GIVE IRISH CARPET TO POPE PIUS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Jan. 11.—The government of the Irish Free State will present an Irish manufactured carpet to the Pope. It will be on view next week in the Dublin School of Art. The carpet is in nine colors and is designed for the anteroom to the Pope's audience chamber. The design embraces the papal arms and Irish symbols, such as the harp, three crowns, red hand and green shield. The work was done by the Dun Ewer art workers.

SHOT DEAD BY WATCHMAN.

Durand Martini was shot and killed yesterday by Joseph Kopek, a watchman employed by the Fatian Clothing company at 629 West Madison. Kopek told police he saw Martini break a window and grab an overcoat and shot at the youth when he refused to halt.

WOMAN, 101, WILL BAKE CAKE FOR BIRTHDAY TODAY

Mrs. Charlotte Ryburn, known throughout the Fox river valley as Grandma, will celebrate her 101st birthday today by baking and serving a mammoth cake with 101 candles in it, for her friends and relatives. In between times she will listen to the radio.

Mrs. Ryburn was born at Asheville, N. C., Jan. 12, 1830, and came west with her parents in a covered wagon when she was 4 years old. She often recalls that "the trip then took weeks; now it could be made by plane in hours." The family settled near Plano, where Mrs. Ryburn has lived ever since. She has 2 children, 31 grandchildren, 42 great-grandchildren, and 10 great-great-grandchildren.

RUSSIA PINCHED FOR CASH; 5 YEAR PLAN FACES RUIN

World Slump Hits Soviet Plea for Loans.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Jan. 11.—Growing unemployment and the industrial depression in Europe and America, which Dictator Stalin hails as capitalism's most serious crisis, has suddenly cast a cloud over the communists' hopes to overtake and outstrip the industrialized United States through the soviet five year plan. Stalin predicts that from the embers of capitalism new soviet republics would arise and annex themselves to Moscow.

Hints by Russian economists that the world depression might affect the soviet industrial program are not discussed by orators, but by the soviet press. It realizes that the anticipated millions of dollars in credits which the communist party had hoped to obtain from capitalistic countries are being curtailed and that without the aid of foreign finance the five year plan cannot be fulfilled.

Find Cash Hard to Get.

Unemployment in Germany, England, and America has developed in many lines of industry, which are unable to market their products in Russia because of trade monopoly, and the Russians complain that the world's largest banks are unwilling to assist Russia to industrialize herself.

Germany's coolness to enlarged credits requested by Moscow has caused Russia to send a special commission to Berlin to persuade the Reichsbank to prolong and enlarge the credits already granted.

Similar negotiations are proceeding in London, while Italy has refused to enlarge the credits arranged by Maxim Litvinov during his recent visit to Milan. Different Moscow methods are being used in the United States, where soviet agitators are touring the industrial centers and spreading Red propaganda.

Two Lines of "Attack."

News from Moscow reveals that the present agitation in America is developing along two lines:

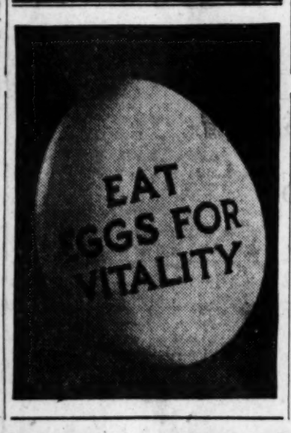
First—Red sympathizers are holding lectures among factory employes under orders from Russia. The yare informing them that they must urge factory administrations to grant better credit terms to Russia, so the soviets will be able to place large orders, thus insuring them against a cessation of work.

Secondly—The various soviet trusts and syndicates are holding meetings with factory heads, asking them to bring pressure to bear on American banks and on the American government to provide cash to finance Russian orders.

Louis Fischer, an American communist, who emigrated to Russia with his family, passed through Riga en route to the United States to assist in the campaign among American workers.

ROB BUTCHER OF $80.

Two robbers late Saturday night held up Paul Przeslowski in his butcher shop at 4444 Armitage avenue and fled with $80 after locking him in his refrigerator. He effected his own release.



Holy Land Abolishes Sale of Drinks on Credit

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JERUSALEM, Jan. 11.—It is no longer lawful to sell drinks on credit in Palestine. Cash payment is now demanded under a new decree which is expected to injure the high liquor trade receipts under the "chit" system, whereby a customer pays his chits at the end of the month.

Poincare Improving After Long Siege of Illness

PARIS, Jan. 11.—(AP)—A slow improvement was reported today in the condition of Raymond Poincare, eminent French statesman, who has been seriously ill for some time. His physician said the patient might be permitted to sit up for a few minutes each day beginning at the end of the week.

DANDRUFF
A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid Arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid Arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy never fails.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

Does a pimply face embarrass you? Get a package of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear up after you have taken the tablets a few nights, if you are like thousands of others.

Help cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets do that which calomel does and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

Thousands who take Olive Tablets are never cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition, pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound; known by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take them by for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

FROM SOAP BOX ORATOR TO FAME, WOMAN'S STORY

New York's Labor Chief Toiled in Factory.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—People do rise to fame from a soap box. Take the case of Maude O'Farrell Swartz. The public has been getting acquainted with her this week, but the injured working women of New York state have known her for a long time. Mrs. Swartz has just completed her first week as secretary of the state department of labor at a salary of $4,500 a year. Mrs. Swartz is the first labor woman to hold such a post in New York and she earned the job.

Factory worker, waitress, printer, proofreader and soap box orator of the days when suffrage was an issue, the fiery little Irish woman has lived a success story. She does not get her Irish up when asked if she came over in the steerage.

Finds Self Broke in Gotham.

"Of course I'm an immigrant," she snaps, "and it is not hard to tell where I emigrated from."

Mrs. Swartz received her present post from Frances Perkins, state industrial commissioner, and she will serve labor from a new angle, having fought for working men and women all her life. The road that the Irish immigrant girl traveled to her state job is the thing that makes her a success story type.

She was Maud O'Farrell in Ireland and she left that island early. At the age of eighteen she was teaching in a convent in Paris. After that it was Italy, more schoolrooms and then America. At 23 she found herself in New York without a friend and without a penny.

Once a Proofreader.

"A girl who hasn't a soul to depend upon but herself for her bread and butter isn't usually very choosy about her work," said Mrs. Swartz. "I was just like so many girls in New York now who take anything that comes their way. The factories and the restaurants came before my first big opportunity."

When Mrs. Swartz talks of her "big opportunity" she refers to the advent of suffrage. So she took to the platform and she talked about the working woman. At that time the future labor secretary was a proofreader on small jobs in what she calls "a lot of nasty little printing houses." She spoke Italian and French fluently and she knew the shops and factories and the people who worked in them, so it was not long until she was introduced to the Women's Trade Union league.

Becomes Labor Worker.

"Right then I knew I had found my job," said Mrs. Swartz. "It was something really worth putting my mind to. There was more to it than to suffrage, so I became an ardent worker in the labor movement."

Mrs. Swartz remained a labor worker in that organization until her state appointment. She was not a lawyer, but nevertheless she was court representative of the women workers who were trying to get compensation in accident cases. She got the money for them usually, and against the cleverest lawyers the insurance companies could find.

Now the Irish immigrant girl has a big office with more than a score of workers at her command and it is easy to see that she is just getting started in her work for the laboring woman.

Half Million in Insurance Taken Out by Rudy Vallee

New York, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Rudy Vallee, the famous orchestra leader and crooner, has had his life insured for $500,000. The huge policy was split among more than thirty insurance companies, and the last $25,000 of it was issued only Saturday.

Start Street Car Service Over Wabash Ave. Bridge

Street car service over the new Wabash avenue bridge, extending the Indiana avenue line from Randolph street north to Grand avenue and connecting with the route to Navy pier was started yesterday. Later other surface routes will utilize the new bridge, increasing the street railway service and doing away with several unsatisfactory routings through the loop which have caused congestions. The Cottage Grove avenue cars will continue to use the loop through Garland court, between Washington and Randolph streets, the route formerly used also by Indiana avenue cars.

remove Bacterial-Mouth

There's only one correct way to have sound, dazzling white teeth. Remove the true cause of stain, discoloration, decay and serious gum diseases. Authorities call it Bacterial-Mouth. You have it. This condition confronts everyone who breathes. Millions of germs swarm into the mouth and attack teeth and gums.

No ordinary dentifrice can cope with Bacterial-Mouth. But highly concentrated Kolynos quickly removes it by killing the germs that cause it.

Try this dental cream with its exclusive Dry-Brush Technique—a half-inch on a dry brush, morning and night. Watch teeth whiten—fully a shade a day! See lazy gums firm up.

You can feel and see Kolynos work! As it enters the mouth it multiplies 25 times and becomes a penetrating antiseptic FOAM that gets into every pit, fissure and crevice.

Swiftly this FOAM kills germs and purifies the mouth. It neutralizes acids and dissolves unsightly tartar. Gently and without injury it cleans teeth down to the naked white enamel.

For 3 hours after each brushing this FOAM continues to clean teeth and destroy germs.

MR. HOOVER AND COXEY'S ARMY.

The senate radicals and Democrats have discovered a new way of giving Mr. Hoover notice of their complete disapproval. They combined to instruct him to return to the senate the nominations of three members of the federal power commission confirmed just before the senate recess. The three appointees, Chairman Otis Smith of Maine, Claude L. Draper of Wyoming, and Marcel Garsaud of Louisiana, getting their jobs just before Christmas, celebrated it by firing the secretary, chief accountant and solicitor of the commission.

In this the radicals saw the hand of the power trust. The demand for the return of the nominations is new procedure, but new or old it would not matter. If it were not the power commission it would be something else. The radicals intend to show Mr. Hoover that he will not do. They are the friends of the people and they refuse to permit him to be one. In this case he is to be connected with the power trust.

Mr. Hoover could have been prepared for these consequences when he undertook to lead Coxey's army. It was not natural to him. If he had decided that his administration would be governed by his own ideas and his own experience any mistakes would have been his own. He would have been supported by people of his own kind. He would always be in a position which at least was of his own choosing, on ground familiar to him, and he and every one else would know where he stood and why.

He has permitted his opponents to give him responsibility for their conduct and responsibility is all they will give him. He cannot manage or control them. They will not be influenced by him or treat him with any consideration. For every concession he gives them they give him a new offense.

The men of his own party cannot help him. His preoccupation with the opposition has weakened what should have been the support of his administration. His party cannot follow him because he has been following his opponents. There never was a chance that he could take charge of them and there was a chance that he would lose the support to which his election entitled him. So it seems to be.

He endeavored to attach to himself elements in political life for which he never had had any use. In any private enterprise he would have kept away from them instinctively. He thought the southern dry zealots, such as Bishop Cannon, who had supported him in the election, could be retained in his favor. He could not control them. They insisted on controlling him. In trying to conciliate the southern Democratic clericals he lost the Republicans of the metropolitan north. His judgment naturally would have set him against the Legge farm board and its operations, but he was trying to lead the radicals. It couldn't be done.

Mr. Hoover couldn't be Mr. Bryan. It was too unnatural. He never before had tried to do what Mr. Bryan might have done and when he did he lost all the advantages which he could have retained as Mr. Hoover. He cannot satisfy the elements whose political attachment he has sought. With greater ability to substitute other ideas for his own he still would have failed.

Coxey's army will not have Mr. Hoover for its chief and it might be difficult for him to collect again the support which he dissipated by abandoning it.

Republicans are looking elsewhere.

THE WAY SENATORS GET.

Senator Nye's expense account committee is pursuing the investigation of why and how Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican national committee, spent $4,000 in trying to defeat a United States senator, Mr. Norris of Nebraska. An effort to defeat a United States senator is seldom viewed with favor in that body. It is regarded as reprehensible. It is suspect both as to motives and methods. There is a strong prejudice in the United States senate in favor of the reelection of senators. It is in the way of being a senate rule.

Mr. Lucas did not defeat Senator Norris, but he spent $4,000 for circulars against the Conscript Father and the other Fathers have the matter up. Was this money from Mr. Lucas' private funds or was his credit backed up by committee funds? The use of public funds in such elections is exclusively the privilege of the senators. It is reserved to them and the use of private funds against them is regarded as an infraction of law. The amount involved in the Nebraska affair is not large, but the principle is.

The senators do not neglect small precautions. It would not be well to do so.

While Mr. Nye's committee is showing a proper solicitude for the protection of senatorial rights and privileges, Senator Caraway is promoting sound doctrine in other directions. Mr. Caraway has added $15,000,000 to the drought relief bill to be used to feed constituents in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kentucky and other states where crop shortage has brought distress. Representative La Guardia of New York City says that there shall also be a federal appropriation for the poor in the great cities. Mr. La Guardia, being only a representative, does not know that city people do not get hungry.

If Senator Caraway can produce federal subsistence for Arkansas he is probably elected to the United States senate for life, and this is one of the best uses to which public funds could be put. If state funds were used for the needed relief of distressed citizens of the state the taxpayers of Arkansas would be required to meet the bill. So in the other states requesting the federal government to assume their responsibilities. This is not so good politically. It hasn't the careless generosity which goes far in a campaign. That unstrained quality of mercy is best demonstrated with public money of the United States.

Thus is revealed the moral gulf between Mr. Lucas' $4,000 and Senator Caraway's $15,000,000.

VICTIMS OF MORALITIES.

The trial of New York policemen accused of framing cases against women in the enforcement of the morals statute reveals a revolting turpitude. Women and girls, who, if offenders at all, were not notorious, have been the victims of the police and informers who in many instances have arranged the appearance of guilt and have either collected money from the accused or have sent them through the Morals court to state institutions.

The court itself seems to have been astonishingly obtuse. Suspicion had been fixed on the enforcement of the morals law a long time, but the judges apparently were not inclined to skepticism. Now New York is confronted with the ugly fact that many women may have been grossly wronged and may be suffering from atrocious police misconduct.

There is no lower form of depravity than this of preying on women whose circumstances could expose them to a framed case against them. The nature of the charge makes it difficult for the victim to escape. It seems to be the essence of a law concerning such moralities that the accusation carries a conviction of guilt. In the cases of the women imposed upon the defense in nearly each case was imperfect, the court processes peremptory, and public opinion either indifferent to the method of enforcement or satisfied with it.

It seems also to be elementary in such enforcement that entrapment shall be used with astonishing moral justifications. It is seldom enough that offenders who make their conduct notorious or even detectable by ordinary police work shall be arrested. It is necessary to induce them to offend that they may be dragged to court and punished for the satisfaction of a society which otherwise would not have known that they existed.

It is then inevitable that corruption should go along with these excesses. That is the common association, a zealot indifference to rights and a consequent venality. It is almost impossible to keep them apart. The one breeds the other. Excesses of law corrupt the enforcers and human beings are cruelly used in the cause of moral reform.

THE STATESMAN AT BREAKFAST.

Mr. Stanley Baldwin is the most likable of public personages. His humor and friendliness lighten and warm even his political pronouncements and upon other occasions most pleasantly play through his utterances. Recently he spoke at the University of Glasgow, among other matters confessing his enjoyment of breakfast. A sound mind in a sound body, we agree, will be at their best at breakfast in usual circumstances, for sleep has knit up the raveled sleeve of care and restored to the sound mind and body the hope and strength that are their natural emanations.

There is a sour tradition among intellectuals of breakfast gloom and irritability, but it is a confession of misspent hours and energies. Mr. Baldwin confesses that from his morning height the faith in life which shone so brightly over the fragrant cup and rasher fades gradually during the day until "by evening he had very nearly given up all hope of this world and the next." This seems to us a rational process and plausible conclusion, and we would rather tie to the man who declares both than to those individuals who start the day in cloud and rise slowly to the fallacious glitter of the dinner table. Man ought to be better at the breakfast table, for he rises, if he has been wise, renewed and faces the sun. If he is so fresh by night we suspect he has not grappled sturdily with the resistance of mundane things nor tasted the bitterness of hopes deferred and gallant dreams undone.

Editorial of the Day

ILLINOIS CITIES GROW.

[Rockford Register-Republic.]

Cities of Illinois are becoming more and more crowded, so the 1930 census discloses, by comparing density of population by counties with the corresponding figures for 1920.

Ten years ago but three Illinois counties had more population than 200 people per square mile. They were Cook, Rock Island, and St. Clair. Today there are eight such counties, as Du Page, Kane, Lake, Peoria, and Winnebago have all exceeded an average of 200 residents per square mile.

Cook has 4,268 for very square mile, compared with 3,272 in 1920. Rock Island's density has increased from 217 to 231, St. Clair's from 206 to 228, Peoria's from 176 to 222, Winnebago's from 172 to 222. Du Page had 122 people for each square mile in 1920, and now has 266, ranking second to Cook. Lake has 229, against 163 ten years ago, and Kane has 238, against 189.

The entire state has 136 people per square mile of area to 115 in 1920.

All of the so-called urban counties, having one or more larger centers of population, grew more from 1920 to 1930 than from 1910 to 1920, while a large majority of the rural counties either grew less or lost population more rapidly from 1920 to 1930 than in the previous ten years. Economic and industrial factors played a big part in the shift of population. For instance, Franklin county, one of the leaders in the coal mining industry, had an increase of 120 per cent in population from 1910 to 1920, and but 4 per cent from 1920 to 1930. Williamson county, in which Herrin is situated, grew 35 per cent between 1910 and 1920, but lost 12 per cent of its population in the last ten years. Montgomery county grew 17 per cent during 1910-20 and fell off 15 per cent in the succeeding ten years.

Counties reporting the greatest increase in growth are Du Page, from 36 to 113 per cent; Kane, from 8.3 to 36 per cent, and Peoria, from 11.4 to 36.5 per cent.

FIGHTING PNEUMONIA.

It seems probable that we are making some headway against the pneumonias.

Comparison of the mortality rates of the acute respiratory diseases prevailing now with those that prevailed during the last years of the preceding century show a definite improvement, though a smaller one than in the case of abdominal disorders. From time to time favorable reports come from laboratories and hospitals in which new remedies are being tried. A recent report bringing inspiring information was that of Drs. Cecil and Plummer. It related a very large experience with the use of the concentrated Felton serum in the treatment of type I pneumonias. Drs. Cecil and Plummer estimate that there are about 480,000 cases of pneumonia yearly in the United States, and that about 120,000 of these die. About two-thirds of these, or about 360,000, are cases of lobar pneumonia, the others being bronchial pneumonia, terminal pneumonia, and other miscellaneous pneumonias. Of these 360,000 about 96,000 are type I pneumonias.

They hold that type I pneumonia is as much a separate disease as is paratyphoid separate from typhoid. Of these 96,000 about 24,000 die annually. A general use of the Felton concentrated serum, he estimates, should reduce this number of deaths to 12,000, and that would be well worth while.

When a diagnosis of pneumonia has been made the Sabin test will decide within four hours whether it is of the type I variety. If it is, an eye test should be made to prove that the sufferer is not sensitive to serum. This will not waste more than thirty minutes. If the Sabin test is positive and the eye test is negative, the use of Felton concentrated serum should be begun without delay. This serum is safe and causes no chills nor other unpleasant after effects.

Physicians know how to make the Sabin test and the eye test as well as the clinical diagnosis of lobar pneumonia, but the laws of probability are such as to justify the use of the serum at times when no tests are possible.

Type I lobar pneumonia is so infrequent in children under three that the serum finds no field in that group. The contrary is true of people between three and forty years of age. Type I pneumonia is the common form of lobar pneumonia among them. In older people most of the pneumonias are of other types. Therefore, with them, it is wise to await a Sabin test.

FLUID ACCUMULATION IN TISSUES.

Mrs. J. R. writes:

1. What is edema?
2. What is myxomatous transformation?
3. What is meant by myxomatous and edematous character?
4. What does cystic salpinx mean?
5. What is arthritis and how does it affect the human body?

REPLY:

1. Dropsy or accumulation of fluid in the tissues.
2. Transformation into something like mucus.
3. Something that is dropsical and mucuslike.
4. Cyst of the Fallopian tube.
5. Inflammation of a joint or joints. It causes pain and tenderness in joints.

SWELLING BEST SYMPTOM.

Mrs. H. O. writes: [1] What are the symptoms of a rupture? [2] Is there a home treatment?

REPLY:

1. The swelling itself is the best symptom. The cough test generally shows whether a swelling is due to rupture. If there is strangulation the added symptoms are colicky pain and nausea.
2. Wearing a properly fitting truss or binder is the only treatment indicated in most cases.

SIGNS OF GALLSTONES.

M. J. N. writes: What are the signs of gallstones?

REPLY:

Among the symptoms of gallstones are colicky pains, gallstone colic, vague tenderness in the pit of the stomach, some nausea, sometimes jaundice.

IN-LAWS.

Oak Park, Ill., Jan. 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A question of relationship has arisen which I submit, as follows:

Two sisters married X and Y. What relationship does this give X and Y? Are they brothers-in-law? W. E. G.

We know of no legal importance which would attach to the marriage relationship just traced through two marriages. The meaning of any term is determined by its usage and usage in these cases is merely a popular one. The term "brother-in-law" has no substantial legal significance. It has been our observation that the term is sometimes applied to the relationship that you describe, but is more often applied to relationship traced only through one marriage.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WANTS ARMED PROTECTION.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is it lawful to carry a loaded revolver in a side pocket of an automobile right next to the driver? If not, where can one carry a loaded revolver in an automobile while traveling the highway, and be within the law?

A. J. L.

The statute provides: "No person shall carry concealed on or about his person a pistol, revolver or other firearm." In 322 Illinois at page 52 our Supreme court held "about his person" means sufficiently close to the person to be readily accessible for immediate use. A firearm is concealed about the person when it is pushed down behind the cushion of an automobile on which the accused is sitting. But not when it is lying on the floor under a rug.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

UNSIGHTLY ALLEY.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—[Friend of the People.]—It certainly is an eyesore to see the condition of Avondale avenue from Lawrence avenue south to Montrose avenue. This street has for over a year been full of old tin cans, old auto parts, and rubbish. Weeds were over four feet high last summer. What could we do to have this street cleaned up?

MRS. M. J.

Report is made that Avondale avenue between Lawrence and Montrose is an unimproved street and is used but little by traffic. Three or four automobile bodies have been abandoned and left lying on the street. These will be removed within a short time.

JOSEPH J. BUTLER,
Superintendent of Streets.

THIS WAY TO THE BIG SHOW—

This way, ladees and gentulmun! On to Washington to see the great battle that is now on between the White House and the senate. Make your bets on the winnah! It's even money, right now, fifty-fifty, but the odds may change without previous notice. It's all about the power commission. The senate indorsed the administration's appointees and confirmed the power commission, and the power commission put on the power right at the getaway and gave the air to two employés of the commission that the senate declares were standing sturdily for the rights of we, the common people. The whole trouble seems to be that the power commission turned on its power too quick or put on too much power. Says the senate! From the other end of Pennsylvania avenue comes the impression that a power commission certainly is supposed to have power. Look at the name of the thing—power commission. How could it be a power commission if it didn't turn loose some power now and then? But the senate says power has to be used with discretion and not turned loose all at once and all over the place. Anyhow, it's a very exciting and interesting situation. Watch it closely, ladees and gentulmun. You will see things that will amuse, entertain, and instruct. And you can't afford to turn your heads away for an instant. Believe me, ladees and gentulmun, this is the fight of the century!

IF WINTER COMES.

If Winter comes, and winds blow wild and chill,
If queenly gardens perish with the cold,
Be well assured that from the ashen mold
Shall burgeon lovely gardens that shall fill
The earth with beauty. For the wood and hill,
By North Wind shorn, bright robes of living green
Shall soon be wrought, unheard, unseen,
By Him who turns destruction to His will.
If Winter comes—alas, and it shall come!—
Men's hearts will ache, by lonely brooding pent;
In that bleak hour shall every choir be dumb
That filled our hearts of late with sweet content:
Yet Life still reigns, and soon the year will bring Maytime and joy, with all things blossoming.

CHICAGO is going to have a cruiser named after her and the darned thing's going to be launched next month, and it's full of eight inch guns and torpedo tubes and everything. The good ship Chicago ought to be sent to London and Paris and Boston and New York and a lot of places like that and made to run out its guns and clear ship for action and then display a flag from the masthead reading:

MARGINAL NOTES OF A VAGRANT YEAR.

R. H. L.: Peering between the pointed palings of an iron fence to watch an Anglican bishop, sans vestments and austerity, digging hastily in the rich loam beneath a clump of spirea to fill a rusted tomato can with angle worms . . . trying to comprehend the grief of a monogamous crane as, there in the dead branches of a sycamore, he pines for his mate, who, he must know, is to return not again . . . wondering what Jake Koenig would have said had he seen Sweitzer's pointer flushing a brace of prairie chickens from the slough above Blackstone . . . experiencing that awe that comes when the ice reaches out with relentless needles to knit the wounds of my river—for such are her riffles in winter . . . tramping through the frost-laden twigs of the trails that encompass the shoulders of the Big Bend—there at Lee Palmer's—to be windward of the wolves when they come down through the moonlight for their rendezvous on Bailey Creek . . . feeling very humble as that benediction which follows the death of a winter's sunset sends Gareth floundering through the snows with an offering of suet for the juncoes and a ruby crowned kinglet, while Carol, there at the pane, turns suddenly and in frost-conscious presumption pinches her mother's cheek in this a new, and, for her, consuming revelation.

THAT FELLA DOWN IN STREATOR.

THERE'S JUST A LITTLE sneaky feeling creeping around that maybe the 1931 we made so much hullabaloo about isn't going to turn out such a wow after all. Anyhow, he seems to be all balled up on the weather. Here he's been giving us June weather all through January. That's all right and we enjoy it. But if 1931 gets things all messed up on a little thing like weather, what'll he do about the bigger things we were hoping he'd set right? Huh?

SUPPLICATION.

Give me my fill of earth
Rich with the vine and the wheat,
Big with the primitive birth
Of the grasses under my feet;

Give me the roaring rain
And the sound of the winds in strife
Over and over again,
The glorious rhythm of life;

Give me to stay with these
In the earth my earliest home;
For the wine is good to the very last lees
And the honey sweet in the comb.

PROHIBITION

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 12, 1915.

LONDON.—The Germans apparently have begun their long threatened war in the air and reports of action by hostile airmen are received from many places in northern France. The most serious attack was at Dunkirk, where seven German machines dropped many bombs and caused the death of five persons in the suburbs nearest the fortifications. They were driven off by two Belgian airplanes after a terrific battle 9,000 feet in the air.

WARSAW.—The Germans crossed the Rawka river, barely 30 miles west of Warsaw, entrenched themselves on the east bank and today attacked the most important line made by the Russians for the defense of Warsaw. The defenses include barbed wire entanglements as well as the most carefully built field trenches. The German attack was repulsed, but the battle continues.

LONDON.—Italy and Rumania are expected to enter the war on the side of the allies within a short time. However, a Taranto dispatch says that the third division of the Italian fleet, which sailed from that place under sealed orders, returned to port, having been recalled by wireless. This is taken to mean that a solution of the Hodeida incident is in sight.

BERLIN.—A Vienna dispatch says that the French dreadnaught Courbet was hit and damaged by an Austrian submarine. The Courbet was then rammed by her sister ship, the Jean Bart, which was attempting to tow her, and sank.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 12, 1901.

NEW YORK.—Miss Louise Schaefer, a school teacher, was to all appearances dead and the undertaker was preparing her body for burial when she sat up in bed and demanded to know what he meant by it. This was three days ago. She was rushed to a hospital and is still alive.

BRAZIL, Ind.—Pronounced dead by her family physician and laid out in her burial robes awaiting the hour for interment, Mrs. Cyrus Taylor came back to life and is well on her way to complete recovery.

PARIS.—Private advices received here say that a German physician who recently examined President Kruger pronounced him dangerously ill, scarcely likely to live a fortnight longer.

CHICAGO.—Frank Brill of Chicago won the individual bowling championship of the United States with a total of 648 pins in his three games in the national tournament.

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—Mrs. Mary Smith, mother of Judge B. N. Smith, died at the age of 105 years. Born Sept. 22, 1795, she was perhaps the only person on the Pacific slope who lived in three centuries.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 12, 1881.

ST. PAUL.—A telegram was received at military headquarters yesterday from Maj. Ilges under date of Jan. 9 stating that he had captured twenty more Indians. He believes that all but about twenty warriors of the camp he attacked Jan. 2 are now in. Nothing has yet been heard from Scout Allison since the 7th, when he left to continue negotiations with Sitting Bull, whose camp is near Milk river, where his Indians are hunting. Transportation has been secured for a supply of blankets and hardbread, which will be pushed through to Fort Buford and Poplar Creek at once by Gen. Terry.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Representative Belford of California and other representatives of the far west left here today for Mentor to urge the appointment of Gen. Routt of California to the postmastership generalship in Gen. Garfield's cabinet. Belford in a speech on the funding bill in the house defended silver as money and denounced the single standard goldites.

CHICAGO.—The annual meeting of the Children's League for the Suppression of the Sale of Liquor to Minors was held in the clubroom of the Palmer house, Mrs. F. P. Elmendorf, president of the league, presiding. A. Payton, agent of the league, charged that the number of saloons in the city was entirely out of proportion to the population of the city. He reported 3,173 licensed saloons and some 400 or 500 unlicensed places where liquor was sold.

THE ARREST OF BROTHERS.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—The one lesson of any importance that crime will cull from the arrest of Lingle's alleged slayer is merely to refrain from bumping off a rich guy. Or an influential guy. For it is quite obvious, is it not, that without the financial and material aid of THE TRIBUNE the pursuit of Lingle's slayer would have died a natural death months ago?

Don't mistake me. I am not denying the fact that THE TRIBUNE'S aid to the law enforcing body of the community was a beneficial and desirable influence. My plaint is that there are not more such like you to place fortunes at the disposal of law enforcement so that justice might be done.

But what can protect the great body of the people—subject every day of their lives to the caprices and fancies of death dealing criminals? For this one crime that has been solved how many hundreds committed in Chicago since then still are unsolved?

BERNARD ALLEN FRIED.

BIRTH CONTROL.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—When seven of the eight churches which have acted upon the question of birth control within the past few months have passed resolutions approving it, it must be admitted that there are some arguments strongly in its favor.

Perhaps foremost among these is the health of the mother and child. United States government statistics have shown that an infant's chances of dying are 96 per cent greater if born within a year of a previous birth than if an interval of two years or more elapses. The reason is not hard to determine. Childbirth presents a strain upon a mother's strength and vitality that requires time and rest to restore. If she is asked to bear another at a time she should be resting, recuperating, and caring for the first, not only does her own health suffer, but the health and life of the unborn child are greatly endangered.

Which, then, is the greater sin—to delay the birth of a child until the health of the mother insures its probability of being born a healthy infant, with its rightful heritage of a chance to grow up to a life of health and happiness, or deliberately to risk bringing into the world a baby destined to die within a few short days of its birth, or to live a wretched life as a physical or mental cripple?

I am inclined to agree with the bishop of Winchester, Dr. F. T. Woods, in his statement: "To condemn the scientific method, properly used, and in circumstances morally justifiable, is an attitude which cannot be consistent at all either in reason or conscience."

GEORGE TOWNSEND.

PRODIGAL NATURE.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—At first thought the logic of the pope's argument appeals forcibly. Since nature has decreed that cohabitation shall be for the purpose of begetting and since to kill those begotten is a crime, therefore any prevention of begetting is a crime.

Logic may be said to be only as strong as its premise. "If nature desires every seed to come to fruition, then nature is very stupid and shortsighted, indeed, since but an extremely small percentage of seeds begotten by living things can ever hope to survive, due to the limitation of space and material.

Assuming that nature in its various manifestations is not stupid but very wise, it would appear that the real purpose is first to provide sufficient seed so that there may be an assurance of the survival of each race, and, secondly, so that the abundance of seed may assure the survival of the fittest.

On this basis, any man or woman who brings a living being into the world which will become a burden to itself and to others is committing a very grave crime.

CONSTANT READER.

A HUMANITARIAN MOVEMENT.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—It can safely be said that all the churches in the world cannot so much as hinder the progress made by the greatest humanitarian movement since the feudal system was thrown out.

J. GORDON MILL.

THE WATERS OF THE COLORADO.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—In your editorial of Jan. 2 under the heading "Even Californians Protest," there appeared the two following remarks regarding the quality of the water of the Colorado river: "We have been informed that the waters of the Colorado river are nearly, if not entirely, unfit for human consumption and that land irrigated with these waters may be rendered sterile within a generation."

And again, a little further down, "The fact that the river water may be expected after a time to ruin any desert land it flows over is soft pedaled."

I knew that THE TRIBUNE was intemperate in its opposition to prohibition, but I could not imagine it to be so intemperate in making such damaging statements as the above.

Every irrigation engineer knows that any irrigation system is not complete without an adequate drainage system and that where such drainage does not exist any irrigated land in our great west is liable to be ruined by the accumulation of salts near the top of the soil.

Lands have been irrigated from the waters of the Colorado river for considerably more than a generation and I defy THE TRIBUNE or any other responsible authority to prove that any lands have been damaged where adequate drainage, as mentioned above, has been provided.

The above statements quoted from your editorial are not only intemperate in tone but they are very malicious and damaging unless they can be substantiated by facts. I therefore respectfully request that another editorial be written to retract the damage, whether or not intentional, or proof be submitted or authorities cited as to the quality of the water wherein you allege "It may be expected after a time to ruin any desert land it flows over."

EDWARD J. BARRY.

MR. BOWLER'S MOTOR CAR.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—In the Dec. 17 issue of your paper an article appeared stating that President Thomas J. Bowler of the sanitary district trustees was to have an $8,000 car and a $2,400 a year chauffeur, both financed by the district. Recently Mr. Bowler denied this in the Voice of the People. I have seen no further comment on this matter. This is too serious a matter to drop thus lightly. Either Mr. Bowler or your reporter is correct, and you owe it to your readers to explain which one is.

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 6.—It is confusing to have pictures of the gangsters, their lawyers and the policemen who arrested them all together so that we can hardly tell which looks the worst or which is which. Distinguished Chicago Hostesses Set Tables for Our Annual January Linen Sale

Given a table—Field's lovely linens and Field's extensive china, glass and artware sections to draw on—and what can't be done in the way of charming table arrangement? For years Field's January Linen Sale has been the center of talks and discussions on this ever fascinating subject.

To see Field's "Aisle of Tables" on the Second Floor this month is to see what's what in 1931 table arrangement. There's a lovely all white table dramatizing the movement towards white in home furnishings by Mrs. George Halleck Taylor—and another lovely one called "Fifty Years Ago"—a study in color worthy of Matisse.

Mrs. Philip Mayer is setting a modern table, Mrs. George Woodruff a "Sky Garden Table," and Fashions of the Hour a "Children's Table." Mrs. Walter Paepcke and Miss Margaret Carr and Miss Elsa Armour, who are also setting tables, have not divulged what theirs will be as we go to press. But you can see for yourselves this morning and the entire week.

DRY LAW BILL FOR CAPITAL ON SENATE SLATE

Hot Debate on Measure Is Expected.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—When the senate reconvenes tomorrow the Howell bill to provide a prohibition law for the District of Columbia will be the unfinished business before it, according to the steering committee's program.

This means that perhaps not tomorrow but soon thereafter, the senate will be the scene of a wet and dry debate. Senator Robert J. Bulkley [Dem., O.], elected on a wet platform, has announced that he will make the Howell bill the subject of his maiden speech. And Senator Dwight W. Morrow [Rep., N. J.], also elected as a wet, may choose this measure on which to make his first speech.

More Powers Proposed.

Prohibition in the District of Columbia now is enforced by federal agents under the national laws and by the local police under general nuisance laws. The Howell bill is intended to arm local authorities with specific dry enforcement powers.

In so doing it carries a search and seizure clause which has made it the target of criticism not only from wets, but from drys as well, including Attorney General Mitchell and officials of the department of justice.

See Debate on Warrants.

The debate doubtless will center about that portion of the bill permitting issuance of warrants to search dwellings upon information of the presence of a still or that liquor "is unlawfully delivered thereto for purpose of sale, or is unlawfully removed therefrom."

It has been pointed out by the attorney general and others that so broad a provision almost certainly would lead to unwarranted invasion of private rights.

At the other end of the capitol a debate over prohibition is certain to break out over the passage of the state, justice, commerce and labor departments appropriation bills which start through the house on Tuesday.

Under the appropriations for the department of justice is one for the prohibition bureau containing an increase of $2,500,000, largely for the employment of 500 additional prohibition agents.

Sees Gain for Repeal.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—(AP)—The prediction that 24 states are now ready to vote for repeal of the 18th amendment, and that the 12 additional ones necessary for repeal would follow within two years, was made today by Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

At the same time he analyzed the delegations of 12 states in the next congress as containing 19 out of 24 senators in favor of submitting the repeal question to the people, and 113 out of 160 representatives ready to cast similar votes.

"As to the other states," Curran said, "there are several more senators and at least 42 more representatives now ready to submit this question, but there are not yet two-thirds of each house willing to do so."

CAMPAIGN FUND NOT SPENT ON ME, DAVIS TELLS SENATOR NYE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Senator Davis [Rep., Pa.] said in a statement today his "life, both private and public, was an open book containing no blots of dishonor or chicanery" and that he was not afraid of any attempt to remove him from the senate.

Davis expressed astonishment at the announcement of Chairman Nye of the senate campaign funds committee that he would offer a resolution declaring the Pennsylvanian's seat vacant because of excessive expenditures.

"Surely no evidence was uncovered at the hearings by his committee on the primary and election in Pennsylvania to even hint of scandal or the exorbitant expenditure of funds in my behalf," Davis says.

Of Nye's charge that approximately $1,200,000 was spent for the Davis ticket the former labor secretary said the hearings revealed that many of the contributions to the Republican campaign chest were "specifically earmarked: 'Not to be used for Davis.'"

Checks given by Secretary Mellon, R. B. Mellon, and W. L. Mellon, Davis said, carried the "terse but emphatic order that they were for Mr. Brown exclusively."

Brown was defeated candidate for governor.

A word to

Lucky Folks

Never had Acute Indigestion? Surely you ARE lucky. Lucky because you've escaped it so far. Lucky because now you'll know exactly what to do when it does strike. It's quite simple. Have Bell-ans in the medicine cabinet. Then when emergency comes: Six Bell-ans, Hot water, Sure Relief! Harmless, prompt Relief for young and old since 1897.

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION

FOUR CONTESTS MAY DETERMINE HOUSE CONTROL

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Control of the house in the next congress man hinge upon the outcome of four election contests. They have been instituted by two incumbents and two outsiders who lost out in the November elections by small margins.

The contests are considered important on account of the bare majority of one the Republicans hold for the session beginning next December. A reversal might determine whether the Republicans or Democrats would organize the house.

One of the contests centers around the seat of Albert H. Vestal, the Republican whip.

Claud C. Ball, the Democratic candidate, was given 44,194 votes and Vestal 44,203.

The lone Democrat not re-elected was Stanley H. Kunz of the Eighth Illinois district, who is contesting the election of Peter C. Granata, Republican. Kunz charged in his petition that gangsters were largely responsible for his defeat.

Charles O'Connor, of the first Oklahoma district, who came in with the Hoover landslide of 1928, is contesting the election of his opponent, William F. Disney.

Everett Kent, a Democrat, who received 27,621 votes, has filed against Representative William R. Coyle, a Pennsylvania Republican.

FRANCE IN THROES OF COLD; 2 DIE; SKATE ON RIVERS

PARIS, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The coldest weather of the winter today held entire France in its grip. Two deaths occurred. An aged woman died at Troyes and an aged man died in the street at Moulins. For the first time in many years Frenchmen are skating on rivers in Burgundy in the vicinity of Chalon-sur-Saone. Even southern France is in the throes of freezing temperatures.

How Weak Nervous Women Grow Stronger.

Feel Better, Look Younger and Have Steadier Nerves.

If you only knew—you rundown, enemic women—who are dragging yourself around on your "nerve"—what a wonderful increase in strength and health Tanlac will give you, you wouldn't hesitate a moment about going to your druggist and getting a big bottle of this splendid medicine.

Mrs. Dora Robillard, of Bellingham, Mass., R. F. D. 1, Box 17, says: "I had no digestion nor appetite. Sick headaches laid me up in bed three days at a time. I couldn't even do light housework. Now I do all our cooking and washing in addition to the other work.

Tanlac is as free from harmful drugs as the water you drink—only Nature's own medicinal tonic herbs. Druggists know this and for the past 10 years have recommended it to men and women who need a quick "pick up" that will put them on their feet and give them a new interest in life.

So confident are the makers of Tanlac that if you are not helped by it, you get your money back on request.

Our Great February Furniture Sale!

HERE ARE THE REASONS WHY WE OPEN THIS SALE ON THE 12TH DAY OF JANUARY

There is hardly a reader of this paper but who knows that the buying public have been holding off awaiting the proper time to buy. Every person reading this advertisement should fully realize now is the opportune time. We believe it is an accommodation to our customers and readers to open this sale at the earliest possible moment so that you may have this furniture delivered to your home now instead of waiting for the month of February to come. This distributes our deliveries over a period of six weeks instead of four. It enables us to give you better service. It is for these reasons that we have announced the opening of this sale today. A close inspection of the merchandise, a comparison of the prices, will, we believe, prove to you beyond a doubt that you can buy good dependable furniture in the Davis Furniture Department at a lower price than you have seen for many years. Not in ten years has furniture been so low in price. We believe you will respond to our offerings with great enthusiasm. We invite you to purchase on our liberal Monthly Time Payment Plan.

TANK TEST MAY END DISPUTE OF ARMY BRANCHES

Unable to Agree on the Christie Type.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—The long standing difference between the ordnance and infantry branches of the war department over the type of fighting tank to be purchased is slated for settlement this summer, when a mixed board of officers will conduct tests of a new civilian developed tank and an army developed machine. The civilian machine is the product of Walter Christie, veteran engineer and inventor.

House hearings disclose that for two years infantry and ordnance officers have been at odds over the merits of tanks developed by Christie. Disagreement also arose over the value of the ordnance developed light eight ton tank. The infantry has waxed enthusiastic over the Christie tank while condemning the ordnance produced machine. The ordnance, on the other hand, has defended its product.

Army Plans Retarded.

Modernization plans have been retarded by the dispute. On a recent occasion an appropriation of $250,000 for light tanks went virtually unexpended because the army could not agree. Instead of six tanks, only one tank was purchased.

Maj. Gen. Stephen O. Fuqua, chief of infantry, and Col. Hiram M. Cooper, commandant of the tank school, have taken a leading rôle in the fight for the Christie machine. Maj. Gen. C. C. Williams, former chief of ordnance, now retired, and Maj. Gen. Samuel Hof, the present chief, have been active in preventing the purchase of any large number of Christie tanks prior to extensive tests.

Officers favoring the Christie tank assert that it can travel faster across country than the ordnance light tank and has the added advantage of acting as its own track carrier. Its major advantage, they testify, is that it provides the gunner with a smooth riding gun platform from which hits could be registered. They assert the ordnance tank is so rigid it is impossible for the gunner to shoot accurately when the tank develops speed.

Asks Further Test.

Maj. Gen. Hof, in admitting that the infantry differed with his view regarding the value of the Christie tank, told a committee that he thought the Christie tank should be tested out further.

The new Christie, with the latest ordnance developed machines, will be tested this spring and summer. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, army chief of staff, will play a hand in determining which branch is right about the Christie. He is expected to ask congress next year for funds to purchase additional tanks if a satisfactory machine is found.

While the war department is testing the Christie the Christie manufacturers have shipped two chasses of their tank to soviet Russia without objection from the department.

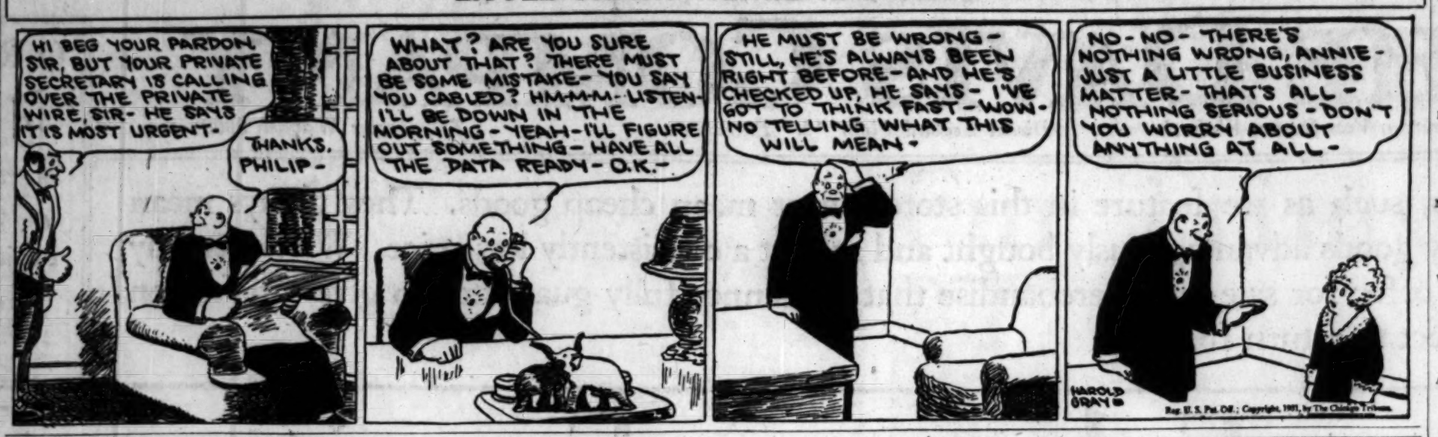
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Bad News



NEW COPYRIGHT LEGISLATION DUE FOR OPPOSITION

Radio Broadcasters Much Upset.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—The house of representatives is scheduled tomorrow to take up the Vestal couyright bill, the first attempt since 1909 to rewrite and modernize the copyright laws of the United States.

Objection to the bill and debate on its passage is expected.

Radio broadcasting interests are particularly interested in seeing the bill defeated or amended. It is their contention that the bill will involve broadcasters in suits for infringement because of its automatic copyright provision.

Ownership Made Automatic.

By automatic copyright, title is conferred upon the author upon the creation of his work. The ownership of a copyright depends on no formality of registration. Opponents of the bill contend that this makes it difficult, if not often impossible, for an agency which desires to purchase the right of reproduction to locate the actual owner of the copyright title.

Supporters of the bill claim on the other hand that innocent infringers are protected to a greater extent than they now are. Under the Vestal bill, all that a plaintiff who has not registered his copyright can recover is the value of the material infringed, but not less than $50 nor more than $2,500.

Newspapers, it is claimed, are protected against injunction which would stop their daily publication and no restraining order is permitted against a newspaper or periodical publication for reproducing a copyrighted photograph.

Limits Damages Recoverable.

Unlike the present law, authors seeking to collect the profits from an unauthorized reproduction of their work—as the illegal use of a story by a motion picture company—are limited in the damages they can collect. Other provisions of the bill make it possible for the United States to enter the International Copyright union, of which more than 40 nations are now members, and they permit divisible copyright ownership, as contrasted with the present law which requires that the legal title rest in but one person.

The Vestal bill also extends the term of copyright from the present one of 28 years and 28 years renewal to the life of the author and for fifty years after his death. It is the intention of the bill to provide in this manner for authors whose most successful efforts are produced in youth, and who find their copyright expiring in their old age, to enjoy the benefits of their creations at a time when they most need such an income.

REQUIEM MASS SUNG HERE FOR MARSHAL JOFFRE

Holy Name cathedral took on a military aspect yesterday at the solemn requiem high mass celebrated at 11 o'clock in honor of the late Marshal Joffre. Delegations of French world war veterans who served under the marshal, with their blue uniforms and the flags of their regiments, were in attendance, as were other groups in the khaki uniforms of the American Legion posts, with French and American flags.

Count Charles de Ferry de Fontnouvelle, French consul; Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the Sixth corps army area; Rear Admiral W. S. Crosley, commandant at Great Lakes, and members of the consular corps were among those present.

The mass was sung by the Rev. Edwin J. Hoover. The sermon, touching on the life and achievements of Marshal Joffre, was given by the Very Rev. Victor Primeau, pastor of Our Lady of Grace church, who was secretary of the French section of the International Eucharistic congress in Chicago a few years ago. Two choirs, directed by the Rev. Philip F. Mahoney, sang Gounod's "Messe Solenelle" and parts of Mozart's XII. mass. The cathedral was crowded to the doors for the service.

DR. C. A. BROOKE, FORMER CHICAGO PASTOR, IS DEAD

Dr. Charles Alvin Brooke, executive secretary of the Northern Baptist convention and former pastor of the Englewood Baptist church in Chicago, died yesterday at his home, Tarrytown, N. Y., after an illness of several months. He was 60 years old and had been in the ministry for 34 years.

Born in Watkins, N. Y., he was educated at Rochester university, Newton Theological seminary and Bucknell university, where he won his doctorship of divinity. He was ordained at Waterloo, N. Y., and held his first pastorate there.

Dr. Brooke came to Englewood Baptist church in 1924, making his home at 6532 Harvard avenue. He resigned his pastorate last year to accept the secretaryship, maintaining offices since in New York City. He specialized in immigration studies and was the author of several works.

EASIEST WAY TO BREAK UP A COLD

Millions Say of This Proved Way

Works Fast—Makes You Feel Like a New Person Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets every three hours. Drink lots of water between times—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

CLERIC SUCCEEDS SOLDIER AS RIOT PRISON ADVISER

Colorado to Try New Convict Plan.

Canon City, Colo., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Wholesale blood spilling and reverberations of internal dissension in management have brought the Rt. Rev. Irving Peake Johnson to the Colorado state penitentiary as a reorganizer in administrative affairs.

Mr. Johnson, bishop of the Colorado diocese of the Episcopal church, has come to Canon City at the instance of Gov. William H. Adams in an effort to quiet the prison's troubled waters. He is a member of the board of corrections.

"I do not particularly want the job," Bishop Johnson said today. "Nobody does. But I feel that the place is of primary importance, and I most sincerely want to aid the unfortunates."

In October, 1929, thirteen lives were sacrificed to the whim of a desperado, who thought he could run a gamut of rifle shots and win his freedom. Rifles sounded, flames raced through the administration building and dining hall, convicts cringed before the smoking pistols of Danny Daniels, and when the carnage had passed the dead and dying lay huddled in cells.

Daniels, the desperado who dared all and lost all, himself lay dead by his own hand.

A military man with virtually dictatorial powers, Col. Patrick J. Hamrock came on the scene to bring discipline to the walled city. But peace was a stranger, for administrative groups were staging a tu-o'-war on matters of policy.

Three resignations from the old board left Gov. Adams free to appoint a group directly responsible to him. He has filled two of the places. The appointee now working with Bishop Johnson is Thomas R. Duke, Pueblo merchant.

Efforts are being made to find employment for the idle convicts. The military man has been replaced by the man of peace.

POLICE BATTLE BANDITS; 1 SHOT, OTHER GIVES UP

Two Negro robbers were under arrest yesterday, one of them wounded, as the result of an attempted holdup of three men in Hyde Park late Saturday which ended in a pistol fight with a detective bureau squad.

The robbers were holding up James H. Freudenthal, Louis Weinberg Jr., and Robert Heinsiner in their automobile, parked in front of 5514 Blackstone avenue, when the bureau squad drove by and saw the holdup. One of the robbers, Jerome Baptiste, surrendered and was found to be carrying a .45 caliber pistol. His companion, Emerson Bolton, fled, firing at the policemen as he ran. They returned the fire and shot Bolton in the shoulder and arm, but he escaped. He was arrested later when he applied to a doctor for medical treatment.

Both Negroes had recently been released from the Michigan state prison at Jackson.

Revolutionary Soldier's Son Dies in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Philadelphia's "only true son of the American revolution" died today in his 90th year. He was John Dennis Lewis, who had the distinction of having for a father a man who had fought under Washington. Fellow members of the Philadelphia chapter, Sons of the American Revolution, said today only three other men in the nation could claim similar honor. Lewis was born in Virginia in 1841.

More and more the grown-ups are drinking "Selected" Milk with the children

Parents who encourage children to consume more milk, by drinking a glass with them at the table . . . do themselves a good turn as well as the children.

For, while milk is a necessity for children . . . required for building sound teeth, sturdy bones, firm muscles . . . it is equally beneficial to grownups, building up resistance, repairing waste, prolonging youthful looks and vigor.

Milk drinkers of all ages heartily enjoy drinking "Selected" Milk, specially produced for drinking. Unusual safeguards on the farm, at the bottling plant, in delivery, protect its famous "Sweet Natural Taste."

We pay a liberal premium to produce "Selected" on this higher plane, and put extra enjoyment into every glass, yet it costs you only 16 cents a quart.

Arrange for a trial of "Selected." SPEAK to your milkman, PHONE FRAnklin 3110, or MAIL the coupon.

SYNOPSIS.

Richard Chandos and his wife, Leonie, former grand duchess of Riechtenburg, are killed at their estate near Littal, in Austria, by George Hanbury, companion of Chandos in many adventures. Marya Salm, countess of Dresden, an expected guest, wires that she does not come.

Prince Paul, ruler of Riechtenburg, had hoped to marry Leonie and swore revenge. Fearing for Marya's safety, because of her friendship for Leonie, Chandos and Hanbury, with their servants Bell and Rowley, go secretly to Vigil, capital city of Riechtenburg, where Marya resides. A peasant, named Ramon, whom they befriend, leads them through a secret passage.

Marya tells them that she sent no message. Realizing the telegram was a ruse to get them to Vigil, they are preparing to flee with Marya, when the prince appears. They escape and reach the border, but find it so closely guarded that crossing is impossible. A disguise is sought and he hides. Marya and Carol, her trusted servant, hide in a nearby village, while Chandos and Rowley join a traveling circus. Marya sends Carol to take word to Bariche across the border. In a car which they recognize as Grieg's, the chief of police, arrived at the inn in Bariche they receive a message from Marya stating that she is to be pardoned, but she must remain in Riechtenburg and not communicate with them.

Knowing that Marya, endeavoring to save them, has made some impossible arrangement with Grieg, they return to the border. Hanbury and Rowley pass, but Chandos is captured. Grieg, trying to the inspector that Grieg has betrayed his trust. Grieg arrives and leaves with the prisoner for Vigil. Hanbury and Rowley, knowing their friend's plight, hold up and capture the chief's car. They drive to the estate of Baron Sabre, where they find Marya. Grieg they left, tied to a post along the roadside.

Hanbury, who is in love with Marya, is stunned when she tells them that she was married that morning to Grieg—her price for their freedom. Chandos sets out to find Grieg and do away with him—but Grieg has escaped. Chandos returns to Baron Sabre's home and overhears the prince, who has arrived, arguing with Grieg. Grieg is forgiven when he tells the prince he has a trap set to catch his prey that evening at the secret border station, as well as Leonie, who is to meet them there. Lelia, a young peasant girl, leads Chandos to a mill where his friends are hiding. Marya has disappeared and Chandos sends Hanbury and Rowley to follow her and he leaves for the border pass. Lelia, who has fallen in love with Chandos, at the risk of her life finds him and tells him that Leonie has passed the country an hour before. Grieg traps them and fires at Chandos, but Lelia throws herself in front of him and receives the bullet. Chandos traps Grieg at the brink of a gorge and forces him to fall to his death below. Chandos then surrenders to the police and in their company sets out to return the body of Lelia to her home. En route he is seen by the local coroner, who demands the girl's body for inquest. He hears Chandos' story and promises to see that he is brought back the next day to testify. While Chandos is being tried at Vigil before a special court, the coroner comes with witnesses for Chandos and the grand duchess. He is told that the grand duchess has returned to Littal. Chandos is sent back to his cell.

INSTALLMENT XLIII.

AN EMPTY VICTORY.

I went, if not triumphant, yet full of hope.

The coroner and his peasants were hearts of oak. And despite his adversary's effort, the prince had played into my hands. I had no doubt whatever that had he allowed them to speak, they would have ordered my removal when I had heard what I had. But now it was too late. The younger judge's desperate interruption had been made because of those present who did not know the truth. Leonie was in Vigil and under arrest.

I awaited the service of my summons with a hammering heart.

After a quarter of an hour I was brought to some waiting room.

There stood a bent old peasant, clad in his fine, white linen, with a broad sash of black and silver from shoulder to waist.

"Are you Richard Chandos, my lord?"

"I am, my friend."

"Then I am to summon you to the coroner's court at Vardar tomorrow at 9 o'clock." He touched my shoulder with the paper he held in his hand. Then he gave it to me with a bow. "There, my lord. You are served."

"And her highness?" said I.

"My lord, I cannot find her. She is not in the Lessing Strasse, and I am assured that she left the country at noon."

"It is untrue," said I. "She is here."

"Come," said the superintendent. "You gave me your word that when you had served the prisoner you would go your ways."

"Ay, so I did," said the peasant. "God save you, my lord."

With that he was gone, and I was led back to my cell.

. . . . . .

My elation was gone and I was disquieted.

It now seemed certain that I was to go Vardar and there in open court be given every chance of telling my tale. What this blunt recital would do for Prince Paul could not be measured. I was "out for blood"; it would not be my fault if it did not cost him his throne. I was determined to omit nothing. His colloquy with Grieg in the greenwood should be rendered, word for word. But, though I should ruin her cousin, this would not help my wife. To serve his summons upon me, the coroner's office had been ready to sit all night. No lies could discomfort him—because he knew I was there. But Leonie's case was different. No one at Vardar had seen her; and the fact had nothing to go on but my bare word. And when the police conducted this and then went further than I, his importunity had faltered, and died away.

His brows drew into a frown.

I might swear that she was in Riechtenberg, but when they asked me to say where was my proof? I had not so much as seen her; I had only known she had come in. And the police confirmed this hearsay. "He is right," they said. "Quite right. Her highness did enter the country, and now she is gone." My case would have been far stronger if they had denied that Leonie had ever come in. I might then have aroused suspicion instead of pity for a man that is beating the air.

"I am assured that she left the country at noon."

I could not prove that she had not. And Littal lay distant one hundred and ninety miles.

Far into the night I sat thinking—flogging my brain for some way out of the pass. But I could discover no means to help my darling.

. . . . . .

The dawn was up when I was awakened by the approaching footfalls of men in haste.

As I got to my feet, the door of my cell was opened. Then the jailer stood back, and a fine, familiar figure passed into the small stone room.

"Sully!"

The lord president of the council took my hand.

"To Bell," he said, "the glory. Her highness sent him for me. He has driven nine hundred miles in thirty-six hours."

And her highness?" said I.

"My lord, I cannot find her. She is not in the Lessing Strasse, and I am assured that she left the country at noon."

"It is untrue," said I. "She is here."

"Come," said the superintendent. "You gave me your word that when you had served the prisoner you would go your ways."

"Ay, so I did," said the peasant. "God save you, my lord."

Sister of Napoleon Spent Hours, Daily, Painting the Lily

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

One learns in the life of Pauline Bonaparte, favorite sister of Napoleon, by W. N. C. Carlton [Harper & Brothers], that she, too, was a milk bath addict. At home and abroad she had to have her daily plunge in twenty liters of milk and heated water.

On one occasion she went to visit an in-law. Advance word reached him about the bath requirements. Municipal guards were despatched to scour the country for the milk. Immediately on the great beauty's arrival, she called for her bath and, told it was ready, asked about her shower afterwards. Learning that there was no apparatus for a shower bath the spoiled one commanded: "Then just make a hole in the ceiling, right over where you have placed the bathtub."

Maintaining a beauty reputation in Pauline's day was a more difficult job than in ours. We learn from our authority that the preoccupation of Pauline's daytime hours was the cult of her beauty. To this her devotion was as rigorous and absorbing as that of an artist intent on creating a masterpiece. Nature gave her a head-on start on the masterpiece, from all records and reports. She represented to perfection, we are told, the type of classic beauty seen in Greek statues. No other woman would have dared compete with her.

Part of her daily preoccupation: At ten in the morning a maid drew the curtains of the spacious, fragrant bedroom, letting in the sunshine that played upon the bronze inlay work of the bed, the crystal scent bottles, the silver mounted combs and brushes on the dressing table.

An indolent witch always, the beautiful though wicked Pauline insisted upon being carried to and from her bath, a Negro servant performing the delicate service. There, immersed in the soothing fluid Pauline permitted a few favorite admirers to be present, knowing "that her goddesslike bust and shoulders could never be seen to greater advantage."

Thence to her boudoir where a maid arranged the black locks and Pauline put the right tint to olive cheeks, rouged her soft lips and darkened eyebrows and lashes with an oriental preparation. Almond paste, cucumber salve and lait du rose each performed its destined office, and attar of roses was then sprayed over the exquisite body.

After the bath and beautifying came an army of dressmakers, shoemakers, glovemakers, embroiderers, and perfumers. . . . The crowning touch to a lifetime devotion to the cult of beauty shows Pauline, knowing death near, calling for a mirror and dying with it tightly gripped in her fingers.

Young Love Is Unrequited and "Dorothy" Mourns

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Yes, it's tough, all right, caring for some one who cares nothing about you, as Dorothy says. And furthermore, as she says, who is to say that you shouldn't keep on caring and trying your level best to win the only one in the world you want?

Dorothy admits to a nine pound loss due to her caring and the man's disregard of her feelings. She admits to being so delighted to hear from him after a four months' silence on his part that when he did call she had no reservations about showing her delight, to the complete disgust of her family.

Other boys there are in her life—two, in particular, who would be only too glad to fill up her lonely evenings for her, but only the one matters. Deprived of him, the evenings are easier borne alone than with a substitute. Besides, she wouldn't dare go anywhere with the other boys for fear of running into the Adored One with another girl, which would be too much for her jealous nature to bear.

And there you have a young tragedy which few older persons have escaped at one time or another in their lives. Heartsick and weary over a love that hath no blessings to return. Well, luckily the heart can stand a lot of gnawing and still rise to claim a new and possibly more vigorous heartbeat. A great old organ, that, for resuscitatin'. Any one with a pain pressing thereupon may rely on the fact that if she [or he] will just give it time, it will come around, all right.

But about going after the object that eludes with intent. Is the chase worthy of the effort or not? Maybe it is. If one has the heart to stand discouragement, perhaps fate will take pity, eventually. But what fun is there in so one-sided a conquest? Still, if one will be content with nothing less than the idol enshrined where idols are enshrined—well, why not make a fight? Nothing worse than more bruises can be expected, and there is that one chance in the hundred that victory might be gained.

Early Enthronement of the Adored Baby Only Causes Grief

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

You know how it is with measles—some children take them hard and some take them easy. Sometimes I think it's the same way with parenthood—some take it hard and some take it easy. Neither way is good—for either the parents or the children.

If you take it easy—there's likely to be neglect somewhere along the line. If you take it hard, you get tense and overanxious.

This usually means that your child is made the focal point of your thoughts—and so the focal point of your eyes, and your conversation, and your attention in general.

It usually means that what she eats and whether she eats, when she sleeps or how long she sleeps, whether she fusses or whether she doesn't, and what she says and how she says it—is all-important in your life.

In short, it usually means that whatever she does do or doesn't do has a visible effect on you. She early gets a deep rooted impression that everything she does or doesn't do matters greatly to you. She senses that she is all-important in your scene.

Child nature likes this result—as does all human nature. To be made all-important, absorbingly important, to some one person or to several people—this is what is called, in the technical language of the psychologist—enthronement.

Many a baby and young child is so adored, so much the hub of his parents universe, that he feels himself enthroned during those early years. Then, when the time comes that his parents realize a mistake somewhere along the line and try to fit their child more normally to life, he raises every objection within his power, as the three year old did in Sunday's letter—and as many two and three year olds do. He feels himself being dethroned.

Tomorrow we'll see what cures we can find for enthronement.

Acidine Ends Acidity and Gas Torture Quick

"Terrible attacks of acidity were so weakening that they began to get on my nerves," says Charles Lewinski of Rochester, Pa. "Then I tried ACIDINE. I cannot praise it enough. I feel relieved and better in every way. I wish everyone who is suffering acidity would try ACIDINE."

Almost everyone who takes ACIDINE raves about it. More than two million packages have been sold. It's absolutely amazing the way this new prescription succeeds when other fine remedies fail.

ACIDINE is the only known remedy which contains Japtase, that in laboratory tests digests 800 times its weight of certain heavy, starchy foods which cause trouble. It neutralizes harmful acids, soothes irritated stomach linings, stops gassy headaches, sleeplessness and nervousness. No other known remedy contains this combination to end acid stomach. ACIDINE also fortifies you against colds by reducing acidity.

Get ACIDINE today at Walgreen's. Watch how quick acid indigestion, burning stomach, belching, pain, heartburn, dizziness, fullness, short breath vanish. Eat, drink all you want. Maker refunds money if not delighted.

John Erskine to Talk Here About Schools

BY THALIA

PARENTS of children attending the Chicago Latin school have received cards inviting them to attend a parents-teachers meeting on Monday evening, Jan. 26, at 8:15 o'clock in the gymnasium of the new school on Dearborn parkway. Prof. John Erskine of Columbia university, author of "The Private Life of Helen of Troy," etc., is to speak on "Bridging the Gap Between School and College" and a general discussion will follow.

The Latin school head master, George Burton Northrop, and the trustees have planned the affair with great care because it's to be the first parents-teachers' meeting ever held in the school's 40 years of existence and they're very anxious that it be a success.

All of which brings to mind the undeniable fact that parents are, more than ever before, paying attention to the kind of education that their youngsters are receiving.

Over luncheon and bridge tables, I hear mothers comparing notes about the activities, in and out of school, of their children. They are more concerned, it seems, with the general training the young ones are getting than with the amount of three R's they're absorbing, and they're taking more seriously their rôles as parents. And the fathers, also, are showing more interest in such matters as the choice of schools and the character of teachers for their sons.

Progress in educational methods is keeping pace with this tendency, and today's fashionable children are getting more thoughtful and individual attention than they ever have.

It is also true that parents of children under school age are trying to be more understanding and intelligent about the rearing of the young. Ask any pair of young parents you know, and see if they aren't trying to be open minded and careful about the "powers" that the babies present, instead of merely bringing them up with the old standby maxims.

Robert F. Carr Runs Over to Rome for Visit.

Do you happen to have heard . . . that Robert F. Carr left yesterday to call on the Augustus on Wednesday to pay a call on his schoolgirl daughter, Florence, at Miss Risser's in Rome? . . . that Kathleen Whitcomb had appendicitis and an operation in New York City just at the end of the "Garrick Gayeties" run, had to come home, is out again, pretty near "recouped," and with no definite dramatic plans to give out? . . . that Mrs. Nathan Smith Davis and her son, Deering Davis, have taken an apartment at 40 Berry avenue for the winter? . . . that the John J. Mitchells, having Christmased it at their Santa Barbara estate, will be back about the 20th of this month?

Also . . . that the Floyd Evanses and Elizabeth Moore O'Connor have gone to Hot Springs for a week? . . . that Countess Bolognesi's mother, Mrs. John G. Garibaldi of 1236 Astor street, has gone to Florida? . . . that Mrs. Archibald Freer has one of those "silent" telephones, and that its number is only known to those to whom she gives it, central not being allowed to report it? . . . that Adlai and Ellen Stevenson's baby is unusually large for its age? . . . that the Kenwood Social Service club is having its annual meeting today at Mrs. Kenneth MacLellan's house at 4847 Woodlawn avenue? . . . that Mr. and Mrs. George H. Reynolds departed Saturday morning for their annual stay in Pasadena Ct. and Mrs. Arthur Dean Bevans are already out there—at the Huntington?

The Tavern's upper rooms are getting more and more popular for rather large dinner and dancing parties. The young Lloyd Laflins have reserved them for a dinner and dance for about 50 before the assembly on Friday night, and there are several bridge affairs for about the same number scheduled for this month.

A Dance That Lingers in Memory as It Did on Floor.

Twelfth Night ball leftovers [no wonder—almost half the people at the party still were going strong at 5 o'clock this morning] . . . everybody agreeing that it was the happiest and most rollicking Twelfth Night party there's been in years . . . the tall wag in the night shirt, red bedsocks, and old-fashioned nightcap going around, with his candle, peering into people's faces and telling them drolly it was time to go home . . . the gentleman who successfully demonstrated that it is possible to roll up as well as down stairs . . . those who have been going to Twelfth Night balls long enough remembering that the old bar was where this year's punch bowl stood, and that ladies didn't go into the bar then . . . Mrs. Blair introducing Helen Rend [dressed in gay nineties attire] as her "bosom friend."

Helen Lang Says It's The Best Way To Stay Young Looking

What shall I do, my hair is getting gray? I recommend only one preparation and I've tried them all. It's an improved formula made from that wonderful old recipe of sage tea and sulphur. It is easy to use. Gray disappears overnight. And after two or three applications hair is restored to the exact shade you want, so evenly, so naturally, nobody'll ever know. HER ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

MISS DOROTHY DOUGLASS.
[Underwood & Underwood Photo.]

Announcement was made recently of the engagement of Miss Dorothy Douglass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Douglass of Barrington, to Harry A. S. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Clark, also of Barrington. Miss Douglass attended Northwestern university for two years and later studied landscape gardening at the School of Horticulture at Ambler, Pa.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Amos Tuck French Jr. are sailing Wednesday on the Augustus to pass several months in Italy and the south of France.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart G. Gibboney are at the Gladstone for the remainder of the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. George Trotter Van Antwerp have returned from their wedding trip in Italy and are visiting Capt. and Mrs. F. Taylor Evans before going to their home in Boston. Mrs. Van Antwerp is the former Miss Gwendolen Scarritt.

Mr. and Mrs. James T. Terry will sail Wednesday on the Augustus for a short trip in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Payne Moats and Miss Alice Leone Moats have returned to New York after passing the holidays in South Carolina.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover have had as their week-end guests Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hanna of Cleveland.

Mrs. Hoover was given a luncheon yesterday by Mrs. George Akerson, wife of the retiring secretary to the President. Mrs. Hoover was accompanied by her house guest, Mrs. Stark McMullin.

Miss Gertrude Lamont, daughter of the secretary of commerce and Mrs. Robert P. Lamont of Chicago is spending a week in New York, having gone yesterday to visit her sister, Mrs. Chauncey Belknap.

Mrs. Joseph Leiter received the guests last night at the second one of the meetings this year of the dancing class at the Montgomery Country club. Many dinner parties preceded the ball.

Scotch Kilts Inspire This Paris Beach Suit

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—"My heart is in the Highlands" is certainly the favorite sporting air of the Paris couturiers, just now. What with everybody using authentic Scotch plaids for skirts, scarfs, handkerchiefs and what not; with plaid knitted sweaters and bathing suits lending color to smart southern beaches, you'd think you were in Bonny Scotland if it weren't for the palm trees!

Scotch kilts have inspired Jean Patou to a new kind of beach costume that is a welcome change from all the flappy pajamas and beach frocks we've been wearing for the last season or two. One of these costumes is sketched above. Of course, the kilt is only a distant cousin to its Highland relative. It's the same length, but box plaited instead of side plaited, and these plaits are mounted on a fitted hip yoke, with their tops rounded front and back, while the four side ones are flat. A buttoned tab trims the back.

Kilts and short cutaway jacket are of silk jersey in the new Roman red —a bright red, midway between cerise and lacquer, that is smart for afternoon frocks as well as sports clothes. The tuck in jersey blouse is of white silk. Its generous sunburn décolleté is outlined by a narrow yoke of the silk with a reversed scalloped edge, that runs down in a front panel to meet the front panel of the kilt at the natural waist. You have your initials embroidered large on this panel in Roman red silk.

Patou makes the hand knit beret of white silk and red silk to match. The beach clogs are of Roman red lacquer.

Martenots Display Musical Something New Under the Sun

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Maurice Martenot and his sister, Ginette, came to the Studebaker yesterday afternoon to demonstrate a new device that they call "The Martenot Instrument of Musical Waves." This, they say, is a matter of harnessing the unexpected tone that sometimes comes out of radio, but to give an accurate layman's discussion will be impossible in a limited space.

What could be seen was something like a radio at the back of the stage and a little cabinet that looked as though it had started out in life to become an old fashioned spinet nearer the front. I was told that early in the recital M. Martenot did some demonstrating away from either, waving his hands in the air as Theremin did with his somewhat similar device. When I got to the hall he was seated at the cabinet playing some pleasant tunes to the piano accompaniment of his sister.

A bit later he demonstrated what differences of tone quality could be evolved. There were marked variations, none of them getting quite to the instrument they imitated. The flute sounded much like an ocarina, the violin like the approximation of its tone you generally get over the radio. This is said descriptively, not in carping mood, for at any rate the tones were legitimate.

Curiously, the best reproductions were of wire strings, in which he got both the pinging impact and the afterlone of a harpsichord and a steel stringed guitar. The most interesting next to these was something that sounded like a coarse reed stop on an organ, followed at once by its echo, that sounded miles away and was of delightful quality. Staccatos are easy on this machine and tones may be disjoined without swooping from one to the next.

Elsewhere yesterday afternoon there were two string quartets, the London at Orchestra hall, loveliest of all in their radiant, golden tone and their finesse, playing a program by Beethoven, McEwen, and Brahms; and the Marianne Kneisel at the Playhouse, a competent organization, if quite a bit behind the tone of their brethren from London, with Haydn Rieti, and Schubert on their program.

Isa Kremer was at the Blackstone theater, a vivid, glowing recreator of folk songs of all nations and in all tongues, maintaining the same sort of witchery that she wove when she first started coming here several years ago. She was assisted by Isiah Seligman, an expert accompanist and not quite so expert as a soloist.

Miriam Klein, soprano, gave a song recital at the Civic theater, displaying a clear, brilliant voice and a fair idea of how to use it.

DR. C. E. M'ALLISTER ACCEPTS EVANSTON CHURCH PULPIT OFFER

The Rev. Dr. Charles E. McAllister, rector of St. Michael's and All Angels' Episcopal church, Baltimore, has accepted the call to become rector of St. Luke's church, Evanston, to succeed the Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart, bishop of Chicago. This was announced yesterday by T. T. Lyman, warden of St. Luke's church.

Dr. McAllister was in Chicago a week ago to visit the Evanston church prior to his decision. He announced his resignation of his Baltimore church yesterday morning, according to dispatches from that city. The vestry of St. Michael's and All Angels' church adopted resolutions of regret.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

A curved hipband that meets the belt at the center front normal waistline, does much toward slenderizing the hipline of this chic dress. The attached circular skirt extends into a softly flaring hemline, the sleeves of this dress with the snappy puffs, and the shirring on the front shoulders complete this practical dress. Velvet, the sheer woolens of the heavier of the silk crêpes will be lovely for this model.

The pattern, 2845, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 39 inch material.

Food Talk.

A perfect puffy omelet is one of the most delightful ways of preparing eggs. Never start making this kind of an omelet until you are almost ready to serve it. If you let it stand it will be spoiled. Use two eggs for each person. Separate the whites and yolks. Add a few grains of baking soda to the whites and beat until they are stiff enough so that a fork stuck into them will stand upright. Keep the whites cool while you are beating them.

Mix the yolks just enough to break them up, adding a pinch of salt. Fold the yolks lightly into the whites; it doesn't matter if yolks and whites aren't perfectly blended. Have the omelet pan ready. An ordinary aluminum skillet may be used or a regular omelet pan—the kind that folds together. Use just enough melted butter to cover the entire surface of the bottom and sides of the pan. Any excess butter should be poured out. Heat the pan rather hot and pour in the egg mixture.

If the omelet type of pan is used, fold together. Place either kind of pan over brisk heat and cook rapidly without stirring or without touching the omelet whatever until it is a golden brown on the bottom. If a regular omelet pan is used, turn over quickly to slightly brown the other side. If a skillet is used, place under the broiling flame or in a hot oven to slightly cook the raw top and to brown delicately. Do not cook too long. If it is cooked too long it will become dry. A puffy omelet should be soft and fluffy and moist inside so that when the omelet is folded the fluff will ooze out of the corners in tempting yellow foam.

Keep a special pan for omelets. If you use it for anything else, even one time, you have only yourself to blame when your omelets burn afterwards.

Remember that the less an egg is cooked the easier it is to digest. So when you are cooking eggs for delicate folks never let the cooking stage go beyond congulation.

VEAL CUTLETS.

Use slices of veal from leg cut ½ inch thick. Wipe, remove bone and skin, then cut in pieces for serving. The long, irregular shaped pieces may be rolled and fastened with small wooden skewers. Sprinkle with salt and pepper; dip in flour, egg and crumbs and fry slowly until well browned in salt pork fat or butter.

Place in stew pan and for six chops pour over 2 cups meat stock. Cook slowly one hour or until cutlets are tender. Cutlets may be cooked in casserole dish in hot oven.

Veal may be cooked first in boiling water until tender, then crumbed and fried. The water in which veal was cooked may be used in making sauce, or stock may be made from bones and trimmings. Arrange on a hot platter, pour sauce around cutlets and garnish with parsley.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Had Never Danced Before.

I had always boasted to my friends about the fancy steps I could dance. Last week I went to a party where most of the crowd knew me. Everything was going along finely until some one suggested that I do a few steps for them. I was pushed in the middle of the floor and they all got around me. I argued and gave excuses but they wouldn't listen. Finally I said I couldn't dance without a partner. Imagine my embarrassment when one girl stepped forward and said she'd volunteer. And to think I had never danced before. M. H.

Office Force Benefited.

I had the good habit of polishing my shoes with an old soft cloth before leaving the office. Being a commuter, this was often hurriedly done.

One evening a sylishly dressed woman took the vacant seat beside me and while I was wiping my glasses I noticed that she was watching the operation. On looking down I noticed I was polishing my glasses with the old shoe cloth, which I had absentmindedly stuck in my pocket. The next day I purchased a shoe polishing outfit for the use of the office force. F. K.

TWO-TO-ONE LEAVENER TWO-TO-ONE LEAVENER TWO-TO-ONE LEAVENER TWO-TO-ONE LEAVENER

When you put dough in the oven . . . it should be two-thirds leavened

THE rising that takes place in the heat of the oven is not enough to assure perfect results in baking. As a matter of fact, when too much leavening is left for oven heat to take care of, cakes and hot breads are heavy and soggy.

For perfect results, there is a right amount of leavening which should take place in the mixing and another right amount which should take place in the oven. Baking experts and scientists know these amounts to be two-thirds in the mixing and one-third in the oven. Leavening in this perfect proportion is called two-to-one leavening.

You can get two-to-one leavening only with a pure, all-phosphate powder such as Rumford. And with Rumford you get the added protection of 52 laboratory tests made during its production. These tests make absolutely certain that Rumford's leavening action is always correct, always "two-to-one," and gives perfect results.

You owe it to your family to give them the benefit of Rumford's healthful content of calcium and phosphates. Get Rumford today from your grocer.

HAWKS WHIP RANGERS, 2-0; SHAMROCKS TIE

CHICAGO GOLDEN GLOVES TEAM FIGHTS N. Y. MARCH 30

BOXERS FROM 15 CITIES TRY FOR TRIBUNE SQUAD

Trials Open Here on Feb. 16.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Plans for the world's greatest amateur boxing tournament, the International Golden Gloves bouts between Chicago and New York, have been completed. The Golden Gloves team, sponsored by THE TRIBUNE and newspapers in 15 cities in five central states, will meet the New York News team in Madison Square Garden on March 30.

It will be the fourth renewal of the annual competition. The Golden Gloves tournament was inaugurated in 1927. Each year the interest has increased and the caliber of the contestants has become better. Last year, when Chicago's best defeated the New Yorkers in the Stadium, 23,000 saw the bouts. That attendance set a new record for indoor boxing, professional or amateur.

Inter-City Score Even.

The intercity score is even. The first tournament, held at the Coliseum, ended without a decision, each team winning eight bouts. The following year New York triumphed at Madison Square Garden, 11 bouts to 5, before 12,000 spectators. Chicago's victory last year was by 10 bouts to 6. The program of elimination bouts this year, with one exception, conforms to that adopted in 1930, when out of town newspapers cooperated for the first time in selecting the outstanding boxers of the central states to meet New York's best. The semi-finals and finals bouts this year will be held in the Stadium. The other elimination bouts between Chicago boys and the visiting teams will be staged at the Coliseum.

Hold Three Sectionals Here.

The three Chicago sectionals will be held at the White City arena, Ashland boulevard auditorium and the Fronton. The list of dates follows:

North side—Ashland Boulevard auditorium, Feb. 16 and 17.
South side—Fronton, Feb. 19 and 20.
South side—White City, Feb. 23 and 24.
Out of town teams and Chicago winners—Coliseum, March 2, 3, and 4.
Semi-finals and finals—Stadium, March 11.
Tentative bouts—Madison Square Garden, New York, March 30.

The fifteen newspapers which will enter teams of eight boys, each a champion of his weight division, to Chicago follow:

Aurora City Dispatch.
Elgin Bond News-Times.
Gary Post-Tribune.
Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette.
Gary Commercial-Sun.
Joliet Tribune.
Kenosha Journal-Courier.
Springfield State Register.
Waukegan Journal-Transcript.
Racine Commercial-News.
Rockford Morning Star.
Moline Times-Press.
Rock Island Argus.
Milwaukee, Wis. Times.
Wisconsin, Wis. [Chicago Tribune].
Benton Harbor, Mich., News-Palladium.

The Golden Gloves winners from the 15 cities, 120 in number, will be sent to Chicago at the expense of the newspapers. Their expenses will be paid as long as they remain in the tournament.

Stage Finals March 11.

The three sectionals in Chicago will send two boys in each weight division to the Coliseum competition. Eliminations will be continued at the Coliseum until 32 boys remain in the tournament. These will meet in the semi-final and championship rounds at the Stadium March 11.

The TRIBUNE team will be composed of the eight winners, eight runners-up and eight alternates. The team of 24 will be trained at THE TRIBUNE'S expense. The team probably will leave for New York March 26 and return April 1.

All boys 16 years of age and over are eligible for competition in the tournament. They must be registered with the Amateur Athletic union.

No Reserved Seats.

Ticket sale for all bouts at the Coliseum and the Stadium will start during the first week in February. There will be no reserved seats for the sectionals. Admission at White City, Ashland Boulevard auditorium, and Fronton will be 75 cents. Coliseum tickets will be $1, $1.50 and $2. Tickets for the Chicago finals will be $1, $2, and $3.

Out of town first time ticket orders will be accepted by mail. Letters may be addressed now to the TICKET MANAGER, GOLDEN GLOVES TOURNAMENT, CHICAGO TRIBUNE. They will be filed in the order they are received and filled when the sale begins.

Entries Start Jan. 25.

Entries of Chicago boxers will be received beginning Jan. 25. An entry blank will be printed daily for that week. Team entries may be made by the coach, trainer or captain.

Each boy entering the Chicago tournament will receive a bronze souvenir button. The 24 members of the Chicago team will be awarded miniature golden gloves. The champions' gloves will have a diamond set in the top of the glove. Second place winners will have a ruby setting, while

Hall's Good—Even Layton Admits It

The most promising three cushion player developed in years. This is the tribute Johnny Layton, world's champion, recently paid to Allen Hall, formerly of St. Louis, but now a Chicagoan. Hall, famous as an amateur three cushion player, has made great strides during the last four years and today he rates with the best in the game.

ALLEN HALL.

Hall is a protégé of the champion and it is not unlikely that he may be the player who will dethrone Layton in the championship tournament next week. Layton admits that Hall, his former pupil, now looms as the man likely to block his way to another world's three cushion championship. The tournament will be held in Bensinger's Congress street rooms from Jan. 19 to 29.

When Layton was operating a billiard room in St. Louis, Hall played there regularly. The champion was much impressed with Hall's form and soon he was giving him personal attention. At the end of one season Hall had won the amateur championship of St. Louis and the western amateur crown. In 1927 Hall made his debut as a professional when he represented Doyle's in the American Three Cushion league in New York.

Layton, Willie Hoppe, Otto Reiselt and Augie Kieckhefer were rated the stars, but before the season was three weeks old Hall had beaten Hoppe three times and at the end of six weeks he had beaten Hoppe five straight and was leading the league. From that time to the end he was the sensation of the league. He finished third, however, only a few games behind Hoppe and Layton.

Hall, a young player, finished in a tie for second with Reiselt last year, but lost the playoff. This year he already has beaten Welker Cochran, Layton and Augie Kieckhefer in special matches.

(This is the first of a series of articles on prominent billiard players who will compete in the national three cushion tournament in Chicago next week.)

INGRAM, NAVY'S GRID COACH, SAYS HE WON'T RETURN

EDGAR MILLER.

The telegram was received by Capt. Henry C. Cooke, director of athletics, who made the announcement of the telegram only. He said further comment would have to come from Ingram, now at his home at Jeffersonville, Ind.

There has been considerable unofficial talk of Edgar [Rip] Miller, line coach under Ingram for four seasons, as a possible head coach at the academy. Miller was a tackle at Notre Dame during the period of the Four Horsemen, and his work at the academy has been considered very effective. He has already agreed to return next season as a member of the coaching staff. He is now in business in Washington, D. C.

LINDSTROMS GET THEIR BASEBALL TRAINING EARLY

Freddy Jr. Takes Lesson at Age of Two.

Start 'em young is Freddy Lindstrom's motto. That's how he started, being thrown into a world series before he owned a razor, so he figures he might as well prepare 2 year old Freddy Jr. for eventualities.

Outside of this occasional back yard tutoring at the Lindstrom home here winter is just one long vacation for the Chicago bred, Chicago educated Giants' star who should have confined his baseball career to his own home town, which hasn't possessed a real outstanding third sacker since Buck Weaver fell off the hero stage in 1920.

May Go to Outfield.

Just now Lindstrom isn't sure whether he is going to continue third basing or be transformed into an outfielder, but that is only a detail not worth worrying about. If John McGraw wants to move him it is going to be all right with Freddy. He'll still be able to have his times at bat and the pay checks will appear with the same regularity. Those are the two big items in a ball player's life.

That McGraw should want to take Lindstrom away from his old post may seem a bit strange in view of the fact that the lad recently was named all star third sacker of the majors in a consensus of more than 200 baseball writers. Either McGraw or the writers must be wrong. Both have been wrong before. McGraw's real reason for thinking the move advisable is that as an outfielder Lindstrom will be less active and, accordingly, less liable to the ailments which periodically in recent seasons have hampered him as a third baseman.

Lindstrom is one of about a half dozen men in about twenty-five years of big league play who broke into a world series because there was no other choice, either on his part or that of his manager. But it was a "break" to his advantage.

Subs for Heinie Groh.

In 1924, when the Giants slipped over the finish line as National league champions, Heinie Groh, the regular third sacker, was incapacitated. Having a world series on his hands, it was necessary for McGraw to find some other kind of a third baseman. Lindstrom, at the time an 18 year old kid whose experience, except for what he learned at Loyola here, was confined to a few months with the Toledo club, was the only candidate available.

In the world series, Washington being the American league entry, it was Lindstrom's bad luck to have a batted ball take an unexpected hop over his head. It decided the title in Washington's favor, but it wasn't Lindstrom's fault that a pebble caused the ball to take a freak hop just as he was set to grab it. Anyway, he's been the Giants' third sacker since that time and will continue in the rôle unless one of the couple of rookies now billed for trials at the job come up to McGraw's expectations.

Has Wrestling Ethics or Is It Just Business? Hear Curley

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 11.—Notwithstanding the recent revival of wrestling in New York, I am afraid that the ethics of the business are no better now than they were before, because the leader of the revival, Mr. Jack Curley, is a most unethical man.

I did not realize how unethical Mr. Curley was until I heard him tell in the presence of several witnesses and with a manner of triumphant pride of his unscrupulous conduct in relation to a world championship wrestling match between Wayne [Big] Munn, the Nebraska football player who died in Texas the other day, and Stanley Zbyszko, the bald and elderly Pole. It is a very sordid story.

Mr. Curley Tells Story.

"Big Munn was a very nice, intelligent man," Mr. Curley said, "but he was not a good wrestler, and it may interest you to know how he happened to lose the heavyweight championship of the world. He was about to wrestle Stanley Zbyszko in Philadelphia in defense of the championship which he had taken from Ed Strangler Lewis, who is not the original Strangler Lewis by any means, but a party by the name of Fredericks. The original Strangler Lewis came from Baraboo, Wis., and he lost the championship a long time ago to Youssoff, the original Terrible Turk, in a bout at Tattersall's in Chicago.

"I regret to say that this was to have been a dishonest exhibition. Youssoff was supposed to lose to the original Strangler Lewis, but the referee, a man by the name of One Eyed Hogan, entered the ring with a pistol butt sticking out of each of his flask pockets and insisted that any irregularity would be severely dealt with.

Youssoff Does It Easily.

"So Youssoff threw Strangler Lewis with the most casual ease, and a bout which might have been a blot upon the name of wrestling became instead a great credit to the sport.

"Some time later Youssoff sailed for home on the French steamship Burgoyne and was lost when the ship sank after a collision. Some people said Youssoff was carried to the bottom by the weight of the gold in his money belt, but I do not believe that can have been so, because I doubt that his managers ever let him have enough money to affect his buoyancy.

"However, I was going to tell how it was that Stanley Zbyszko happened to throw Big Munn in Philadelphia and win his championship away.

Rumors Bother Mr. Curley.

"I went down to Philadelphia to see the contest and it bothered me to hear that Zbyszko did not intend to put forth his best efforts, because he was a very fine wrestler and my artistic sense rebelled at the thought of his submitting to anyone as inartistic as Wayne Munn.

"Therefore I went to Stanley and said, 'Stanley, aren't you ashamed to

Londos Clashes with Kirilenko on Mat Tonight

Jim Londos tonight headlines the five match wrestling program at the Broadway armory. The burly Greek, claimant of the world championship, will trade holds with Matros Kirilenko, described as a giant Russian. Londos will be outweighed by 25 pounds.

In bowling over his heavyweight rivals, Londos has been specializing in the airplane spin. To execute the hold Londos picks up his victim, twirls him over his head and then slams him to the mat. This procedure generally means finis for the victim.

Promoter Doc Krone still delights in telling how he was forced to turn away customers last time Londos appeared on the north side.

The other bouts, all thirty minute time limit affairs, are:

Hans Steinke, Germany, vs. Big Jack Sampson, Minnesota.
Renato Gardini, Italy, vs. Charley Fox, Cleveland.
Fred Grommier, Iowa, vs. Milo Steinborn, Germany.
Pat McKay, Kentucky, vs. Frank Brunovies, New York.

SHAMROCKS TIE BUFFALO IN TWO OVERTIMES, 2-2

Riley, New Center, Leads Chicagoans' Rally.

It took Jack Riley, former Minneapolis center making his debut in a Chicago uniform, two periods to bring the Shamrocks out of the doldrums last night, but through persistency and a piece of sparkling individual play he was able to rally them sufficiently to force the Buffalo Americans into a 2 to 2 tie that endured through two overtime periods. A crowd of 7,000 saw the game at the Stadium.

The Shamrocks trailed, 2 to 0, after the first period, during which Eddie Oatman and Jack St. John scored for Buffalo. The Chicagoans stepped out early in the third session to score twice within a minute before play had gone five minutes. Riley took a prominent part in the scoring of both goals, which were made by Gordie Brydson and Donnie MacFadyen.

Buffalo Scores First.

Buffalo was held in check early in the first period, but near the close it got its only two real scoring chances and connected with both. Fourteen minutes and twenty-seven seconds after the start Oatman broke away from a melée in midrink and skated into the Green defense, where Mulligan and Headley body checked him. Clayton came racing back, bumping Eddie out of a falling posture to a skating position, and he went through to pick up the puck in front of Timmins. It was a simple matter to score as Timmins lurched out to smother the shot.

Two minutes later Oatman came down again and went to the side, passing back to Heyd on the other side. Heyd made a short forward pass to St. John in front of the net and he likewise fired it in as Timmins came out.

Timmins barely saved the Shamrocks embarrassment in the second period when he made a spectacular stop on a long shot from Bouchard. Mulligan intercepted the shot, which was wide, but it bounded off his stick toward the corner of the net. Only Timmins' catlike recovery kept it out.

Shamrocks Tie Score.

The third period had hardly gotten under way when the persistent Shamrocks cashed in on two of their scoring chances and tied the score. Riley took the puck back of his own goal and dribbled it through the entire Buffalo team to the net. He fired at Stark and fell as he shot. The puck bounded off Stark's chest out in front of the goal, where Brydson pitched it over Riley and the fallen goalie.

Exactly one minute later, after four minutes and 27 seconds had elapsed, Riley again took it down, passed to Headley and Headley in turn pitched it over to Donnie McFadyen, who fired it in. The crowd set up a howl shortly after, when Riley fired another at Stark. The puck appeared to have gone in but bounded back. It was ruled no goal.

The fierceness of the third period was missing when the teams came back for the first overtime period.

Al Espinosa, Loos Lead in $10,000 Golf

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Two veteran golf campaigners, with swings alike, traveled different roads today to finish the second round of the Los Angeles $10,000 open in a tie for first place. Thin faced Eddie Loos and plump Al Espinosa, Chicago pros, had 36 hole totals of 139.

AL ESPINOSA.

Loos toured the Wilshire Country club course in par 70 and, with his 69 of yesterday, held the lead for a couple of hours, until Espinosa, frequently in trouble but sensational in his recoveries, turned in a 67. As Espinosa had a 72 in the first round, a deadlock resulted.

Leo Diegel of Agua Caliente for the second time in two days matched par, and his 140 total established him in third place, a stroke ahead of Frank Walsh, Chicago, who added a 69 to his 72 of Saturday. Wiffy Cox, Brooklyn, and his New Jersey neighbor, Craig Wood, followed in a tie with a two day score of 143.

A group of stars with 36 hole totals of 144 remained close enough to furnish threats in the final 36 holes, to be played tomorrow. These players included Tony Manero, New York; Harry Cooper, Chicago; Walter Hagen and Tommy Armour, Detroit, and Roland MacKenzie, Washington amateur.

Bruins Whip Toledo, 28-24; Trunks Win

Chicago's Bruins whipped the Toledo Redmen last night at the Broadway armory, 28 to 24, in one of the best professional games this year. Most of the action was compressed into a first period which saw Chicago leading, 20 to 12.

Announcement was made last night that the Bruins will have two and possibly three new men in their drive for the second half pennant. The Bruins came to terms yesterday with Borgeman and Wyka of the Paterson team, which recently withdrew from the American league. Ralph Miller, for many years one of Fort Wayne's best guards, also may join the Chicago team. He attended last night's game.

Wickorst Leads Bruins.

Mike Wickhorst was the king pin of the Bruins' first half drive. He scored four field goals. Each of his mates added one. All of Chicago's four free throws also were registered in this period.

After six minutes of play in the second half, during which Toledo got two free throws, the Bruins sank four successive field goals for the deciding points. Ray Kennedy had a pair of long shots, Charley Murphy scored from under the basket, and Wickhorst dropped in a long shot for his fifth goal.

In the last eight minutes Toledo scored ten points, but Chicago's margin lasted until the final whistle.

Trunks Triumph, 17-10.

The Taylor Trunks girls defeated the House of David, 17 to 10. Tied at 8 all at the half, the Trunks progressed at the same speed, while the boys from Benton Harbor salvaged two free throws.

A crowd of 2,600 saw the games.

GARDINER'S NET GUARDING HELPS KEEP 2D PLACE

March, Des Jardiens Score Goals.

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The Chicago Blackhawks took undisputed possession of second place in the American division of the National Hockey league tonight by defeating the Rangers, 2 to 0.

A goal early in the first period by Mush March and another late in the closing session by Victor Des Jardiens gave the Hawks their second victory of the year over the Rangers. March scored unaided, while Des Jardiens was given the help of Ingram in a flashy bit of play that caught four of the Rangers napping at the other end of the rink.

15,000 See Game.

With the Rangers striving to score after the Hawks had counted twice, Butch Keeling and Frank Ingram threw away their sticks and went to fighting with fists. The pair were separated by the other players, however, and play resumed after Keeling had been given a major penalty and Ingram a two minute trip to the penalty box.

A near capacity crowd of 15,000 was on hand as the teams lined up. Bill Cook had an opportunity to score in the early minutes when he evaded the defense and drew Gardiner out of position, but shot wildly. With Ripley leading the Chicagoans' attack, the Hawks strove futilely to get past the Rangers' defense before the first substitutions were made.

The Rangers' second line of Carrigan, Thompson and Regan battered their way into foreign territory, but Gardiner made sensational saves. Meanwhile, Roach was having a comparatively easy time as Ching Johnson and Peters broke up the Hawks' fast passing game.

Hawks Score First.

The Hawks were the first to score, however, March skating half the length of the rink to slip the disk past Roach. The time of the goal was 8:23.

The two goalies turned back the few scoring efforts in the closing minutes of the first period. Tommy Cook was wide open with a shot for the Rangers' net, but mussed up a pass and then stumbled before he could regain control of the disk. Keeling and Regan fired away at Gardiner, but the Chicago goalie was having one of his brilliant nights.

Thompson and Keeling had a goal tied up between them early in the second period when the Chicago net was left unguarded. Gardiner had plunged out to ward off a rush by the youthful pair of Ranger forwards. Both missed easy shots, however, and by the time they got a third poke at the net the Hawks were massed in front of their goal.

Taking advantage of Arbour's trip to the penalty box, the Rangers drove down the ice with four men, but Gardiner staved off the rushes of the Cook brothers and Boucher. The Hawks had their strength on the rink when Bill Cook pulled Gardiner out of position, but missed an easy goal.

Cook Attacks Again.

Bill Cook came back with another drive down the ice, but again Gardiner dove ten feet out in front of his net to stop the puck. Miller made a visit to the penalty box and the Rangers opened with a four man attack that kept the Hawks congregated in front of their net.

Even with a shift in the forward lines play failed to slacken. Couture, on a brilliant individual play, swept past Ching Johnson, lost the puck momentarily, regained it, and turned swiftly back of the net, but was stopped by Goalie Roach and the Rangers' defense men with the disk inches from a score.

The Rangers came back furiously with the opening of the third period, but Gardiner turned them back time after time. He plunged face first to stop one of Bill Cook's terrific drives and a moment later was again flat on the ice after successfully warding off a goal following a face-off in front of the net.

Hawks Make it 2-0

The Hawks fell back on the defense as the Rangers, led by Bill Cook, kept up their continual charge. Both teams were weakened as Jerwa and Dutkowski visited the penalty box, but it made no difference in the furious play.

Only Ching Johnson and Roach were left in home territory as the Rangers sent five men into the offensive zone. This proved fatal, however, as Des Jardiens took a pass from Ingram and beat Roach in 14:12 for the Hawks' second goal.

Northwestern Plays Illinois Five Tonight

Chicago and Ohio State demonstrated Saturday night to their Big Ten basketball rivals that they must be considered before the 1931 championship is decided. The Maroons triumphed over Indiana, 28-27, while Ohio State gave Wisconsin a decisive setback, 29-19.

The second week of the conference race opens tonight with four games. Ohio has a chance to continue its surprising progress in a battle with Indiana.

Northwestern, which is tied for the lead with Ohio State, Chicago, and Minnesota as a result of its victory over Michigan Saturday night, 27-22, will invade the armory at Champaign to meet Illinois. The Wildcats are favored to keep their record unspotted.

Purdue, which defeated Illinois, 30-15, Saturday night, will play Iowa at Iowa City and should have no trouble in adding a second victory to its string. Wisconsin stops off at Ann Arbor on the way home from Columbus. The Badgers and Wolverines tied for the championship in 1929, but did not meet last season.

15 Year Old Chicagoan Wins Miami Golf Tourney

Miami, Fla., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Win Day, 15 year old Chicago golfer, won the Miami midwinter amateur tournament today by defeating Lee Chase, Buffalo, one up at the 40th hole.

LEVINSKY'S NEW BOSS SAYS HE'S A GREAT BOXER

Sunday provided a day of rest for King Levinsky, the fighting fisherman, but his opponent, Jimmy Slattery, made an eleventh hour change in his program and reported at the gymnasium, where he boxed six rounds.

Slattery, who meets Levinsky in the windup of the Chicago Stadium show on Wednesday night, had planned on resting yesterday, working lightly Monday, and confining his work on Tuesday to three rounds of rope skipping, weight pulling and bag punching.

Hints that Levinsky was in the best shape of his career, however, prompted Slattery to continue his drill right up to the day of the fight.

Levinsky's layoff gave his new manager, Ray Alvis, his first uninterrupted opportunity to catalogue the King's merits, chief among which are, according to Alvis, a heretofore undiscovered boxing skill that came to light with the changing of the Ghetto fighter's style.

The new assets are reported to include a "dazzling left jab and a terrific left hook." Alvis claims the King possessed these two weapons all the time, but that Al Miller, wh. brought Levinsky from a $100 fighter virtually discarded by small clubs to a $11,000 headliner in three months, had trained him "wrong."

MAUGE HIGH IN TWO EVENTS OF CITY PIN MEET

Oscar Mauge holds first place in the singles and all-events of the city bowling tournament at Massey's Wabash alleys. Mauge turned in scores of 256, 230 and 234, a 720 total, in the singles, and with his 584 doubles score and 660 in the five man event, has 1,944 for nine games.

Mauge's team, the George King Boosters, are in sixth place in the five-man with 2,901.

The McCarthy Florists of Louis P. Peterson's major league knocked the Frank Smiggay Boosters out of first place in the team event. The Florists rolled 996, 982 and 989 for 2,967, 32 pins more than the Smiggays had.

Christiansen and Seiffert continue to lead the singles. Their figure is 1,276.

Gentlemen:

"Spit" is a filthy word. So is the practice of spitting. More serious than any consideration of nicety, however, is the very grave danger of contamination carried in the mouth secretions.

Your attack on this evil in connection with your recent cigar advertising is an effective stroke which should do much to awaken the public to this peril.

I hope you do not abandon the attack. If my endorsement is of any value, please feel free to publish it in your campaign.

Sincerely yours,
J. C. Eldridge
HAMILTON COUNTY HEALTH DIRECTOR.

...one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Dr. Eldridge's letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Dr. Eldridge writes: "Your attack on this evil in connection with your recent cigar advertising is an effective stroke."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it...Smoke Certified Cremo—a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

WONDRA VICTOR IN NORTHWEST'S SKATING DERBY

While his teammate, Frank Stack, was winning four senior events in THE TRIBUNE'S Milwaukee Silver Skate Derby, Ray Wondra of the Amphion Athletic club took both class A events in the Northwest Skating club's fortieth annual Derby at Humboldt park yesterday.

Wondra's victories came in the half mile and the mile. He won a 20 inch silver trophy offered by the Northwest club for the class A high point scorer. Another silver cup went to Elizabeth Du Bois of the Majestic Skating club for winning the ladies' class A half mile.

The Walton Arrow A. C. captured team honors by a 10 point margin over the Norwegian-American A. A.

Call off Olympic Trials.

The Olympic tryouts at the 1,500 meter and 10,000 meter distances were called off earlier in the day by officials of the Illinois-Western Skating association. The trials will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m., weather permitting.

In the class A mile Bob Reed of the Norwegian-American A. A. took the lead for three laps, when he was replaced by Wally Mitchell of the Majestic S. C. Mitchell kept the lead until 2 yards from the finish, where he momentarily lost his stride and was passed by the fast finishing Wondra.

Wondra Comes from Rear.

Bill Minster of the Norwegian-American A. A. and Wally Mitchell fought for the lead most of the way in the half mile. On the last lap, however, Wondra staged a spurt which carried him to first place on the last turn.

One of the most exciting finishes of the day came in the intermediate half mile, in which Ed Stundl of the Majestic Skating club, one of the smallest skaters on the ice, chased Wilbur Marks of the Walton Arrows, one of the largest, for two laps to battle into the stretch inches apart. Marks won by a scant margin. Summaries:

CLASS A—ONE MILE—Won by Ray Wondra, Amphion A. C.; Wallace Mitchell, Majestic S. C., second; Cornie Ewart, Northwest S. C., third. Time: 3:25 3-5.

Has Wrestling Ethics, or Is It Just Business? Hear Curley

do this thing which I understand that you are about to do?'

"Stanley said he didn't like to do it because he was an artist, himself, but he explained that the Baumans were keeping him fairly busy and allowing him to make some money. I then said, 'If you will toss this fellow tonight and win the championship and come with me, I will guarantee you $50,000.'

Bauman Boys Indignant.

"Stanley said he would do it and that night he tossed Munn for the first fall abruptly to the great consternation of Maxwell Bauman and his brother William, who calls himself Billy Sandow. The Bauman boys were very indignant at this breach of trust and there was great commotion around Stanley's dressing room. But Stanley refused to leave the ring between falls, so he could not be talked to in his dressing room.

"Therefore the Bauman boys climbed right up into the ring in his corner to talk business with him in the presence of the customers while Munn waited in his dressing room to learn the explanation of this unexpected conduct.

Stanley Keeps His Word.

"After a long time, Stanley threw up his hands and said to the boys, 'All right, bring him back in.' This could be interpreted almost any way, so they brought Munn back in and Stanley, true to his agreement with me, tossed him again and won the championship. Stanley was strictly a man of his word, whatever the Bauman boys may say."

There was a long silence at the table, before a voice at the other end said, "and do you consider it ethical, Mr. Curley, to induce a sportsman to break his solemn agreement with his employers by promises of monetary reward?"

Mr. Curley's dewy countenance and nude scalp blushed slightly, indicating that he was not entirely without shame, and, changing the subject, he said, "I had a postcard from George Hackenschmidt the other day," said he. "George is on the Riviera at present, but he is a British subject now with his home at Brighton. There were many romantic accounts of his having been killed in the war, but the fact is that he happened to be wrestling in Germany when the war broke out and the Germans interned him.

"Raoul de Rouen, the Frenchman who was always causing disturbances at his bouts, was the only wrestler I know of who was killed in the war. Yussif Mahmout, the big Bulgarian with the pear shaped head, is back in Bulgaria, but he had typhus during the war and he never regained sufficient strength to wrestle again. Ivan Podubny, the Russian, was the richest wrestler of them all, but the bolsheviks took away his money and he came over here a few years ago to get some more.

No Champions Here.

"We talk of world championships, but we have no real world champions over here, though I say it, who, perhaps, should keep my mouth shut. The fact is that in India some of the rulers have stables of a thousand head of wrestlers, whereas my stable, which is the largest in the United States, and, I might say, in all modesty, quite the best, seldom numbers more than twenty head.

"Some years ago a few attempts were made to foist upon the public as genuine imported stock a number of domestic wrestlers of dark complexion, but these deceptions were not successful. I recall one who was known as Humid Kala Pasha, who was a Chicago boy by the name of Joe Rickard. George Seiler, the old referee, called him Humid because of his excessive humidity when he was wrestling.

"Humid was tattoed all over with ships and muscle dancers and cupids and one thing and another and he was very interesting, but he was not a good wrestler. He got his training working in the gallery of a burlesque house in Chicago, keeping order among the patrons. In this work he was very effective. He used a sawed off pool cue for moral effect and several times he cleared the entire gallery alone."

Michigan Worries About Its Moose, Rabbit Population

BY BOB BECKER.

It may be necessary for Michigan conservation authorities to try their hands at snaring wild moose. The moose population on Isle Royale, that beautiful and wild island in Lake Superior which has been urged as a national park, was too large for the amount of winter browse available.

Although some Michigan authorities deny that the number of the moose on the island is too large for the food supply, and the argument over this question is being continued, another discussion is taking place regarding the best way to decrease the moose population, should such action be necessary.

It has been suggested that certain numbers of the animals be removed by shooting. But this suggestion is not receiving much approval in many quarters. Michigan would like to have an excess of moose which Isle Royale could not support to stock the timber country of the mainland. Meantime the big antlered animals have Isle Royale to themselves. The question of how many animals live up there and how to get any excess population off the island are subjects for a lively debate.

Michigan also has come to the front with a rabbit problem. While most of us who like to take a shotgun and stroll through the fields for a few shots at the cottontails can't find enough rabbits to provide a good day's sport, Michigan has too many on Grosse Ile, a sizeable piece of land surrounded by water, which is located at the foot of the Detroit river.

Cottontail residents of Grosse Ile are so abundant and doing so much damage that Michigan has decreed an old fashioned rabbit drive to round up the animals, which are chewing up the fruit trees and damaging other growth on the island.

GOLDEN GLOVES CHAMPS FIGHT N. Y. MARCH 30

the third place awards are set with an emerald.

Following are the rules of the contests:

Fights will be three rounds of two minutes each in the sectional tests. If the judges disagree the referee shall order an extra round.

Contestants must box three rounds of three minutes each in the Stadium finals. If the bout is even an extra round will be ordered. A decision must be rendered at the close of the fourth round.

Each contestant must furnish his own towel and will be permitted to have one second in his corner.

The Tribune will furnish two professional seconds and also a doctor at all city sectional trials and finals.

Neither The Tribune nor any one connected with the tournament will be liable in case of injury to a boxer. Every effort will be made to protect him from injury.

Boxers will be disqualified for unsportsmanlike remarks either in the ring or afterwards. This includes remarks about a decision.

Any boxer who enters and fails to appear will be subject to suspension by the A. A. U.

Light bandages will be allowed but these cannot be adjusted with electric tape. One layer of adhesive is permitted.

A contestant, after his original entry, can not change his entry blank if he has agreed to box for a certain club.

When entry is made for the Chicago trials contestants must place a cross after the section in which they will compete. This cannot be changed.

Bouts on each night in the sectional preliminaries will start at 7:30 o'clock. Fighters will be weighed and examined at least a half hour earlier. If it is necessary to start earlier, announcement will be made in these columns.

All boxers who qualify for the Stadium finals must weigh again to qualify in their classes. A one pound allowance will be permitted.

No boxer will be permitted to compete in more than one class.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

DO YOU REMEMBER WAY BACK WHEN:

INDIANS came to the house to trade moccasins for corn meal, sowbelly, or what have you, and those times most every family raised their own red peppers, as pepper tea was the remedy for colds, and brother once gave Big Injun a drink of pepper tea and the brave went out and ran a mile against the wind with his mouth open?—M. J. H., Freeport, Ill.

Mother took a small shovel of live coals, sprinkled on sulphur, and carried it through the house to cleanse the air and kill disease germs?—Annabel Lee.

The Waifs' mission was at Washington and 5th avenue (now Wells) and Officer Talbot marched us to school over on Madison street, where we were taught fractions by a large husky professor who used a sawed off billiard cue for a wand?—J. S. Kelsey, Drummond, Mich.

* *

Coffee in the cup was hot, we poured it into the saucer to cool, and then drank from the saucer?—N. A. Nyhagen, Stoughton, Wis.

We made shadow pictures of animals on the wall with our hands by the light of the old kerosene lamp?—G. L. S., Ottumwa, Ia.

Stein's "Dollar Store" was on Clark, opposite courthouse, with lady clerks and bright kerosene lamps, and everything sold for $1?—S. M. C.

THIS WAKE IS CONDUCTED BY HARVEY T. WOODRUFF. HELP! HELP!

You bought a new pair of trousers, you had the crease pressed out before wearing!—Phil V. Z.

"Pull down your vest" and "Wipe off your chin" were common slang expressions!—An Old Timer.

Barber shops cut up almanacs to use for lather paper!—J. W. Doyle, Beardstown, Ill.

We bought two yards of brown wool velling, folded it in quarters, put it across our forehead, crossed it in back, brought the ends forward, and tied under our chin?—Rosa Jackson, Rushville, Ill.

Button & Button had a drug store at Van Buren and Robey, and Van Buren street cars ran only to Ogden avenue?—Theresa of Old St. Joe, Mich.

At the graduation exercises of old West Division High school in 1894, Harvey T. Woodruff delivered the class oration on "Student and Citizen"?—L. T. M.

The daily passenger train arrived in your home town, almost all the people would be at the station to see passengers alight, and mail, baggage, and express unloaded?—John J. McNamara, Jackson, Miss.

Charles K. Harris and Harry von Tilzer were writing song hits?—O. M. C., Dowagiac, Mich.

Mayor Long John Wentworth, before the Chicago fire, boarded at the Tremont house?—Hannah Simon.

Here's to a bird, a bottle, and an open work stocking,
There's nothing in this that's so very shocking—
The bird came from Jersey, the bottle from France,
The open work stocking was seen at a dance.
J. S. W.

Arthur Loftus sang with Lew Dockstader's minstrels and was known as "The Singing Kid."?—Stan Spielberger, Kankakee, Ill.

A common expression was "That's me all over, Mabel"?—B. C. L., Manitowoc, Wis.

Put That Cold on the Run

Get Results in 6 Hours!

Any cold that runs byond 24 hours can run into something serious! But now you don't have to depend on any "maybe" remedy. Darol, a new-type cold and headache remedy, routs any cold in 6 to 12 hours. Two tablets every three hours with a full glass of water does the work. Changes the system from an acid condition to alkaline condition, in which cold and grippe germs do not thrive. Relieves headaches, also, and the pains and aches of neuralgia and neuritis. All without any bad effects on heart or stomach. Depend no longer on old-fashioned remedies that may leave the cold half-cured. Half-cured colds are a source of great danger. Get Darol and get rid of a cold completely and quickly. All McKesson Service Druggists and other independent drug stores sell Darol with a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. A McKesson & Robbins product.

YOUR HAIR!
WATCH IT GROW

Under Scientific Treatment You Can actually watch the progress of new hair growing on your scalp week by week.

We Will Begin Saving Your Hair at Our Expense
If you have
Falling Hair, Dandruff
Dry, Itchy Scalp
Oily Hair

BRING THIS AD WITH YOU and receive a Thorough Examination and Scientific One-Half Hour Treatment —FREE—

Pay us nothing, promise us nothing, come back if you wish.

OUR ETHICS

OUR PRICES ARE THE SAME TO ALL.

Every case taken is handled under the personal supervision of the Founder of the WELLINGTON INSTITUTE, who watches the progress of each case himself.

This is his eighth year of continuous service to the Chicago public here in the Loop.

We are not commercialized in the sense that we have other offices here or in any other city operating under our name.

WE HAVE NO OTHER OFFICE AND WELLINGTON'S OWN PERSONAL SERVICE IS RENDERED TO ALL PATRONS just as any practical medical specialist would render his own medical service.

Our treatment must recommend itself.

Your scalp is carefully examined and its exact condition explained. We have no sales talk that leads up to asking you to decide about taking treatment. We do not even ask if you expect to return.

We administer one full half hour treatment without any charge whatever and you decide at your leisure about further service.

We do not offer for sale any manufactured products such as tonics or shampoos. We recommend nature's own lveines shampoo to millionaire and mechanic alike—an egg, well rubbed into the hair and scalp and thoroughly rinsed with cool water. We know of no "tonic" but rich, red blood, which this treatment makes more available.

Our facilities are extensive here in our five room suite in the Capitol Building, our whole institute surgically clean and hygienic to the last degree. Our operators have been with us for years. Our treatment is worthy your attention.

Ultra-Violet Ray Treatment
Under the Mercury Quartz Lamp, $1.50

This Ultra-Violet Ray Treatment, however, is only part of our Complete Scientific Treatment. For cases of "oily hair" it is sometimes used by itself!

For dry, tight scalps; brittle, falling hair; itching or baldness, the Ultra-Violet Ray treatment is followed by vibratory and hand massage to loosen the scalp and increase circulation; by the gentle application of high frequency current to electrify and tone the muscles and tissues, and whatever is required of ointments or stimulating and nourishing medicaments. These are applied to the scalp (not the hair) and gently warmed into it by the rays from the Infra-Red Lamp. THIS COMPLETE SCIENTIFIC TREATMENT attacks the disorder of the scalp from every angle, and leaves it all aglow with increased circulation, soft, pliable, free from dryness and tightness, and with a wonderful feeling of increased vitality. This complete treatment, Including the Ultra-Violet Ray, is..... $3.50

WHEAT MARKET FINDS SITUATION UNPRECEDENTED

Believe Differences Can Be Soothed.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A highly mixed situation exists in the wheat markets of the world, most particularly in the United States.

Between the federal farm board's operations, the politicians at Washington and the grain futures administration conditions are unprecedented. New bills in congress aimed at the grain exchanges, coupled with uncertainty as to the operations of the federal farm board in cash and future markets are keeping the trade guessing.

Those in close touch with conditions all around express the belief that everything can be ironed out by a little judicious get together movement on the part of all interests. The farm board, they say, needs the grain exchanges and the popular belief is that the latter have been established too long to be wiped out of existence, although there may be some legislation to clarify the situation and eventually put the grain trade on a healthier basis.

Buy and Sell Wheat.

The farm board trading agencies are buying and selling wheat in various positions. They have bought liberally of cash wheat in the southwest and the Pacific coast and made good sales to millers.

Removing of hedges against cash wheat and flour sales brought in improved buying of old May wheat with an advance from 80⅛@83⅛c from the low point early to the high on Saturday, with the close at 83c. Old crop futures gained 1⅝@1⅞c and July lost ⅛c as compared with a week ago.

In Winnipeg May lost 1⅞c and closed at 56⅝c, and July finished 2c lower than a week ago at 67⅛c. With May wheat at Liverpool 20c under Chicago, when it should be about that much over, it is a situation that none can understand.

Expectations of the farm board agencies are that there will be a disappearance of around 350,000,000 bu of wheat between Jan. 1 and July 1. No close student in the trade, however, does not believe that there will be a reduction of more than 275,000,000 bu.

Have Faith in Outlook.

Reporting is out of the question, but there is an abiding faith on the part of the farm board officials that the wheat situation will improve from now on. There is nothing in the report that the trade has had about the farm board arranging with millers to give them wheat at July price while May is held around 81c. The proposition was presented about two weeks ago and turned down.

It is said by foreign authorities that supplies of wheat in Argentina and Australia will be sufficient to furnish importing Europe with a large proportion of its requirements, and Canada can easily finish the balance.

Drought prevails in the greater part of the winter wheat country which makes shorts in July nervous. Prices for the week follow:

Calls Theory of Spending by Gov't Unsound

BY SCRUTATOR.

It begins to appear that nowadays when government theory and economic theory get together they usually end up by turning out on the world a practical mistake.

Misconceptions that have persisted through a great many decades have been dusted off again in the last fifteen months. They look a little better with new dresses on, but they are the same old mistakes.

One of them is the belief that a government can use its practically unlimited credit in stabilising at prices higher than the natural commodities produced by some classes of the population. If that is done in the period which began in 1929 and will extend to somewhere in the future, unknown, a new precedent will be set.

Another is the assumption that a government can keep its people at work in a period of depression by expanding its own spending. A corollary is that such action will tend to halt a downswing in general activity and speed the upturn.

Indications of Turn.

Much more serious and concentrated attention has been given proposals to make work during the depression centering in 1930 than in previous periods of like import. The present one now gives indications of reaching the turn, yet it has continued longer than any one of the past.

The phrase "emergency construction to relieve unemployment" has been prominent for a long while. Yet the federal government in the year 1930 was able to expand its expenditures in connection with federal aid highway building actually by $19,700,000 over 1929. Work may have been furnished for an additional 20,000 persons during the year by federal aid highways.

Somewhat larger sums are being made available for the coming year. In any event the good done has been small and it must be paid for in additional taxation. Money spent on the roads doubtless is well spent, but a slight extension of the principle that the government owes its out of work citizens jobs might result in the building of a great many wasteful things.

Recovery from depression depends on the resumption of employment by companies which are seeking to make a profit. If the building trades laborers of the country alone were all put to work as they were in the best year more would be accomplished in promoting purchasing power than anything all the governments could do, state and national.

Not a New Problem.

There is still a good deal in the Jeffersonian dictum that the best government is the one that governs least. An unemployment problem is nothing new in America. In colonial days it was seriously argued that there was a surplus of labor.

There was not then and isn't now a surplus of labor. There is a surplus of underconsumption, if that term can be used. The way out of depression lies in living better, in giving individuals the freest possible hand in making and selling improved products at lower prices. It does no good to contend that a labor saving machine throws people out of work. There were unemployed when there were no machines. All forms of subsidy from government tend to stabilize, to freeze conditions as they are, to slow down new methods and new devices.

Direct spending by governments, either for commodities or for labor, is best when it is kept at the absolute minimum.

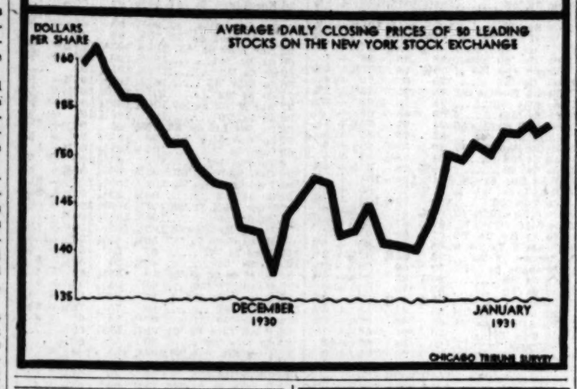
NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE PRICES LAST WEEK MOVED INTO HIGHER GROUND



EXPECT BUYERS INFLUX AGAIN AT FURNITURE SHOW

Another influx of buyers who last week preferred to avoid the peak of congestion is expected today at the American Furniture Mart, where the annual winter furniture market and style show enters today its second and final week. The largest first week attendance ever recorded was attained last week, there being 3,370 buyers, representing retail furniture and department stores in forty-four states and four Canadian provinces registeded at the mart.

The Furniture Club of America will hold its annual meeting and election of officers tonight at the mart. Among the candidates are several Chicago furniture men. Tomorrow the Furniture mart board of governors will meet to decide upon dates for next summer's exhibition and the election of a new chairman.

Meanwhile trade in the mercantile lines in the Chicago wholesale district held to a more or less uneventful trend last week, although many rush orders for merchandise to fill in various lines depleted by January clearance sales were reported, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce.

PREDICTS HALL PRINTING WILL COVER DIVIDEND

Frank R. Warren, president of the W. F. Hall Printing company, said yesterday that earnings of the company for the fiscal year ending Jan. 31 will be slightly in excess of dividend requirements.

The regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share has been declared, payable Feb. 2 to holders of record Jan. 20, he announced. Volume of business done by the company in 1930 was slightly below the previous year, but a considerable increase is expected in the coming year because of several large printing contracts which are about to be signed, Mr. Warren said.

In 1929 the company had net earnings of $1,511,653, equivalent to around $4 a share on the 400,000 shares of common stock outstanding. The common stock is now on a $2 annual cash dividend basis. Extra cash dividends were voted the company in January, 1929, and February, 1930.

A. G. Spalding & Bros. Fiscal Net Is $1,635,484

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—A. G. Spalding & Bros. today reported for the fiscal year anded Oct. 31 net profit of $1,635,484, equal to $3.74 per share on the common, against net of $2,050,447, equal to $4.90 per share, for the previous fiscal year.

FRANK PARISH REPLIES TO CHARGES AGAINST MO.-KANSAS PIPE LINE

Asserting that the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company is in "excellent financial condition" and that the "essential allegations are utterly false and untrue," Frank P. Parish, president and organizer, yesterday replied to the petition asking for the appointment of a receiver for that company and more than a dozen of its subsidiaries operating throughout the south and middle west. Mr. Parish, who is principal defendant, was in Washington, D. C., his reply being made in the form of a written statement released by Attorney John R. Nicholson.

Fraudulent promotion schemes were charged in the petition for receivership filed Saturday in the federal district court by Periman, Goodman & Scolnik on behalf of three Cincinnati stockholders. Parish and associates were charged with issuing false financial statements, spreading propaganda to manipulate the price of the stock and with manipulation from time to time through the reorganization of the capital stock.

The receivership is sought by three stockholders holding a total of 454 shares of Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line stock out of 1,400,000 shares outstanding, the Parish statement yesterday pointed out. It also said that the "bill appears to have been drawn from the standpoint of publicity rather than sound legal theory," and asserts that the three complainants have been trying to sell their stock to the company at a price far in excess of the market. Counsel has been instructed to take immediate steps to resist the proceedings in every lawful way, Parish said.

Wiggin Decries Attempts at Artificial Price Levels

BY O. A. MATHER.

Governmental attempts to stimulate business by artificial means and to control commodity prices by interfering with normal markets are sharply criticized by Albert H. Wiggin, chairman of the Chase National bank, New York, which is the largest American banking institution. Mr. Wiggin's views and suggestions are set forth in his annual report to the bank's stockholders, who will hold their annual meeting tomorrow.

"We attempted, as a matter of collective policy, to hold the lines firm following the crash of 1929," he recalls. "Wages were not to be reduced, buying by railroads and construction by public utilities were to be increased, prices were to be maintained and cheap money was to be the foundation. The policy has had a thirteen month test. It has failed. Each industry and each enterprise must study its own problems and adjust itself to the markets.

"It is bad policy for a government, or for an industry by concerted action, to try to keep prices permanently above the level which the supply and demand situation justifies. We have recently seen this in copper, wheat, coffee and other commodities.

Wage Situation.

"It is not true that high wages make prosperity. Instead, prosperity makes high wages. When wages are kept higher than the market situation justifies, employment and the buying power of labor fall off. American business has proved its good will in dealing with labor on this point in the last year and in many industries may reasonably ask labor to accept a moderate reduction of wages signed to reduce costs and to increase both employment and the buying power of labor. Our restricted immigration, coupled with our relative abundance of capital and natural resources, is sufficient safeguard for American wages.

"With full realization of the advantages of restricted production in special circumstances, I have no sympathy with price fixing palliatives, whether employed by governments or by trade combinations, which merely delay necessary adjustments. I think that the forced maintenance of wage scales at which labor cannot find employment does no good to labor or to anyone else. Our depression has been prolonged and not alleviated by delay in making necessary readjustments.

"I expect conditions at the end of 1931 to be a good deal better than they are at the end of 1930. The year end level in the volume of production is very low. But consumer buying has not fallen in proportion.

Cites Low Inventories.

"Inventories of finished goods in the hands of producers and distributors appear to have been reduced to extremely low volume. We are justified in the expectation that this alone will lead to a corrective reaction. Its permanency depends on the progress we make in correcting the causes which have brought about and prolonged the depression."

A reduction of the federal capital gains tax from 12½ to not more than 7½ per cent, with the proceeds from such taxes segregated for reduction of the public debt, is recommended by Mr. Wiggin. He asserts that the higher rates of the income tax and the present tax on capital net gains have resulted in abnormal and unfortunate stock market movements and also violent fluctuations in government revenues. He also advocates that the American government initiate a movement to reduce inter-allied war debts.

SHOWS DECLINE OF 8.6% IN SALES OF 3,700 STORES

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The National Retail Dry Goods association has made public results of a member survey indicating a decline of 8.6 per cent in the sales of its 3,700 stores during 1930 from 1929 sales.

Four states and the District of Columbia, out of an incomplete list, showed increases. These were New Jersey, 3.5 per cent; District of Columbia, 0.8 per cent; Maryland, 5.3 per cent; Oklahoma, 4.7 per cent, and Oregon, 1.2 per cent.

The greatest decrease in sales was in Montana, 21.3 per cent. Michigan stores reported an 18.9 per cent decline, and Arkansas a 17.7 per cent decrease.

The decreases by federal reserve districts were:

Boston, 5.6 per cent; New York, 5.2 per cent; Philadelphia, 4.2 per cent; Cleveland, 10.2 per cent; Richmond, 1.4 per cent; Atlanta, 3.2 per cent; Chicago, 16.5 per cent; St. Louis, 10.4 per cent; Minneapolis, 7.3 per cent; Kansas City, 4.9 per cent; Dallas, 7.7 per cent, and San Francisco, 7.2 per cent.

DECLARES REVIVAL OF SILVER DEPENDS UPON WORLD TRADE PICKUP

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—International agreement, in the opinion of Handy & Harman, silversmiths, offers the most likely hope for stabilization of silver, now at its lowest level in history.

In a review of the silver market for 1930 they express the belief that any plan that may be evolved, in order to be successful, must recognize the world-wide importance of the metal.

"Perhaps," the review says, "a curtailment of supplies from demonetization may be brought about; perhaps the policy of the Indian government to sell from treasury reserves may be altered; perhaps even a resumption of subsidiary coinage by certain countries may be effected; perhaps new industrial uses of silver may be found.

"Undoubtedly any accomplishments along these lines would strengthen the market; but it is our opinion that, even without such assistance, the price of silver will advance when a revival of world trade occurs."

The review points out that although the gold exchange standard is in effect in India and its adoption has been recommended for China, the use of silver for currency is so firmly established in those countries any revival in world trade will see an increased consumption of silver throughout the far east.

Although world silver production in 1930 declined 17,000,000 ounces from the previous year, the review points out this decline of only 6½ per cent failed to fulfill expectations. Only in the United States and Peru was production curtailed in keeping with forecasts prior to the price decline.

The minting of Hong Kong dollars provided the largest demand for coinage during 1930, approximately 14,000,000 ounces being used. In the arts and industries in the United States and Canada there was used about 29,500,000 ounces, in comparison to about 37,000,000 ounces in 1929, while the arts and manufactures in England used about 6,000,000 ounces, a decrease of about 500,000 ounces.

India's consumption during 1930 was estimated at 94,500,000 ounces, an increase of nearly 13,000 over 1929. It is pointed out, however, this increase in volume actually presents a decrease in value due to lower prices. The China consumption during 1930 was estimated at 123,000,000 ounces, an appreciable decrease from the previous year.

BUSINESS BIDES TIME AWAITING TURN OF EVENTS

This Is Season for Annual Reports.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 11.—The first few weeks of the year which immediately follows a period of great depression usually produce two opposite sets of influences.

One consists of statistical reports giving exact conditions in the industries at the year end, and these are on such occasions gloomy reading. The other is likely to be made up of indications that things are growing somewhat better—if not in comparison with a year ago, at least in contrast with December.

Last week's industrial summaries, for last month in particular and the second half of 1930 in general, were disheartening enough. December's steel production was reported officially as the smallest of any month but one since January, 1922. Iron production had fallen to the 1921 level, and so had railway freight traffic. Use of money in business, as shown by exchange of bank checks in the whole United States, was less than in any December after 1923. In another week or two we shall be perusing the equally doleful story of company earnings for the month and quarter.

Steel Production.

On the other hand, last week's reports of production at the moment struck a long unfamiliar note of cheerfulness. In particular the rate of steel production had been so far quickened since New Year's day as to lift it, with new orders seemingly coming in, to 41 per cent of capacity after its fall to 39 per cent at the beginning of December and to 30 at the year end. The contrast is agreeable notwithstanding the fact that the rate of output is even now only equal to that of the last week in November and less by nearly one-third than even in midsummer; also that revival last January was equally rapid [from 50 per cent to 75 per

A NORTHERN TRUST

Individualized Plan

created to fit the needs of each individual estate

based on an experience of more than 40 years

A Northern Trust Plan seeks to accomplish the most economical and satisfactory transfer of property from one generation to another. The painstaking preparation of such plans is an important service of this old, estate minded institution.

Each Northern Trust Plan is developed individually to meet the needs of a particular family and estate. Each seeks to take advantage of every legitimate economy—and is designed to avoid all unnecessary items of shrinkage.

Some of the benefits are immediate, some are gained in the future.

What a Northern Trust Plan can accomplish for you and your family, you may learn without any cost or obligation. The facts should be in your possession when you map the future disposition of your property.

The booklet pictured above outlines the scope of a Northern Trust Plan and summarizes the means through which its economies are effected. Write for a copy. Or call here at the Trust Department and an experienced trust officer will explain this important service to you.

BUSINESS BIDES TIME AWAITING TURN OF LUCK

This Is Season for 1930 Annual Reports.

until, yet with eventual results which are not recalled with pleasure.

There possibly will be a sense of greater assurance over the present picture than sober observers entertained regarding that of a year ago. At least we have now, in the last nine months of severely curtailed consumption, a background which we certainly did not have last January, and in regard to the passing of that phase of a situation the steel trade traditionally gives the best signal.

Cites Previous Pickups.

In January, 1922, our steel output was 11 per cent above the month preceding, although still below the spring and autumn months of 1921, but in March it exceeded all monthly records of that year. Not only did steel production, which had fallen that year to 21,200,000 tons as against the 40,800,000 of 1929, rise to 34,500,000 in 1922 and to 41,400,000 in 1923, but loadings of railway freight, which in the last quarter of 1921 were less by 10 per cent than in 1920 and which made little better comparison in January of 1922, increased the next month 11½ per cent over February, 1921, and by 1923, after fairly continuous enlargement, they were exceeding all monthly records.

These signs of reviving industrial activity after that earlier year of extreme depression were clearly understood. They were interpreted then and are considered now as having reflected the all but automatic progress wherever a rich consuming community of 100,000,000, which for a full year had been pursuing the policy of cutting expenses and deferring purchasing wherever possible, was compelled by the virtual exhaustion of supplies to increase its orders. It is true that the worst of the 1921 depression was experienced in midsummer, whereas last year's late autumn depression seemed to have touched the depths. But that was only a question of relative quickness in recovery.

It is also sometimes objected nowadays that the good over accumulated in the days of excessively stimulated production cannot yet have been distributed, and that even gradual recovery cannot come until that has been effected. But it will hardly be denied that the case in that regard was far worse at the end of 1921 than at the end of 1930.

Load Upon Banks.

That was a period when even banks were "carrying," directly or indirectly, loads of unsold merchandise vastly exceeding those of the present day, produced in the outright "overproduction mania" of 1920. The position was quite as bad in agriculture, for the "world carry over of wheat" in 1921 was practically as great as in 1930, and the American "cotton carry-over" 91 per cent greater.

No doubt the subsequent better trend was helped by the fact that the world's wheat crop of 1929 was 10 per cent less than the year before and that our cotton crop, even in 1921, was 40 per cent under 1920, with only a slight increase in 1922. But that is another story, which will be fully told on this occasion only by the harvests of 1931. The essential fact is that we are at least approaching, the time when necessary replenishment will be a dominant influence in many markets. To what extent that will be a dominant influence on staple prices remains to be determined. Their average, at the end of the after-panic "deflation year," had fallen 45 per cent from the highest of 1920, and it went nearly 2 per cent lower in January, 1922. Along with the subsequent "replenishment buying," it had risen 1¼ per cent by March, 8¾ per cent by July, and 11 per cent by the end of 1922.

Stockholders of Reynolds Tobacco Co. Increase 200%

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Stockholders of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company as of Dec. 18 last showed an increase of nearly 200 per cent during the preceding two years. The number of shares standing in the names of holders was only about 8 per cent of the total capitalization of 10,000,000 combined common and common "B" shares. Late in 1929 the floating supply was more than 16 per cent.

Consolidate Activities Into New Delco Appliance Corp.

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Northeast Appliance corporation, manufacturers of automotive equipment, and the Delco-Light company, makers of individual electric plants, water and gas systems, have consolidated their activities in a new corporation, the Delco Appliance corporation, a subsidiary of General Motors.

Deposits of Barclays Bank, London, Are $1,746,366,416

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 11.—The deposits of Barclays Bank, Ltd., amounted to £359,366,416 at Dec. 31, 1930, a new high figure, according to cable advices. This is an increase of about £10,000,000 from the end of 1929. Aggregate resources made a new high of £1,940,460,121 at the close of 1930.

Weekly Board of Trade Stocks

In most instances prices at the close or at the high of the week, the outstanding feature being the net gain of 7¾ in wheat at Illinois preferred.

bearish and short at the close Saturday, with prices on futures 1@1¼c net lower and with further recessions predicted. March closed at 69¾@69¼c, May 70⅞@70¾c, and July 71⅞@71¾c.

Operators who have been emphatically bullish on corn for months have expressed themselves in the last few days as bearish for a turn. The change in their views is due to mild weather reducing consumption of corn and other feeds on farms, which will eventually leave more for marketing. Outside interests have not come into the market in a way that would hold advances, and profit taking has dominated every upturn. Recently there was an advance of around 8c a bu and a reaction of 3@4c. The market's action has been largely influenced by privilege trading in futures, while cash corn was well taken care of, although terminal markets were liberal sellers of cash grain at the close to come to Chicago. Those in close touch with the country say that they do not look for a large movement on the declining market. Prices follow:

Rye traders say that the market is largely influenced by the action of corn. New business is small, although the open interest at the close was 16,073,000 bu. Net losses for the week were 1¼@1⅜c.

OLD LAWSUIT OF LELANDS AGAINST FORDS REOPENED

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Reopening of the suit by which Henry M. and Wilfred C. Leland have sought to compel Henry and Edsel Ford to pay about $6,000,000 to the stockholders of the old Lincoln Motor company is asked in a petition filed by the plaintiffs in the state Supreme court.

It is the second time the Lelands have asked the Supreme court to reinstate the case, dismissed originally on the ground that an agreement between the Lelands and the Fords were prejudicial to the interests of all the stockholders. The agreement, it was held, was for the benefit of only such stockholders as did not buy their stock at rock bottom prices.

The Fords paid $8,000,000 for the plant at a receiver's sale, and later paid about $4,000,000 more to creditors following an agreement. It has been the contention of the Lelands that the Fords also promised to retain them in the organization because of their admitted skill as automobile builders and to pay all stockholders who paid more than $3 a share for their stock.

Mercantile Exchange Installation Is Tonight

The annual dinner of the Chicago others officers will be installed. Tradnight at the Palmer house. Several hundred members are expected to attend. Harry H. Field, recently reelected president of the exchange, and other officers will be installed. Trading in potato futures will open today on the exchange with a large number of potato dealers and brokers present to witness the first trading in this commodity.

SO FAR 1931 HAS SEEN PRICES OF BONDS GOING UP

Trend Shows Improved Sentiment.

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The bond market, in the opinion of investment bankers, offers the best evidence of the change in sentiment that has followed the gloomy days of mid-December.

Prices of investment securities, rising steadily throughout the ten days of the new year, have improved so substantially that many observers see in this movement the first signs of the general financial and industrial recovery which has been predicted for 1931. Although it is recalled that bonds made a couple of false starts in 1930—a paradoxical bond year—conditions are believed to have changed sufficiently to permit a more encouraging estimate of the current movement.

Surpass 1930 Highs.

Some of the bonds have not only regained their recent losses but have surpassed their 1930 highs. The standard statistics index of thirty issues, evenly divided among rails, utilities, and industrials, has won back two-thirds of last year's decline and now is 6 points above the 1930 low, reached in December. The upturn has been strongest in high grade issues, but one of the encouraging signs last week was the pickup in second grades and foreigns.

The unusually rapid recovery, it is pointed out, may be followed by some irregularity as new financing comes into competition with seasonal issues and as profits are taken by holders who bought for a turn, but the apparently complete disappearance of some of the unfavorable factors that contributed to the nervous liquidation last month, it is held, gives ground for belief that declines will be well resisted.

The increasing volume of new offerings is said to foreshadow even heavier financing later in the quarter.

Large Loans in Prospect.

Several large loans are in prospect. One is the $100,000,000 issue for which the St. Louis Southwestern railway recently obtained interstate commerce commission authority. Another issue of similar size is contemplated by the Consolidated Gas company of New York.

Much of the current demand is coming from banks and insurance companies, but there has been a flurry of inquiry from private investors, who apparently have recovered from their fears. With easy money assured for an indefinite period, institutional buying might be expected to continue, provided there is no recurrence of circumstances that would bring a resumption of liquidation.

SHOW PLAN FOR GENERAL BAKING REORGANIZATION

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Dissolution of General Baking corporation, after the exchange of its common and preferred stock for common and preferred stock of General Baking company, the operating unit, is proposed in a plan of capital readjustment which has been sent to stockholders by a committee recently appointed.

Holders of $6 preferred stock of General Baking corporation will be entitled to receive for each 100 shares, 150 shares of new common of General Baking company, and will receive debentures in settlement of dividend arrears. Holders of General Baking corporation common will receive for each 100 shares, three shares of new common stock of the operating company.
